Benson Expects Farm Prices To Be Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Prospects of farmers in 1955, says Secretary of Agriculture Benson, are "very good" and he expects prices to remain stable at about present levels.

He also predicted last night "an expanding and prosperous agricultural economy" will accompany the growth of the nation's population in the future.

He said by 1970 the population will have increased to 200 million and this means "we will have to increase our total agricultural production by about one-fourth."

That means, he said, "We must obtain this expanded production from roughly the same acreage in cultivation now. Some economists say the average farmer can increase his net income by 25 per cent. Some say 50 per cent. Some say more.

"But there's an if—if he uses all the new tools and techniques, the better breeds, better seeds, better feeds and better cultural practices now available."

Benson, speaking at the Illinois Agricultural Assn. convention, said he expects no changes in the "basic, fundamental" parts of the new agricultural act. However, he added, he figures there will be a "need for some refinements and modifications."

He said dairy prices will increase if the sales promotion program goes well, adding that progress is being made in reducing the oversupply of dairy products.

While Benson was saying he expects no change in the agricultural act yesterday, some Democratic leaders, who will control the next Congress, disagreed sharply.

New farm legislation, they indicated, would be among the major items to be considered.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who will be speaker of the House, declared he is for a return to 90 per cent of parity.

In the last Congress, controlled by the Republicans, a new law was passed creating a flexible program with federal price supports ranging between 82½ per cent and 90 of parity.

The vote in the last Congress, however, did not follow party lines. It generally was opposed by Farm Belt legislators, both Republicans and Democrats.

Some Senate Democrats are being quoted this week as saying they favor a trial period of at least one year of President Eisenhower's flexible program.

American Envoys Visit Couple Recently Freed From Red Jail

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—U. S. Minister Christian M. Ravndal and First Secretary Donald Downs visited Noel and Herta Field today. Both "seem to be well off," Ravndal reported.

The Hungarian government announced yesterday that the American couple had been freed after five years imprisonment. The announcement said spy charges against them had been dropped.

Ravndal said Noel Field is "apparently suffering from a stomach ailment and they both are going today to enter a Budapest hospital for examination and treatment."

The legation will supply them with some American magazines and periodicals.

Field's brother, Hermann, similarly has been in a sanitarium in Warsaw since his release by the Polish government late in October.

Hermann's British-born wife has announced in London she expects to join him soon in Switzerland.

* * *

THE AMERICAN minister refused to put newsmen in touch with Noel Field and his wife, saying the couple had asked specifically that they "be left in privacy" and that their address and telephone number not be given out.

The Hungarian Foreign Office, which earlier had said it would consider trying to arrange a news conference with the couple, joined in keeping the secret today.

"Our opinion is that American newsmen should get the address of this American couple from the American legation," a spokesman for the ministry said.

Ravndal said the couple appeared to be "awfully about their release. He would not say, however, what if anything they had told him about where they had been since their arrests in 1949 or how they were treated.

Noel Field, now 50 and a prewar employe of the U. .S State Department, disappeared in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in May, 1949. His wife went to Prague in search of him and also disappeared. His brother Hermann, seeking his brother in East Europe later that summer, likewise was nabbed by the Communists.

A fourth member of the family, Noel's adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, disappeared in East Berlin in 1950. There has been no indication that she also might be released.

Following their arrest, Noel was cited at the treason trial of Hungarian Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk. The prosecution termed the American a major U. S. spy.

In the United States, meanwhile, admitted former Communists Whittaker Chambers and Hede Massing testified that Noel Field had once belonged to a Red group in Washington.

'Worst Pain' Tempered By Curious Drug

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The "worst pain in the world" is being stopped by curious new drug described today to the American College of Surgeons.

The pain comes from a nerve ailment in the face, tic douloureux, fairly common after 40. Attacks can last steadily for two to three weeks. Victims can't eat, or even shave. Some commit suicide from the agony. Many doctors agree with victims that it is the worst pain in the world.

Surgery cutting the face nerve has been the best remedy. But that causes loss of all sensation in one side of the face, sometimes leads to eye complications.

A fairly new drug, stilbamidine, seems to paralyze or somehow strike at the face nerve causing all the pain. And it apparently acts only on that nerve.

The clue that stilbamidine might be good came after it had been given to people suffering from internal fungus diseases. These patients after a time said their cheeks felt numb.

That gave Dr. George W. Smith, neurosurgeon of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and Dr. Joseph M. Miller, Veterans Administration Hospital, Fort Howard, Md., the idea of trying it against tic douloureux.

The drug has completely banished pain in 15 of the first 16 patients treated, Smith said. The first patient so far has been free of pain for 25 months. One of the 16 has had 80 per cent relief of pain, but he may have some other trouble besides the nerve.

7 Sponsoring Powers Ready Revised Setup

U.S. Delegate To U.N. Ends 3 Days Of Talks With Soviet Spokesman

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and its six atomic partners awaited expected Soviet approval today for a rewvamped proposal designed to get President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program rolling.

The seven sponsoring powers planned to present their revised resolution to the U. N. Assembly's main Political Committee today. U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. described the new draft as a "solid resolution" taking into account changes suggested by Russia, India and other nations.

After a 90-minute huddle with his six cosponsors last night, Lodge predicted the new resolution to set up an international atomic agency would win unanimous support of the 60 U. N. members, including Russia.

The Western resolution was revised after three days of closed-door talks between Lodge and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky. A U. S. source said Vishinsky was informed last night of the changes made in the resolution and was given the chance to suggest any further alterations.

* * *

INFORMED SOURCES said the seven Western Powers were determined to push ahead with the resolution with or without Russia's immediate approval.

The general feeling was that, despite their apparent inflexibility on certain points, the Russians

New 'Suspect' Slaying Slated

CLEVELAND (AP) — The state's chief investigator in the Sheppard murder case said today a tip on a "suspect" would be checked out thoroughly" even though he had little faith in it.

Detective Inspector James E. McCarthur said today the murder defendant's brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, had offered police another tip on a possible suspect. He said the man would be investigated, but added he thought the tip was "just another red herring dragged across the trail."

McArthur is in charge of investigative work in the Sheppard case, and sits with the prosecution at Dr. Samuel Sheppard's trial.

The detective said the man involved is a 38-year-old former patient of Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

Meanwhile, at the trial, Coroner Samuel Gerber denied he ever said Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death because she was pregnant, admitted checking a rumor that her husband, accused of the slaying, was sterile.

"Did you ever assert that the murder was the result of the pregnancy of Marilyn Sheppard?" asked William J. Corrigan, chief defense counsel for the slain woman's husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath.

"I never did," replied Gerber.

Corrigan then demanded whether Gerber had not intimated the brutal bedroom bludgeoning of July 4 was the result of the victim's fourth pregnancy.

"I never heard of it," the coroner answered.

The possibility of the defendant's being sterile was touched upon at the murder inquest last summer, but no evidence has been introduced to support the rumor.

Earlier, the coroner, on the stand for the third straight day in the nearly five-week-old trial, brought into court articles removed from Sheppard's home.

* * *

THEY INCLUDED a shotgun which Gerber said was taken from the house by Dr. Richard Sheppard, Sam's brother, and later turned over to authorities.

Other items in Gerber's collection were a piece of iron pipe the coroner said was from the defendant's sports car, a Jaguar; a riding crop, and a tire tool.

There also were two towels Gerber said showed "no blood," and a rust-stained dirty T-shirt found near the Sheppard home and likewise having no blood spots. The T-Shirt was picked up the day of the murder in a search by police for Sheppard's missing T-shirt witnesses said Sheppard wore on the night of the killing.

Corrigan blasted Gerber for failing to test carpeting in the Sheppard house for blood stains on the day of the slaying, and Gerber responded:

"I didn't see anything I thought was blood, but I didn't get on my hands and knees to go over the carpeting completely."

The defense counsel then asked if it wasn't a comparatively simple matter to expose stains in the dark by using a "luminal" spray.

The coroner said it was considerably more complicated than Corrigan made out, and in the interchange asserted:

"You're 100 per cent wrong. . . Luminal must be used with absolute care."

Knowland Again Calls For Split

Red 'Coexistence' Hit By GOP Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) renewed today his call for a diplomatic break with Russia, saying the action would impose a "moral sanction" against any further expansion of Communist influence.

He spoke out after a bipartisan conference of congressional leaders with President Eisenhower yesterday. The divergence of foreign policy views between the President and the party's Senate leader apparently went unmentioned at the conference.

Eisenhower has rejected a previous proposal by Knowland for a break in diplomatic relations with Moscow, declaring that a way of living together in peace with the Russians must be found.

Knowland criticized talk of "peaceful coexistence" with Russia in the Senate Monday. There should be a searching congressional review of the nation's foreign and defense policy, he said, to determine whether it needs "a basic change."

* * *

SECRETARY of State Dulles subsequently said the free nations, largely under U. S. leadership, have strengthened themselves against Communist pressure, and that he knew of no emergency retary of Defense Wilson said the alternative to some form of peaceful coexistence is war.

As did Dulles, Knowland said the term "peaceful coexistence" is subject to a number of interpretations.

"But to me it means coexistence in a free and a peaceful world," he said. "It doesn't mean the kind of peaceful coexistence the Thanksgiving turkey has until the ax falls on his neck.

"We cannot be unconcerned with Communist expansion and permit them to build up to the point where there is an atomic stalemate in which we would be powerless to stop them."

Knowland said he believes there are several ways short of war in which the Soviets could be put on the defensive. A break in diplomatic relations, he said, would make the rest of the world sit up and take notice.

Dems' Legislative Program Seen Sure To Irritate Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are shaping up a legislative program almost certain to create friction with President Eisenhower in the new Congress.

As outlined yesterday by Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex), it includes, in the controversial area, new farm legislation, pay raises for federal employes and tax revision.

Rayburn, who is in line to become speaker of the House when Democrats take over Congress Jan. 5, and Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) discussed the program after informal huddles with other Democratic leaders here for yesterday's White House foreign policy meeting. McCormack is slated to be House majority leader.

The program currently does not involve foreign policy. In that field, Rayburn said, Democrats hope for a bipartisan approach and for cooperation. What they want, he said, is "a strong foreign policy and a strong national defense."

* * *

ONE OF THE first things the new Congress will consider, Rayburn said, is a general pay raise for all federal workers.

Just before adjournment last summer, Congress sent the President a bill to raise postal salaries, but the President declined to approve on the ground Congress did not provide money to pay the bill.

Rayburn said he is opposed to increasing first-class letter rates to 4 cents, as the administration asked to help offset any pay boosts. He did not rule out proposed hikes in other rates.

While some Senate Democrats have said they favor a trial period of at least a year for the new farm price support system, Rayburn asserted he is for "90 per cent parity." Parity is a legal standard for farm prices said to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

At the President's insistence, the recent Congress replaced the old rigid 90 per cent supports on basic crops with a new law providing for flexible scale ranging between 82. and 90 per cent of parity.

Congress will have to decide early in the year what to do about scheduled reductions in corporation and excise or sales taxes, but no other major tax legislation is likely during the first session of the new Congress. But a new tax law, aimed at removing what Rayburn called "inequities," is almost certain to be considered during 1956, a presidential and congressional election year.

Rayburn predicted that the House Ways and Means Committee will review the entire tax setup.

Lima Selects New Police Chief

LIMA (AP)—Donald F. Miller, 47, became police chief here today.

Mayor William L. Ferguson named Miller after the civil service board certified him as the No. 1 man in a promotional examination held Nov. 10.

Miller has been acting police chief here since the retirement Oct. 1 of Kermit L. Westbay.

A member of the police force for 20 years, Miller came up through the ranks. He has been an inspector for the last 11 years.

Joe's Injury Not Slowing Censure Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said today the McCarthy censure debate will continue at least temporarily despite the absence of Sen. McCarthy because of an injury.

Knowland said the possibility of a recess had not been ruled out, however, and that he was consulting other senators.

Knowland said he expected to have something definite to say about Senate plans later.

Advices from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where McCarthy was entered as a patient yesterday, were that the senator's injured elbow was improving but that he might be there several more days. Doctors said there was no fracture, but a painful bruise.

Knowland said the debate and possible voting would continue "only in the event it is agreeable to the various parties."

Knowland said he would consult with McCarthy and those aiding him in the Senate, spokesmen for the Watkins commitee which unanimously recommended censure, and the Democratic leaders.

Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said any decision about continuing or delaying Senate action was up to Knowland.

Knowland said he was sure that if McCarthy requested a delay in the proceedings, the Senate would grant it.

Honest Newsboy Receives Reward

CLEVELAND (AP)—Luckily, Mrs. Jessie Brown's traveling $214 fell into honest hands.

The money started its trip Tuesday while Mrs. Brown was waiting to pick up her five-year-old son, Ralph, at a kindergarten. As she cared for a younger child, 17-month-old Gregory, she laid her wallet down on a parked car.

When Ralph got out of school, she went home, not remembering about the wallet.

Early this morning, 13-year-old Larry Hoffman started out on his newspaper route and spotted the wallet on the front of the car.

The happy Mrs. Brown gave Larry $14 for his honesty.

Mild Temperature Range Reported

CHICAGO (AP)—Wet and cloudy weather prevailed over broad areas of the country today but fairly mild November temperatures were in prospect for most sections.

Light rain or drizzle fell in areas from the Appalachians eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Showers or light rain extended over parts of the middle Mississippi Valley and the northern Great Lakes region.

Skies were cloudy in the Pacific Northwest eastward across sections of the northern Rockies. Snow was reported at high elevations in Montana. A fall of six inches was reported at Mullen Pass.

Britons Eye Fog

LONDON (AP) — A heavy fog blanketed the southern half of the British Isles today. Authorities said the vapor has not yet reached the lethal mixture of the 1952 smogs which killed thousands.

Strip Mining Dispute Ignored

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday refused to review a dispute stemming from strip coal mining in Jefferson County.

T. Holly McKim, who leased land to the Jefferson Coal Co., complained that mining by products had ruined 25 acres of unmined land and some fencing.

The company's contention that McKim had no cause of action was sustained in common pleas and appellate courts.

Akron Dairymen Vote Pricing Order

BOWLING GREEN (AP) — Dairymen in the Akron area are being asked to consider a proposed federal milk marketing order for the area.

The Agriculture Department is asking the producers for their views on the order, under which the department would set minimum prices which distributors would be required to pay producers. It would not set retail prices.

The marketing area would include most of Summit County plus Franklin, Ravenna, Brimfield and part of Suffield townships in Portage County. The order requires approval by two-thirds of the producers before it can be put into effect.

81 Ohio Counties Get Note To Check On Burke's Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — Democratic leaders in 81 Ohio counties were asked today to notify Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) at once if they think a recount in their area might yield him more votes.

"One half vote per precinct is the difference," wrote Burke's campaign manager, Joseph P. Sullivan, in telegrams to county chairmen.

The telegrams were another move in Burke's effort to show that he lost the senatorial election to Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) on a bad count. Officially, Bender won by 6,041 votes.

Sullivan specifically excluded the other seven Ohio counties: Cuyahoga (Cleveland), Mahoning (Youngstown), Montgomery (Dayton), Hamilton (Cincinnati), Stark (Canton), Summit (Akron) and Trumbull (Warren).

This apparently meant that Burke is personally looking into those areas.

Burke's supporters last night said they would demand a recount in populous Mahoning County.

John A. Bannon, Burke campaign manager in the normally strong Democratic county, said he would demand a recount there, adding Burke's margin in Mahoning did not seem great enough.

In the official canvass of votes yesterday Burke received 48,564 votes to the 34,720 cast for his GOP opponent, Rep. George H. Bender in the race.

However, the official count gave Bender the victory by a slim 6,041 votes statewide.

Burke supporters since the Nov. 2 election have indicated they might seek a recount in Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati, and in other counties.

A recount of ballots cast in 497 precincts on Cincinnati's proportional representation issue will be watched by police officers at Burke's request.

The City Charter Committee asked for the partial recount of the votes under which the proportional representation system of electing city councilmen was thrown out.

Timothy Hogan, Burke's attorney, said Ohio law gives Burke the right to ask for a police officer to watch the PR recount in the event the Senator also seeks a recount.

Strike Bombing Sentences Cut

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Second District Court of Appeals today reduced the sentences of eight men convicted in a series of bombings during a strike at the Columbus plant of North American Aviation Co. a year ago.

The sentences of from 4 to 67 years each were reduced to 1 to 20 years each. The action makes the men eligible for parole after the start of their sentences. They entered Ohio Penitentiary in mid-June after they were sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford. The eight defendants are Robert K. Weed, Elmo Bothman, Robert L. Stuller, Raymond Hoskinson, Robert White, all of Columbus, Bernard Angus of Reynoldsburg and Henry Woltz and Daniel Mason, both of Lancaster.

Jackson County Retrial Ordered

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday unanimously reversed the manslaughter conviction of Donovan Sharp, 48-year-old Jackson Countian, and ordered a new trial.

Sharp was convicted of manslaughter after indictment for second degree murder in the shooting of Thomas R. Easley in 1952. He pleaded self-defense.

Sharp contended the trial court erred in overruling his motion for an order directing the prosecutor to make available a transcript of testimony before the coroner and other officials.

The high court agreed Sharp's counsel was entitled to examine the transcript, and that denial constituted prejudicial error.

Aid To Aged Benefits Due For Increase

AKRON (AP) — The $65-a-month maximum benefits for Ohio's aid to the aged may be increased $5, perhaps even $10 by the next Legislature.

And chances are good that the $200 limit on the aged's medical expense limit will be removed entirely.

A survey of the 169 members of the Ohio Legislature by the Akron Beacon Journal revealed that an overwhelming number favor giving the old folks a little more money to help meet expenses.

Of the 169 members polled, 58 per cent answered the survey. Fifty-two per cent favor granting a raise, 17.9 per cent are against it while 30.1 per cent gave no answer.

Fifty-four per cent of those who answered want to raise the $65 a month maximum to $75, and 17.5 per cent favor increasing it to $70.

Some want the maximum raised to $80, $85 and $100 a month. Many believe the monthly benefits should be geared to the cost of living.

A majority believes the medical benefits are inadequate in some cases. Many think that allowance should be based on need alone.

The Ohio General Assembly which meets in January will have sufficient funds to raise these benefits, according to Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor said in a number of campaign speeches he believes benefits should be increased. He pointed out that the state will have a surplus of better than $50 million at the end of the fiscal year.

Lausche is expected to recommend a $5 a month increase in his biennium budget message to the Legislature next year.

Court To Study Tax Allocations

COLUMBUS (AP)—A dispute over tax allocations to Cuyahoga County libraries and municipalities was admitted for study yesterday by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Sixteen communities appealed from an Ohio Board of Tax Appeals' order hiking distribution of 1954 classified property taxes to libraries.

The county budget commission first allocated $5,614,500 to libraries and $585,500 to municipalities. Under the order they gave the libraries $5,964,500 and the rest to the communities.

would finally agree to the resolution and might even consent to join the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, and South Africa in sponsoring it.

The main snag has been Russia's demand that the proposed agency be placed under the Security Council, in which the Soviets wield veto power.

The United States wants it to be a specialized agency with its own constitution, unhampered by the veto.

Observers expressed belief the revised draft would have the agency report to the Security Council but would be so phrased as to avoid placing it under the council's authority.

Vishinsky appeared moving toward agreement yesterday when he told the committee that the Russians "adhered to the framework of the draft resolution which contains a number of entirely acceptable provisions."

"I have a feeling," he said, "that both parties are making every effort to eliminate or compose the differences which exist."

Western delegates were heartened also by Russia's acceptance of a place on the advisory committee to arrange an international scientific conference on the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Mrs. David Stevenson of Baltimore was released Wednesday from Berger Hospital, where she was a surgical patient.

Artificial Breeders Guests At Banquet Wednesday Night

A banquet honoring artificial cattle breeders was held Wednesday evening with Larry Best, former county agent, as guest speaker.

The dinner was sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Pickaway County Dairy Service Unit. Attending were 4-H'ers, and their parents, who exhibited artificially conceived heifers at the 1954 County Fair.

Best told the group of 50 people of the importance of a good breeding and testing program. He compared the average cow in the county to what could be obtained through breeding to better sires.

He also explained how the keeping of records on each cow is beneficial.

A MOVIE, "Highlights of Ohio" was shown to the group. The entire affair was held at St Paul's Lutheran Parish Hall. Supper was served by the ladies of the church.

The committee in charge of the banquet included Harold Hines, of Walnut Township; R. C. Palm, of Circleville: and Alvin Recobs, of Ashville.

The local Dairy Service Unit sponsors the artificial breeding program and DHIA testing program in Pickaway County.

Plans Under Way For Budget Huddle

Pickaway County Treasurer Bob Colville said Thursday that plans are moving ahead for the annual meeting of the budget commission here.

However, no definite date has been set as yet for start of the hearings.

County Auditor Fred Tipton continues to recover at his home following surgery at a Columbus hospital. Under a recent court order, Verna O'Hara of the auditor's staff is authorized to sign any papers necessary during Tipton's absence.

She was appointed assistant clerk for the board of county commissioners in connection with the authorization

Window Frost Seen Hazard For Drivers

"Don't drive unless you can see where you are going."

This warning may sound foolish, "but many motorists forget that windshields get frosted over this time of year," Director U. C. Felty of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, said.

Motorists who leave their cars out overnight should be especially careful to see that windshields and windows are clean before driving to work, he said. The glare of oncoming lights in the early morning or the early morning sun can blind a motorist.

"Some motorists fail to take time out to clear ice, snow or frost off of their windshield," Felty said. "Instead they drive down the streets and highways, peering intently through small peepholes in their windshields, endangering everyone's lives — including their own."

The director also advised motorists to take a few minutes out and check defrosters, windshield wipers, brakes and tires "since it is very important that these things be in top condition at all times but particularly during bad weather months."

CIO Union Wins A-Plant Election

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A CIO union yesterday was granted the right to bargain for 1,170 production and maintenance employes operating the Pike County atomic energy plant.

The workers, in an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, agreed to affiliate with the CIO United Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers of America.

Of the 1,131 ballots cast, the CIO union received 689, while the AFL Pike County Atomic Trades Council received 227. About 215 votes were cast for no representation.

Mother Of Three Reported Missing

A Pickaway County mother of three children was reported missing since 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Wilda Jean Riffle, 24, who lives on the Tarlton Pike, was last seen in Circleville presumably on her way home.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff gave the following description: 5-feet 3-inches tall, 130 pounds, brown hair, gray eyes; she was wearing blue dungaree overalls, a red satin shirt and brown loafer-type shoes.

Her left arm is partially paralyzed due to an illness.

Federal Aid Asked In Ohio River Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department yesterday was asked to take "immediate and stern action' to stop report'ed shooting incidents in a union organizing job among Mississippi River and Ohio River barge workers.

The request was made by an AFL - CIO organizing committee. Charles Barranco Jr., coordinator of the union campaign, filed a complaint with Atty. Gen. Brownell. He charged civil rights violations and asked protection from "further violence"

His complaint charged the J. W. Banta Towing Co. of Plaquemine, La., with bringing armed "strikebreakers" from Louisiana to free groups of barges confined by union pickets at docks in Cairo, Ill., and Gallipolis, Ohio.

The complaint charged that one shooting took place Nov. 13 at Gallipolis. It said Sheriff George Ehman of Gallia County broke up union picket lines at Gallipolis and escorted a crew of "strikebreakers" aboard tugboats who took the vessels downstream.

Barred from picketing ashore at Gallipolis, Barranco said pickets moved into a motorboat in midstream where he claimed they were attacked by a barrage of rifle and submachinegun fire from the river bank.

Ralston Purina Co. Wins Damage Suit

Cowboy Kenneth Hoober Wednesday lost a $5250 damage suit he brought against Jackson Grey Sforey, a Cincinnati artist, and the Ralston Purina Co.

He claimed that the artist and the cereal firm, without his permission, sold photograph copies of the painting entitled "The Cowman's Faith," for commercial gain by Ralston.

Common Pleas Judge Carson Hoy in Cincinnati said Hoober consented to pose with his horse for the pictures from the painting "because he was not only willing but eager that a painting made from them should be published on the cover of a magazine."

The judge added: "He cannot now complain that the sale of such painting to others is an unwarranted intrusion into his privacy."

Ike Issues Thanksgiving Proclamation

Tradition Says 'Our Hearts Require We Bow In Reverence'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the text of President Eisenhower's proclamation for Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, calling on all citizens to observe the day with prayer.

Early in our history the Pilgrim Fathers inaugurated the custom of dedicating one day at harvest time to rendering thanks to Almighty God for the bounties of the soil and for His mercies throughout the tradition suggests and our hearts require that we follow that hallowed custom and bow in reverent thanks for the blessings bestowed upon us individually and as a nation.

We are grateful that our beloved country, settled by these forebearers in their quest for religious freedom, remains free and strong, and that each of us can worship God in his own way, according to the dictats of his conscience.

We are grateful for the innumerable daily manifestations of Divine goodness in affairs both public and private, for equal opportunities for all to labor and to serve, and for the continuance of those homely joys and satisfactions which enrich our lives.

With gratitude in our hearts for all our blessings, may we be ever mindful of the obligations inherent in our strength, and may we rededicate ourselves to unselfish striving for the common betterment of mankind.

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1951, designating the fourth Thursday of November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 25, 1954, as a day of thanksgiving, and I call upon all our citizens to observe the day with prayer. Let us demonstrate in our lives our humble thanks to God for His beneficence in the year which is past, and let us ask His guidance in the year to come.

Navy To Define Marines' Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps' relationship to the Navy is to be defined in an order now being prepared in the Navy department.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr. so said in letters to Congress members who had expressed concern over published reports that admirals are trying to gain more control over the Marines. Gates said the final draft of the new order has not been completed.

Gates sent Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) and Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) copies of a policy memorandum issued last April by then Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson. That document termed the Marine Corps a "not separate service."

Hal Boyle Says:

Bullet Scar Has Memories

BRUSSELS (AP)—The scar of a German Gestapo agents bullet still can be seen in the neat green doorway of Mme. Josef Duchene.

Every time she goes through the door the mark reminds Mme. Duchene, an Irish-born widow of 85 who has become a symbol of Belgian civilian courage, of the terrible price she paid for sheltering two fugitive British soldiers during the last war.

After the collapse of the Allied lines, two young Scottish soldiers, John McCubbin and Bobby Conville, leaped from a Nazi prisoner train near here and escaped.

"The woman who hid them became frightened," recalled Mme. Duchene. "I couldn't let the Germans take those boys again, so I said they could hide with us. We had a bed but no mattress, so my daughter, Florrie and I ripped open our sofa pillows and made them a mattress, so the poor lads would sleep easier.

"That Bobby—he was such a good little boy Always laughing. My daughter ran a millinery shop, and Bobby used to help her make hats."

The two British soldiers hid in the Duchene home at night for 14 months, sometimes moving to other places during the day.

One day, while Bobby was out, three Gestapo agents knocked at the door. They searched the house and found McCubbin, shot and wounded him when he tried to escape.

"I told Florrie to run out the back, that it made no difference if the Germans took me as I wouldn't live long anyway," said Mme. Duchene. "But she would not leave me."

Mother and daughter were put in solitary confinement in prison here. Neither would give any information to their captors. After 9 months, Mme. Duchene was released.

"But they took Florrie to Ravensbruck, that awful place," she said, "and later to Belsen, the most terrible of all.

"When she fell ill, they took her away from the other prisoners one day. I have asked and asked what happened to her after that, and no one will tell me.

"She was so good and nice . . . so kind to everybody."

Bobby Conville was smuggled back to Britain by the Belgian underground. John McCubbin, despite a bullet in his back, survived his wartime stay in a German prison camp.

Both men got in touch with Mme. Duchene as soon as they could to thank her. Three grateful governments—Belgium, Britain, and the United States—have honored the gallant old widow with citations and medals for her valor.

She looked quietly at the paint-covered bullet scar on her door.

"People used to come often to look at the bullet hole," said Mme. Duchene, a sweet-faced, white-haired old lady with apple pink cheeks, who wears a black ribbon at her throat. "But no one has come now for a long time."

"Time passes," she said. The door closed, leaving the old lady alone with her medals and her memories.

Airplane Parker Clipped By Prop

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An "airplane parker" at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here was clipped on the chin by a propeller last night—and she lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fennell, however, won't be talking about her escape for a few days. Base officials said it was a miracle she lived.

The 29-year-old flight line employe lost a tooth and had 13 stitches taken in the lower part of her face. She was treated at the base hospital and sent home.

She had guided a twin-engine C45 into parking position and was placing blocks in front of the plane's wheels when the propeller hit her.

1,500 Attend Rites For Snite

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 1,500 persons filled St Luke's Roman Catholic Church in suburban River Forest yesterday for the funeral of Fred B Snite Jr., 44, who spent 18½ years in iron lungs. Snite, known as the "Smiling Boiler Kid," was stricken with polio in China in 1936 He died in Florida last Friday.

The Rev John J. Cavanaugh, former president of the University of Notre Dame, where Snite attended school, gave the funeral sermon. Snite's body was garbed in cape of a knight of the Holy Sepulchre, a vestment that went with the honor given him two years ago by Pope Pius XII.

Dime Collection Buys New Auto

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Four years ago, Louis S. Farias, his wife and their four children began dropping dimes into a box. Some nickels and dollar bills were also added.

Yesterday the hoard had reached $1,403.20. They took it to an automobile dealer and ordered a new car.

With the old family car, it was enough for a 1955 model. The old car, by the way, was purchased the same way.

Farias is a longshoreman and part-time bartender.

New Hunt Urged For Missing Girls

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP)—Raleigh County Sheriff John C. Ward called for volunteers today to resume a search for Irene Agee, 8, and her sister Mary, 6, who have been missing since shortly after school Nov. 1.

Since that time the section around the mountain community of Egeria has been searched almost daily.

Ward said he and state police officers would lead any volunteers from Twin Bridges, six miles away, toward Egeria in the remote hope that the girls may have strayed even beyond the territory already examined.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss, the ex-diplomat whose name has been used as a synonym for treason, must have thought many times as the years slid past his prison cell:

"What's in store for me? Will I be questioned again? Will I be in the headlines again? And perhaps, for something else I say or deny, will I wind up in jail again?"

He may not have to wait long for the answer. Yesterday two congressional groups—the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security subcommittee—said they're thinking of calling him after he gets out of jail Nov. 27.

Hiss' career crashed to a halt when Whittaker Chambers, confessed onetime courier for a Soviet spy ring, told of secret papers he said Hiss gave him.

For denying Chambers' charges, Hiss was convicted of perjury in 1950 and started serving his five-year sentence March 22, 1951. The verdict in effect banded him a liar and traitor. He is getting out after serving 3½ years. The law provides time off for good behavior.

Hiss, a lawyer, will probably never be permitted to practice again. He's been disbarred in New York and before the Supreme Court. He has lost his citizenship rights. He can't get a passport to leave the country.

His lawyer, Chester Lane, of New York, says Hiss will try to vindicate himself.

The most Hiss could have hoped for was that he might not again have to face congressional committees or federal grand juries unless he could vindicate himself convincingly.

But there has been a fundamental change in the law—which the government may now want to use for further investigation of Hiss—since he went to jail. This year Congress passed the immunity law as a weapon against subversion.

It lets the government—Congress and federal and grand juries—grant immunity to a witness to force testimony against others.

At the time Hiss was jailed juries or committees investigating spying before, during or after the war could be blocked right and left by witnesses who refused to testify and escaped punishment by saying:

"I refuse to testify under the Fifth Amendment, which says a man can't be compelled to give testimony which might incriminate him."

Now if committees, or grand juries working with the Justice Department, want to investigate spying, they can single out one individual, perhaps a minor suspect in a spy ring, and tell him:

"We want you to tell us about this spy ring. We'll grant you immunity to punishment for anything you did. We want to use your testimony against the big shots."

A witness who refused to talk after being offered immunity could be cited for contempt and, if convicted, jailed. Before the immunity law, if he refused to answer questions under the Fifth Amendment, he couldn't be jailed for contempt.

Hiss neither refused to answer questions nor pleaded the Fifth Amendment, he couldn't be jailed for contempt.

Hiss neither refused to answer questions nor pleaded the Fifth Amendment. He denied he gave secret papers to Chambers and was convicted of lying. But the government was never able to prosecute him for spying.

Chambers said Hiss gave him the papers before the war, which was peacetime. Unless a man is tried for peacetime spying within a limited time after the offense, he can't be tried for it at all. Hiss wasn't brought to trial until five years after the war. The charge was perjury, not spying.

But there is no time limit on when a man can be tried for espionage committed in wartime. Chambers' part in the spy ring ended before the war. Hiss continued in the State Department through the war. He did not leave until 1947.

With the help of the new immunity law Congress or grand juries could reopen investigations of peacetime and wartime spying. If they do, they may want to question Hiss or grant immunity to others to learn more about him. The penalty for wartime spying is death.

If through the immunity law the government got evidence which Hiss denied under oath, although wartime spying was not involved, he might find himself confronted with a brand new perjury charge.

Trio Robs Pair Of Dairy Stores

AKRON (AP)—Two Lawson Dairy Co. stores were robbed last night by three gunmen who forced clerks and customers to lie on the floor while they rifled cash registers.

About $50 was taken from the Akron dairy, and an undetermined amount from the store in Barberton. A clerk at the Akron store described the robbers as men in their early twenties and said they entered a blue sedan driven by a fourth man.

Firemen Duck As Bullets Fly

NILES (AP)—Firemen, battling a blaze yesterday in the home of Charles Foster, suddenly started ducking and scrambling for cover.

The flames had heated up a loaded .38 revolver and several loose cartridges in a drawer. Slugs started spewing in all directons. Damage from the fire, caused by a defective chimney, was estimated at $2,200.

Bohlen Recalled For Consultation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. ambassador to Russia, is coming home for talks with top officials next week, presumably to discuss Russia's "coexistence" campaign.

"He is returning solely for consultation," said press officer Henry Suydam. "He will go back to his post at Moscow, after being here possibly a week or 10 days or two weeks."

Pistol-Packin' Kids Given Warnings

CLEVELAND (AP)—Kids packing toy pistols near the Wolverine Express Terminal, had better look out for James F. Nolan.

Nolan, the terminal's manager, said children had broken into a truck cargo and made off with 200 "Lone Ranger" pistols.

About 100 of the guns have been recovered, including those cached in a nearby hill, Nolan said. He added:

"You don't have to outdraw them. Just look at them."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A short, sharp earthquake jolted Southern California points yesterday.

The shock was felt in Pasadena, Glendale, Burbank, Van Nuys, Hollywood, Compton, and Los Angeles. It swayed buildings in Santa Barbara and light fixtures in Ventura. No damage was reported.

Public Utilities Facing New Rate Law In Legislature

AKRON (AP)—Public utilities will have a rough time trying to stop the Ohio Legislature from changing the 100-year-old formula for setting rates.

Legislators appear determined to scrap the present formula for a new one, according to a survey by the Akron Beacon Journal.

Of the 169 members in the Assembly, 58 per cent answered the questionnaire. Of these, 55.2 per cent want a new formula at once. Only 17.2 per cent say the present one is good enough, and 27.8 per cent are undecided.

More senators are for a new formula than are members of the House of Representatives. In the Senate, 65 per cent favor a new method, 23.6 per cent are against it and 11.4 per cent are undecided.

In the House, 51.4 per cent want a new formula, 15.7 per cent want to keep the present one and 32.9 per cent are undecided.

* * *

TWO YEARS ago, a similar survey showed a majority of the legislators wanted to keep the present formula. This was substantiated later when the 100th General Assembly refused to approve a new rate making method.

What, then, brought about the change in attitude? According to the Assembly members, several utilities, particularly telephone companies, were "asking higher rates too often."

Some members say they have "absolutely no faith in the present Ohio Public Utilities Commission."

The present formula provides that rates be set on the basis of reproduction cost new less depreciation. The law says a utility is entitled to a rate based on the cost of reproducing the plant and equipment.

According to those who want the formula changed, public utilities don't apply for rate increases in depression times so the declining values have no opportunity to affect their rates adversely.

Legislators say the law should be flexible enough to adjust itself to changes in the state's economy. Some say rates should be set on the company's original cost of building its plant, less depreciation.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has urged the Legislature to change the formula. In his bid for reelection, Lausche time and again hit at the utilities and promised voters he would do everything possible to support a change in the rate law.

Efforts to change the law have been made since 1953. Each time, however, the utilities' powerful lobby has been able to stop the attempt.

Elusive Turkey Baffles Hunters

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP) — A white hen turkey that believes in celebrating Thanksgiving alive has eluded a small army of searchers, including the dogcatcher, for the last four days.

The 10-pound turkey escaped from Mrs Cla Cunningham and took to the hills.

It's been seen frequently, turkey-trotting across the hills. But never when a hunter approaches. Both Mrs. Cunningham, footsore from searching, and baffled dogcatcher Burt Casteel testify to this. But no sooner have the hunters given up than the turkey is reported seen again.

PROGRESS IN PRINTING

CIVILIZATION without printing would be a drab existence indeed, and business as it is conducted today would be grievously handicapped if it were compelled to function without the assistance of Franklin's art. Of course Benjamin Franklin did not invent printing, but he was the first American printer to become famous, and he was the leading printer of his time.

Franklin was a good printer, too, although he had so many other interests that he didn't put in much time at his original occupation after the age of 40.

There has been rapid technological progress in the printing art in the last decade or two, but more revolutionary innovations are promised or threatened, depending on the viewpoint. Presses are faster and more accurate and much drudgery has been eliminated from the composition of all varieties of printing, from newspapers to the smallest commercial printing creation.

There have been many improvements in the mechanical processes of printing newspapers in recent years. Better presses have made possible four-color printing, improvement in reproduction of pictures has been almost continuous, and automatic typesetting from tape has supplemented keyboard operator type production in many composing rooms.

But widespread predictions are heard that accomplishments of the past in effecting labor-saving methods in producing newspapers will be greatly eclipsed in the factory that turns out the newspaper of the future. These are based largely on an entirely new typesetting machine which is already in use in a few plants. Strictly speaking, this machine does not "set" type at all in the accepted sense. What it does, roughly, is to make a photographic image of each letter, then a metal cast of the completed line.

Franklin would be truly amazed by the progress made in his art, as well as by the size and content of today's newspapers.

Dave Beck proclaims he is still boss of the Teamsters. And he seems to have quite an effective whip to enforce his "Giddap" and his "Whoa."

When the claim is made football is being overemphasized, efforts should be made to ascertain whether the charge comes from a school whose team was defeated 60-0.

One publicist says highly intelligent men from other planets will reach the earth soon. And high time.

Some dopesters predict political parties will be split wider than ever in the future. That would not be a split—it would be hara-kari.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

During World War II, I called attention on several occasions to the astonishing material issued by the Army under its Information and Education Program, which failed to stress patriotism, loyalty to country, traditional American ideals but went into the business of making Soviet Russia increasingly popular among our troops.

It is because of the curious twist of this indoctrination activity that I carefully read the contents of a pamphlet entitled "20th Century Minutemen, a Report to the President on a Reserve Forces Training Program."

This document was issued by the National Security Training Commission of which General Julius Ochs Adler is Chairman. Everything in this report goes along swimmingly as long as I read about military activities but when I reached the nonmilitary activities, I came across the old I & E Program which continues to puzzle me. According to this, the Army is to function under four precepts:

". . .(1) The dignity of the individual as a basic concept of democracy; (2) democracy's respect for the truth as contrasted with communism; (3) the sovereignty of the people, rule by the will of the majority rather than the edict of a few; and (4) spiritual values basic to a democratic philosophy."

This looks very good, but what does it mean? What precisely does the use of the word, democracy, mean in this context? Why cannot these precepts deal with the United States, which is a definable entity, instead of with democracy, which no one can define? I should like whoever wrote this report to explain what "democracy's respect for the truth" means and how that respect is to be implemented. By truth does the author mean the Natural Law as defined by Thomas Aquinas or pragmatism as defined by John Dewey?

The next paragraph in the pamphlet is still more interesting. It says:

"The Chaplain's Corps will conduct the lectures on marriage and family life, religion, and moral principles, and other instructors will give the lectures on democratic responsibility, government, and sex education. They will not be 'indoctrination.' They are to present the principles which are generally accepted by the great majority of the people, without personal embellishments."

What is meant by "democratic responsibility"? In the United States, we enjoy the benefits of government by law. The citizen is responsible for his conduct under the law. If he commits treason and is caught, he goes the way of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, or if he is not caught in time, he may go the way of Alger Hiss. Nowhere in our laws is the citizen bound by such a concept as "democratic responsibility."

In the mores of our people, a man is bound by moral obligations, which apparently is for the Chaplains to talk about. There used to be a term, civic duties, which dealt with the nature of citizenship. But I cannot fathom what is meant by "democratic responsibility."

So I go to the next paragraph which expands the subject:

"For example, the lecture on democratic responsibility will emphasize the role each individual plays in the preservation of peace and the ideals of the United States. . ."

DIET AND HEALTH

Planning a Kitchen For Cardiac Patients

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHILE heart disease is more prevalent in men, women are frequent victims as well.

It is important that they also follow most of the recommendations I have laid out for heart patients in the three previous columns devoted to this topic.

Helping the Housewife

In addition, there is much that can be done around the home, particularly in the kitchen, to make their lives easier.

For the last few years, Chicago's Women's and Children's Hospital has maintained a "cardiac kitchen," designed to alleviate kitchen work as much as possible for the heart disease victim. Tours of the kitchen can be arranged for large groups by telephoning the hospital administrator for an appointment.

Your kitchen can be made to help you, too.

For example, shelves should be no higher than six and one-half feet from the floor. Unless you're a real "shorty," you shouldn't have to do much stretching to reach that.

Convenient Arrangement

Items most frequently used should be lined along the front edge of the shelf so you don't have to stand on tiptoe to get them.

Dishes and other eating and cooking utensils should be located near the center of the kitchen, or wherever you do the most work.

I would advise you to place a long-legged posture chair in front of the sink, so you can sit while preparing food or washing dishes. A highchair with the tray and arms removed would do almost as well.

I think a rocking chair might come in handy, also. It would permit you to relax while planning your work.

If your husband doesn't help dry the dishes, don't worry. This is one job you can avoid completely. Just rinse the dishes with boiling water and let them drain dry. Believe me, it's more sanitary than drying them with a dish towel.

The smaller the kitchen, the better for a heart patient. An ideal working radius is about 20 inches.

Top Oven Advisable

The right kitchen equipment can also be a big help. A top oven (they're becoming popular again, you know) will eliminate stooping. And refrigerators come with both left- and right-hand doors. One might save you more work than the other in your kitchen.

Tomorrow, I'll tell you how what you prepare in the kitchen may help you live happily with heart disease.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. C.: I have been advised that the pores of the skin cannot absorb anything. Is this true? Would hormones be absorbed through the skin?

Answer: There are various substances which may be absorbed through the skin, particularly substances dissolved in fatty preparations. Hormones can be absorbed through the skin. It is therefore advisable that such preparations be used only under the direction of your doctor.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

FOOTSTEPS sounded on the porch, and the door opened. Behind me Eileen gasped, "Papa!"

When I looked up, she was in the embrace of Jake Fortune.

I stared at him stupidly. His heavy red face beneath the cream-colored hat held a sober and serious look as he gazed at Earl Seltzman on the floor. Then his gray eyes, wide-spaced, like his daughter's, met mine over her shoulder, and silently asked a question.

"Papa, papa," Eileen sobbed, and he held her close.

"I had to hit him," I said. "He pulled a gun on me, and he was jittery and ready to shoot. Thanks for slamming your car door. It gave me a chance to jump him." I stood up wearily.

Jake Fortune frowned. "Earl pulled a gun on you? Why?"

"Papa," Eileen sobbed. He patted her shoulder.

"You may as well know," I said. "He shot Ralph Hollis—on purpose—and he killed Rex Bishop, because the old man caught him shooting at me."

His frown deepened. "But I thought that Judy—"

"She's out of it," I said, and I looked around for the telephone. "I've got to get the sheriff out here."

Eileen left her father's arms and knelt beside Earl Seltzman. Her fingers caressed his thin, slack face as she murmured, "It's all right, darling, don't you worry."

Jake Fortune gazed at me bleakly. "So Earl really tried to kill Ralph?"

"I'll tell you about it later. Where's the phone?"

"In the kitchen." He shook his head and swore softly.

"Watch him," I said.

He nodded.

The phone was on a shelf above the kitchen sink. I asked for Sheriff John Morissy and got him almost immediately.

"This is Jim Bennett."

"Yes," he said quietly.

"Haven't you gone to bed yet?"

"I'm in bed now. The phone's right beside me."

"End of the hunt," I said. "It was Earl Seltzman. You can forget about going to Cleveland. Earl will have a rifle some place, and it'll match the bullet I dug out of the tree, and the bullet in Rex Bishop. I've got Earl out here at Jake Fortune's place."

The line was dead for a moment, and then I heard him sigh. "I see," he said in his grave, quiet voice. "I'll be right out."

"Thanks." I hung up and looked at the gun I'd taken from Earl Seltzman. It was a .25 caliber Colt. The clip was full, with a cartridge in the firing chamber. I put it in my overcoat pocket, along with my own .38, and went back to the living room.

Seltzman was sitting in a chair, leaning forward with his forehead in a palm. There was a bluish spot on the side of his jaw, and it appeared to be swelling. I rubbed my knuckles reflectively. Eileen was standing beside him, a hand on his shoulder, a maternal, tender look on her face. Jake Fortune hadn't moved from his spot by the door. He said, "It's cold in here. I'd better go down and stir up the fire." As he moved across the room, he said to his daughter, "Eileen, make us some coffee." He went out through the kitchen, and I heard him going down some steps. Eileen left Seltzman's side and moved into the kitchen. She didn't look at me.

"Earl," I asked, "where's the rifle?"

He didn't answer.

"The rifle, Earl."

"I don't have a rifle," he muttered.

"You may as well tell me," I said. "We'll find it anyhow, and you'll save the sheriff a lot of trouble. Just tell him the whole thing, Earl. It'll be easier that way—for you, for everybody."

"You can't arrest me," he said sullenly.

"Yes, we can."

"I want a lawyer," he said.

"All right."

"I'll talk to him," he said, "and nobody else. Franklin Hoffman, in Cleveland."

"The sheriff will get him for you. I'm sorry I had to hit you again, but you shouldn't have pulled a gun on me."

He took a deep breath. "I—I didn't know what I was doing. Between the two of you, Eileen and you, I—I lost my head, I guess. I didn't intend to shoot you. I just wanted to scare you, to keep you away from me. I wanted time to think about what you said, and what Eileen said, and—oh. . . ." He began to sob, a dry, rasping sound.

Dimly below me I could hear Jake Fortune shaking the ashes out of the furnace. Eileen was making domestic sounds in the kitchen. Presently I smelled coffee brewing, and Eileen came into the room. She went past me, paused long enough to rest a hand gently on Seltzman's head, and then went up the stairway. Seltzman, quiet now, took off his glasses and began to wipe them with a handkerchief. His thin face looked naked and pinched, rodent-like, and he avoided my gaze. I heard Jake Fortune come up the basement steps, and his voice came from the kitchen, "Coffee's ready."

"In a minute," I said.

I heard a car stop outside, and I got up and opened the door for the sheriff. His grave eyes glanced at Earl, and then at me directly. "I'm taking your word for this."

"I'll be responsible," I said, handing him Seltzman's little automatic. "Assault with intent to kill. That's enough to book him. I'll be down later. He wants his lawyer—a man named Franklin Hoffman in Cleveland."

Morissy nodded and spoke gently to Seltzman, "Come on, Earl."

"Can you handle him alone?" I asked.

"He won't cause any trouble. I've known Earl all my life."

From the kitchen Jake Fortune said quietly, "Hello, John."

The sheriff nodded, tight-lipped, said, "How are you, Jake?" and laid a hand gently on Seltzman's shoulder.

Earl got slowly to his feet, picked up his heavy red coat from the chair, and moved to the door, not looking at any of us. The sheriff said, "Better put on your coat, Earl. It's cold out."

Obediently Seltzman hunched into the coat. Morissy opened the door. Eileen Fortune came down the stairs. She was wearing the bluish tweed suit with the frilly white blouse, and was carrying a coat over her arm. She had applied lipstick to her small, thin lipped mouth, her blond hair was smoothly combed, and she looked quite attractive, in spite of the red puffiness of her eyes. She said to Morissy, "I want to go with him."

"All right, Eileen," he said gravely, "if you like."

Seltzman stood woodenly, his head down.

I said to the sheriff, "His car's around in back."

"I'll send somebody for it." The three of them went out, Eileen and Earl first, the sheriff following. I closed the door and went into the kitchen.

1—Born in New Orleans she took music lessons in that city. She and her sisters became proteges of the local Philharmonic society and soon had their own radio show. They made their first recording and appeared in movies with Bing Crosby. In 1936 the sisters disbanded, she being the only one to remain in show business. Her discs with Crosby became near classics. Basin Street, Bob White, Tea for Two, Between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street were some of their records. She was co-starred in several television shows. Now she writes, arranges and makes TV, radio and night club appearances. What is her name?

2—He, too, is a singer. Born in Binghamton, N. Y., he finished high school in 1938. In 1940 he went to New York and became vocalist with Ina Ray Hutton's orchestra, with which he stayed four years. After eight months with Guy Lombardo, he went with Tommy Dorsey, then turned freelance. Since then he has recorded, played niteries and done radio shows such as The Galen Drake Show and Dial Dave Garroway. Who is he?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — New Deal-Fair Deal critics of the proposed Dixon - Yates TVA - AEC deal charge that it will cost up to $75 million more than if the government built the new power plant in the Tennessee Valley.

It probably will, although the precise total is in dispute. But the differential will result from the fact that the private companies must pay state and federal taxes, and from the further fact that, even though it will increase the public debt and the general taxation burden, Uncle Sam can still borrow money at a lower rate than private interests.

* * *

F.D.R.'s DAY—But the perturbed public power apostles have not always been so keen on economy, if throwing money away would enable them to expand Washington's control in this field or advance their ideological interests.

The very men — Oscar Chapman, former secretary of the interior, and Leland Olds, former chairman of the Federal Power Commission—who now blast the Eisenhower power program sponsored several movements that would have been far more costly than the proposed TVA - AEC transaction.

The official who masterminded this now forgotten "giveaway" scheme was F.D.R.'s top power adviser and strategist, the late Harold L. Ickes. The man who carried out the field operations in this questionable and expensive enterprise was a mysterious individual generally unknown to the public—Guy C. Myers, known in the promotion world as "Flash."

* * *

PROFITABLE—Myers was a smart operator. He saw a chance to make a quick pile by persuading private utility firms to sell their facilities to states or to public power organizations eager for experimentation.

Myers convinced them that there would be profits in the scheme for them and for himself. When he failed to sell the idea to the buyers and sellers, Ickes brought pressure from Washington to swing them into line.

Here is how it worked in Nebraska, the home state of the late Sen. George W. Norris, known as the "Father of TVA":

With a blessing and credentials furnished by Ickes, Myers offered to buy out the private utilities in Nebraska, and then to sell them to the state. Although the Federal Power Commission had appraised the properties at only $32 million, Myers' sellout figure was $45 million, meaning a $13 million profit for the private owners and their financiers.

* * *

TAX-FREE — Myers' commission was $530,000. The bonds sold quickly because they became tax-free as soon as the state became the proprietor. What Myers did, in fact, was to capitalize on the tax-exemption status of the new securities. The bankers got a fine commission for handling the transaction. Their profit was estimated at $2 million. Nebraska power consumers are the only losers.

Thus, Nebraska and the federal government lost taxes which went straight into the pockets of Myers, the bankers and purchasers of the state public power securities. Incidentally, when the private utility owners at first showed some hesitancy in selling to the state, Ickes engaged in a bit of political blackmail.

The "Old Curmudgeon" announced that he was thinking of advancing PWA funds to local public power systems in Nebraska so that they could "compete" with the private utilities in the generation and transmission of hydroelectricity.

* * *

FAILED — Myers almost put over the same scheme in the state of Washington, with Ickes, Chapman, Olds and other New Dealers abetting him. He offered to buy out three private utility systems for $135 million although their appraised value was only $95 million.

The deal would have been consummated, if it had not been for former Rep. Lyle Boren of Oklahoma, chairman of a House committee that had investigated the Myers-Ickes operations. On the very day that Myers and private utility officials in Washington were about to sign a contract of sale, Boren said on the House floor:

"The stakes here are high! This bonanza is bigger than Credit Mobilizer and the Whiskey Ring! It dwarfs Teapot Dome!"

This is the same language that the anti-Eisenhower faction are USING TODAY!

Try, Stop Me

Residents of Chapel Hill are partial to a tale of D. C. Jacobsen's about an extremely frugal member of the University of North Carolina faculty. This worthy gent, it appears, had just drawn $35 from his bank, bent upon acquiring some reference tomes at Paul Smith's Intimate Bookshop. No sooner had he turned away from the paying teller's window, however, than his path was blocked by the formidable figure of Native Son Kay Kyser, the popular band leader, who retired while he was about three million ahead.

"I'm bound for lunch," announced Kay. "How's for coming with me?"

"Love to," agreed the professor. Then, glancing down at the seven crisp five-dollar bills in his hand, he added nastily. "I'll join you as soon as I've made this deposit."

George Jessel admits he never had the honor of meeting Winston Churchill. But I'll tell you how close I came to it," he adds. "I once had dinner at Number 9 Downing Street!"

Fall Court Of Awards Held By Girl Scout Association

Senior Troop 5 Has Investiture

Girl Scout Troop 5 was invested as a Senior Scout Troop during the Fall Court of Awards of Circleville and Pickaway County Girl Scouts. The event was held Wednesday evening in Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Mrs. John Downs, troop leader, led the girls in a brief ceremony and renewal of their promise before presenting them with their Senior Scout pins.

Members of the troop are: Carolyn Bell Jane Davis, Patty McAbee, Bonnalee Meadows, Dianne Schelb and Elaine Woodward.

A flag ceremony which opened the session was presented by Troop 23, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Marion and Mrs. Ruth Thompson.

Troop 23 is the newest Intermediate Girl Scout Troop in Circleville. The girls had received their Girl Scout pins and Brownie wings in a fly-up ceremony held during a regular troop meeting. The mothers of the girls were guests for this event.

Members of the troop are: Nancy Curl, Sandra Davis, Ethyl Fullen, Michele Funk, Stephanie Hedges, Stephanie Marion, Belinda Plum, Martha Ann Samuel, Elaine Schelb, Brenda Smith, Nancy Thompson, Mary Thomas, JoAnn Valentine Jacque Wilson, Carol Wuest, Mona Davis, Janet Greist and Karen O'Donnel.

Mrs. Carie Snider, program chairman of the Girl Scout Association, gave the welcoming address to the Scouts, parents and friends. An honored visitor at the program was Mrs Bernard Young, former Girl Scout Commissioner.

Mrs. Snider stated that the badges which were to be presented to the girls were a sign of proficiency and proclaimed the ability of the wearer to assist others in a given field

She urged the scouts to remember that the badges are symbols of ability and not charms to be collected in the largest quantities possible. Her closing thought was, "Make your badges count, don't just count your badges."

Presentation of awards was made to the individual scouts by the troop leaders. Group singing was led by Miss Doris Schreiner, Intermediate program advisor.

Piano selections were presented by Charlene Bass of Troop 11 and Judy Wood of Troop 17, both of whom received Musician badges during the ceremonies.

Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout Commissioner, spoke briefly on a convention of Girl Scout officials, which she attended in Cincinnati. She reminded the new Scouts of the uniform exchange which is conducted by a committee with Mrs. Clayton Vaughan as chairman.

Mrs. Heine also announced that the birthplace of Juliette Low, founder of scouting in America, has been purchased by the National Girl Scout Association. This property is being remodeled as a museum and a home for Girl Scouts in Washington D. C. She announced that contributions toward the completion of this project may be made to Mrs. Robert Smith, Juliette Low chairman.

The program ended with group singing of "Taps" and "Good Night, Girl Scouts."

A complete list of badges awarded during the ceremonies will be published in a future edition of The Circleville Herald.

Saltcreek Home Group Conducts Lighting Project

Members of the Saltcreek Home Demonstration group learned how to utilize the lighting facilities they now have for greater efficiency and what changes they might make in their homes for better lighting.

The group met in the Tarlton Methodist Church to study the project "Home Lighting". Mrs. Leora Sayre, County Home Demonstration Agent conducted the study project, after which she showed colored slides to the group.

Plans for future projects were made during a short business session, under the direction of Mrs. Judson Beougher. In December members will participate in the County wide "Christmas Hospitality Fare" program and display which will be held Dec. 7, in St. Philips parish house.

In January the project will be on lampshades Other future projects will include a "Time and Energy" study, "Accessories" and "Quick Mends".

Union Guild Holds Meeting In Lanman Home

Mrs. Earl Lanman was welcomed as a visitor at a regular meeting of the Union Guild, which was held in the home of Mrs. Mary Lanman.

The meeting, which was attended by eleven members, opened with group singing Mrs Oland Schooley read "The Beatitudes" from Matthew and a Bible thought taken from the book, "The Upper Room." Prayer by Mrs. Schooley was followed by repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Reports of officers and committee chairmen were presented. Mystery sister cards were drawn for 1955 and hostesses were named for the monthly meetings during the coming year.

Christmas baskets will be filled for needy families and gifts have been mailed to two members of the armed forces who are serving overseas. They are the son and daughter of members of the guild.

Plans also were made to send a Christmas gift to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Metcalf, former residents of the community, who now are residing in Springfield.

The session closed with group singing and the Guild benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dora Hunt.

Mrs. George Fisher of Circleville Route 3 will serve as hostess to a Christmas meeting which will be held Dec 15. Mrs Roy Newlon will be assisting hostess.

Miss Reba Lee Hosts Guild 16

A dessert course served in the home of Miss Reba Lee, with Mrs. Charles Fullen assisting, preceded the regular meeting Wednesday of Berger Hospital Guild 16.

During a business session, the group made final plans for a nut booth to be sponsored by the guild during the Hospital Guild Bazaar to be held from 1 to 9 p. m. Friday in the Armory.

The members made Thanksgiving tray favors to be used in the hospital. Plans were made to hold a dinner meeting Dec. 16 in Pickaway Arms.

Ohio Cities To Get Chance For Federal Hospital Aid

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio cities, especially 12 which are very short of hospital beds, will have a chance next week to put in bids for federal money for hospital construction.

The state hospital advisory council has scheduled a hearing next Tuesday in the State Office Building here, and cities must appear to become eligible for federal grants-in-aid.

Distribution of federal hospital money will be recommended by the state health director, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork.

Last year Ohio got $2½ million from the federal government for hospitals. Most of it has been allocated, but another grant is expected next summer.

Health officials set up a minimum standard of 4½ hospital beds for every 1,000 persons.

By that standard, Dwork said three cities in Ohio are in "dire straits.' He named them as Van Wert, with no acceptable beds and a need of 71; Hillsboro with 22 beds now, but a need of 112, and of 72. Voters in both Van Wert and Hillsboro defeated hospital bond issues at the recent election.

Other cities in the "A priority" class, with the per cent of the minimum standard which they now have: Wilmington, 48.6 Coshocton, 41.6; Port Clinton, 43; Martins Ferry -Bellaire, 43.9; Delaware, 45.3; Findlay, 45.4; Zanesville, 45.7; Ravenna, 46.2; and Greenville, 48.3.

By contrast, Dwork said 16 cities have reached or exceeded the minimum requirements. They are Logan, Xenia, Springfield, Lima, Celina, Kenton, Mount Vernon, Cambridge, Ashtabula, Ashland, Medina, Alliance, Toledo, Toledo-East, Sandusky and Norwalk.

Detective Loses On Settlement

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Police Detective Austin Beierle tells this sad story:

Last week his automobile and another collided. The owner of the second car said he had no cash to pay damages but he'd give Beierle his old car.

However, the detective reported he lost on the deal.

Damages to his automobile totaled $35. He sold the car given to him for $12.50.

Minister Named

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Rev. Benjamin F. Judd will be installed as moderator of the Presbytery of Cincinnati in January. He was elected recently to succeed the Rev. Hugh B. Evans to the local Presbyterian Church office.

Stomach Parasites

Veterinarians say prevention, not treatment is proper approach to blood-sucking parasites—only 10 of which per cow can cost farmers $2 per head per year in the cost of blood loss alone. Symptoms: anemia, scours, loss of appetite, emaciation, staggering. Recommended prophylaxis: mineral mixture in self-feeders consisting of three parts each of ground limestone, bone meal and salt and one part of phenothiazine by weight.

VOLUNTEER WEATHER WATCHERS

Nine Thousand Unpaid Aides Help the Bureau

By REX STANLEY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

WHETHER it reads "rain" or "sunny," when you check the forecast in this newspaper today, give credit to more than the official weather bureaus. Nine thousand unpaid men and women are helping to predict the weather, too.

These are the "co-operative observers" — ordinary people with everyday jobs—who are contributing part of each day to watch and record America's most important changing phenomenon. Without them, predicting the weather would be a difficult, unending job for the 921 official bureaus.

You don't hear or read much about these weather volunteers. However, daily on mountain ranges and remote ranches, along the nation's rivers and the seacoasts, from city rooftops and farms, they are measuring and logging weather.

Some of these volunteers have been at it for scores of years. It is one of the oldest, unpaid cooperatives in United States history.

* * *

THE VOLUNTEER CORPS began in the 1880s. Then, weather observing and forecasting was largely an Army job. However, outposts in the unsettled west were widely scattered, so predictions for a big chunk of the United States were hit-or-miss.

To fill in the gaps, railroad telegraphers were given thermometers and rain gauges. When Indian raids didn't interfere, they sent daily readings to the nearest military post.

There weren't enough telegraphers or Army posts, though maybe private citizens—settlers of the new frontiers—could help. The Volunteer Weather Observers corps began.

One of the first "weather men" of the corps was rancher E. L. Wetmore, whose observations started near the ancient walled city of Tucson in 1884. By 1899, there were more volunteers than official stations in the west. Today, these co-operative observers far out-number regular weather men.

Milford and Mrs. Noon check their rain gauge.

The weather watcher's job isn't big: once a day, he reads the thermometer and rain gauge supplied by Uncle Sam, records the figures on special forms.

* * *

THE WEATHER WATCHER may measure the depth of a river and its flow. Or, if he's a coastal observer, log barometric pressure and phenomenon, too, such as snow, sleet, hail and ice.

It's easy, but this daily job means much to America. From the corps comes vital information for official forecasts—to warn cities of floods, hurricanes and tornadoes, to predict frosts and drouths. The number of lives saved, millions in property damage prevented, is incalcuable.

Unless it's a danger warning of weather that could kill or do damage, the volunteer observer mails his report to the nearest station, usually each month.

Without them, America's files of long-period climate data would be bare, and long-range forecasts almost impossible. There could be no established "climate" predictions.

For many volunteers, weather watching has become a family affair. Typical is the Noon family of Nogales, Ariz., where they've been observing for four generations.

Says Milford Noon, now training his sons for the job: "For us, it's the privilege of making a mighty important contribution to the comfort and safety of folk. Makes us feel we're helping the whole country, too."

Sokolsky's

But the individual plays no part in the preservation of peace. He knows nothing about it. John Foster Dulles and his enormous staff go to conferences and make various deals but the citizen only knows about them when the chain of events is moving in the direction of war or peace For instance, what would the individual in the Army Reserve have had to say about whether the United States was to go into Korean War or to stay out of it? Nobody asked him. As a matter of fact, no one even asked the Congress.

Those who complain about conformity ought to look at page 127 of this program. There is stated: "Instructors in nonmilitary subjects should strive to present the broadest and most generally accepted principles of our society. . ."

What are the "most generally accepted principles of our society" that can be taught in a few months to reservists? And why should they be lectured about any "generally accepted principles of our society"? For instance, Protestant Christianity is the majority religion of this country. Are its principles the most generally accepted in our society? If so, are they to be taught by civilian instructors to Catholic, Jewish, Moslem and Busdhaist American? There is something queerly conformist in all this.

Injuries Fatal To Second Woman

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Mistaken for her dead friend after a traffic accident last week, Mrs. Madeline Woodworth, of Conneaut, died last night in a hospital at Westfield, N. Y.

She had been driving through Westfield with Mrs. Maybelle Mae Yesso, also of Conneaut, Nov. 7 when Mrs. Yesso's car skidded and crashed.

A body identified as that of Mrs. Woodworth was returned to Conneaut for funeral services. The woman believed to have been Mrs. Yesso lay in Westfield Hospital, unconscious and with her head swathed in bandages.

Proper identification was not made until Mrs. Yesso's mother, viewing the body in a coffin, noticed the ears were pierced. Her daughter had pierced ears but she knew Mrs. Woodworth did not.

Bandit Uses Tacks In Elyria Holdup

ELYRIA (AP)—A scar-faced hoodlum, armed with an automatic pistol and a pocketful of tacks, held up the Household Finance Co. yesterday and escaped with $577.

After taking the money from cash drawers, the bandit ordered Office Manager J. J. Boreski and three women to take off their shoes. He piled the shoes in a hallway and threw the tacks on the floor to discourage pursuit.

ARRESTED in Compton, Calif., Lois Margaret Carter (above), 20, tells police she beat her 3-year-old daughter to death in "symbolic revenge" against her own mother. "It seemed as if every time I hit the baby I was striking mama a whack for me," she said. (International)

Attorney Honored

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Atty. D. Harland Jackman of London yesterday was elected to the Ohio Bar Assn. House of Delegates at the association's annual District Six meeting. Included in the district are Fayette, Clark, Champaign, Greene, Logan, Madison and Union counties.

Ike's Atom Plan Chances 'Good'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Diplomats from both sides of the Iron Curtain are predicting that President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan would win the same unanimous approval the U.N. Assembly accorded the East-West disarmament proposal.

U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. expressed confidence yesterday that the Assembly would give solid support to the proposal to set up an international atomic agency East European diplomats were reported making the same prediction.

Speculation mounted that if Russia decides to go along with the seven - power proposal, Moscow might follow up by announcing the Kremlin will match the U.S. offer of fissionable material to start an international atomic stockpile for peaceful purposes.

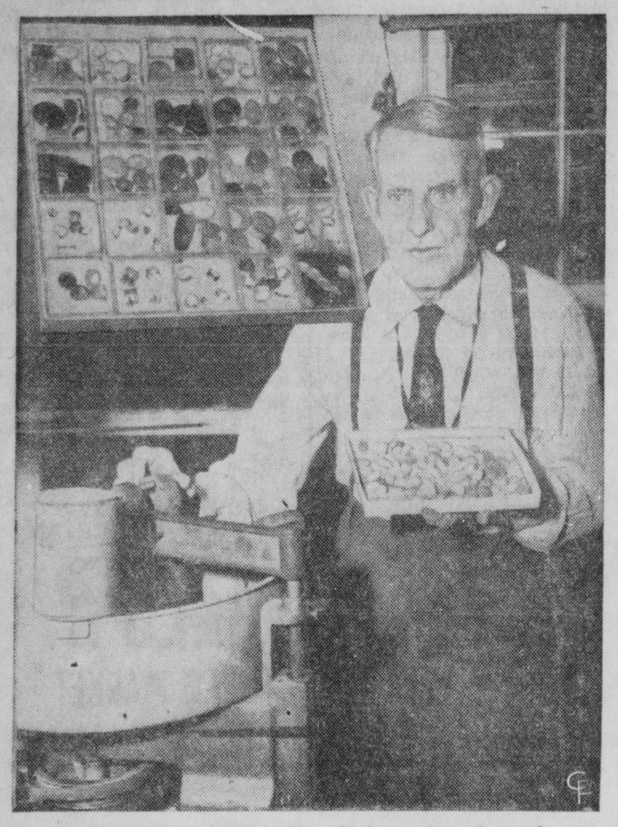
Gravel Polishing Is Right Up His Alley



J. W. Tucker of Jackson, Miss., displays a box of gravel which will come out of his shop as lovely stones (inset).

By ELSIE MAY CHAMBERS
Central Press Correspondent

JACKSON, Miss.—J. W. Tucker, one of this city's oldest businessmen, has one of the most unusual hobbies. He polishes driveway gravel.

The results are amazing. In his back porch shop he turns ordinary pebbles into really lovely stones that any woman would be proud to wear in earrings, rings, pins or other costume jewelry. The pebbles come out of his shop in a variety of colors, tones and shapes, and are mounted easily in silver or steel.

It takes about four hours to polish a piece of gravel—or jasper, which most gravel is—and it is done on a series of grinding wheels, rough, medium and fine emery; the same procedure with sandpaper, and finished off with tin oxide polishing. He has hundreds of beautiful stones, most of them picked in Mississippi gravel pits.

Naturally, his interest in stones has grown beyond driveway gravel in the four or five years he has followed the hobby, and he has become quite expert in cutting and polishing some gems and precious stones. But the lowly jasper probably is his favorite because it is so rewarding and requires so little time in comparison to the 40 or more hours for a precious stone.

Equipment for his hobby costs some money, but possibly not more than many other hobbies. To handle the softer stones such as jasper costs about $150. Work with precious stones requires a diamond edge saw and a little more equipment, but it can be had for less than $300, Tucker says.

It has only been in his later years that he has become a "rock hound," and more and more he is finding it easier to let the younger generation of Tuckers take over his printing and office supply business while he stays at home and turns out pretty stones. He never sells them, but admits he "unloads some at Christmas."

Dulles Accused Of 'Holding Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) said yesterday Secretary of State Dulles has not told the American people the "real reasons" for firing John Paton Davies.

Welker said that Davies "may have been a Communist" and "might have been disloyal." But failure of Dulles to tell the people the whole story, he said, was "not the way to do things in America."

Davies was fired recently after 23 years as a foreign service officer. Dulles said the discharge had nothing to do with Davies' loyalty.

Male At PTA Meet Finds Self Alone

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — "Male, unattached chairman of a PTA unit seeks companionship," the announcement read to the State Parent - Teacher Congress last night said.

But he wasn't looking for a girl friend. The man, chairman of a PTA unit in San Antonio, was seeking another man, any man also a local chairman. Lost in a feminine world among the convention's 2,000 delegates, he wanted masculine company for lunch today, at his own expense.

At last report he had found no takers.

Farmers Asked To Have Census Data Ready To Go

John W. Thomas, supervisor of the Bureau of Census' Agriculture Field Office for this section of the state, announced Thursday that the 1954 Farm Census is now under way in the 24 counties of Southeastern Ohio The region supervised by Thomas with offices in Lancaster, includes Pickaway County.

Thomas thanked the farm families for cooperation received so far in the annual checkup on the nation's farm picture, but he again urged that the advance questionnaires be filled out beforehand for the information. The Farm Census, conducted to gather important data for the government, the public and the farmers themselves, has already been completed in many sections of the country.

As the work gained momentum in this district, Thomas said:

"The farmers have been very cooperative, and the enumerators are enthusiastic in their praise for the courtesy and help accorded them. However, due to the bad weather earlier this Fall, our local farmers—in Pickaway County and elsewhere—have been delayed with their corn harvest and wheat sowing.

* * *

"CONSEQUENTLY, they are reluctant to take the time to be interviewed by the census-taker during these wonderful Indian Summer days. We can well understand how they feel, but we want to emphasize the importance of the work that is now being carried out. And how much we need all the assistance we can get.

"The Bureau of Census has a big job to do with a limited amount of time and money, but the census-taker is required by law to visit each farmer. And to check the questionnaire if it has already been filled out, or to help fill it out if necessary. Now this is where the farmers in Pickaway County and everywhere else can save time, both for himself and for the enumerators—or census-takers.

"The farmer can fill out the questionnaire in the evenings, leave it with his wife, and go on about his farm work during the day. Then the enumerator will pick up the completed forms, and that will be all that's to it."

Information gathered during the Farm Census is held strictly confidential in reference to any individual case, or small group of cases. Even other government agencies cannot obtain such data from the Census Bureau.

The larger totals, however, and the general results obtained, are used in figuring important government programs for the farmer and also by many public agencies and firms which handle work connected with agriculture. In addition, the information is made available to the individual farmers, if and when they want it

The 1954 census, the 16th Farm Census of the nation's history, will thus bring up-to-date the information on America's farm resources, farm production and farming needs. Thomas explained:

* * *

"JUST AS it is important for a farmer or a businessman to take stock of what he has on hand and what he hopes to accomplish so it is important for the nation to do likewise in reference to agriculture. The Farm Census seeks accurate data on how many farms there are, how much and what kind of land is being utilized, how many of each of livestock and poultry are on these farms, how much farm equipment is used, how the average farm home is equipped, and so on.

"Many billions of dollars worth of business transactions are based on the information that will be gathered. And the census figures are also used in calculating the all-important parity for the farmers.

"It is work of tremendous importance for all of us. And we hope to have the continued cooperation of all the farmers in this region."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Thanksgiving turkey takes over in the nation's food stores this weekend, along with all the things that go with it.

And that turkey will cost you less than last years did. The consensus of food store men is that prices will be from eight to 10 cents a pound below year-ago levels.

You'll find ample supplies of the birds in any weight you desire. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this year's crop of turkeys at 61 million, a good gain over 1953.

Food store men expect housewives to order their turkeys over the weekend. Because most home refrigerators are crowded, many people won't pick up their birds until Tuesday or Wednesday.

The department has worked through the list of items that go with the holiday bird. Here are their findings:

Radishes are plentiful, green onions are in moderate supply and a good buy, topped carrots are fairly priced, pascal celery is in good supply but there's not too much of the golden heart type around.

Beets are a good buy, cabbage and cucumbers are low-priced, tomatoes and avocadoes are reasonable.

There's a light supply of pumpkins, but other types of winter squash are plentiful. Turnips and rutabagas are inexpensive. Round white potatoes are reasonable, with baking potatoes running higher than the round whites.

There are moderate price tags on sweet potatoes, cauliflower and onions. Mushrooms are fairly plentiful. Cranberries are selling at about the same price as a year ago. Chestnuts from Italy are rather low in price. Parsley is reasonable but peas are high.

All types of apples—for baking, cooking or just plain eating—are available. Florida oranges and grapefruit are good buys. Red emperors are the best purchase in grapes. Pears are moderately priced, and most of them are from the Pacific Northwest.

For this Sunday's dinner, or for Thanksgiving if you don't want turkey, you'll find good value in chickens of all types. Veal roast is another favorite. Some stores will feature hams, pot roast, rib end pork roast, leg of lamb, and shrimps and oysters.

Food men consider most cuts of beef to be on the high side right now. In many markets, pork chop prices will be up from a week ago. Lamb prices are pretty much unchanged from last week.

Butter will cost a couple of cents a pound more in many areas this weekend. Eggs will be off a cent or two in some cities but up as much as six cents a dozen elsewhere.

Ohio Sheriffs 'Unprotected'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's sheriffs are not protected by workmen's compensation even if they get shot in the line of duty, the Ohio County Commissioners Assn. was told.

Association Secretary Cliff Baker said workmen's compensation coverage does not extend to elective officers. He said the association would be asked tomorrow to go on record urging a change in law.

Cleveland Medic Goes On Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Braun, 65, goes on trial today on a charge of performing an abortion on a 23-year-old woman.

His indictment grew out of a case against Emmet (The Prophet) Cobb, sentenced to prison last summer for 14 to 68 years after he was convicted of running a vice ring here.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Sorrow Believed Fatal To Girl, 11

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—An investigation has begun to determine the exact cause of the death yesterday of Joan C. Miller, 11. Donald Miller, the girl's father, said she had been suffering from shock and hysteria since learning of her grandfather's death.

Joan's grandfather Barney A. Miller, 60, of Jessup, Md., was killed last Monday by a tractor-trailer. The girl was extremely devoted to him, her parents said.

Girls Club Burns

NEW CONCORD (AP)—Fire gutted the interior of the Wawyin Girls Club at Muskingum College last night, routing six residents. No injuries were reported and no damage estimate.

Sgt. Donald K. Adams, whose wife,, Eve, and son live at 202 1-2 Logan St., is serving with the 3rd Transportation Railway Command in Korea.

A member of Company A in the 772d Military Police Battalion, Sergeant Adams arrived overseas in June. He entered the Army in 1945 and has previously served in Berlin and Panama.

His mother, Mrs. Bertha E. Adams, also lives at the Logan St. address.

Moonshine Up

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese moonshiners have taken a big bite out of Japan's tax revenues—about $5,400,000 worth the government complained today. It said 67½ million gallons of illegal liquor had been brewed this year.

Red China Claims Needles 'Healing'

TOKYO (AP)—Red China may be curing everything from cancer to athlete's foot with its ancient art of "acupuncture," Radio Peiping indicated today.

The practice involves puncturing the skin in various spots with gold and silver needles.

A broadcast heard here reported it had been found effective according to the Ministry of Health, in treating some 200 diseases, "bringing total or marked relief to 90 per cent."

'Skill' Returned To Pinball Craze

TOKYO (AP)—This city moved today to restore skill to Pachinko, the national pinball craze. It banned "machine-gun" types that fire four or five balls at once in favor of the old "single shot" style.

Police say there is one machine for every 40 inhabitants. Winners get merchandise prizes which can be sold.

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepowers of every Buick V8 engine—a walloping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. *It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down your take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrift to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

CAPITOL'S 'CENTURY SAFE' AWAITS REOPENING IN '76

Contemporary artist's drawing shows what interior of the Century Safe looked like just before doors were closed for 100 years back in 1876. However, we'll have to wait until 1976 to find out how accurate this drawing is.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The musty, dusty labyrinths of the United States Capitol have concealed many mysteries, but none more intriguing than "The Century Safe" whose doors are not to be opened until 1976.

This safe, which was once viewed by hundreds of thousands, but which few now living have ever seen, has been hidden by three-quarters of a century of oblivion.

It has apparently remained untouched in an out-of-the-way place beneath the Capitol's central portico since 1879, when its doors were closed, not to be opened again for almost a century.

President Rutherford B. Hayes, Vice President William A. Wheeler, the Cabinet, and many other dignitaries of that day were present at the ceremonial closing of the doors.

* * *

DAVID LYNN, architect of the Capitol, says the safe was there when he assumed his position in 1923 and has never been opened.

The year 1976 will mark the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and it was in connection with the 100th anniversary that the idea behind the safe was conceived.

The originator was Mrs. C. F. Deihm, widow of a Union Army lieutenant who died at Fredericksburg. Mrs. Deihm was a native of New York City who had done stalwart work during the war for the government. She placed the safe, which she called The Century Safe, on exhibition at the Philadelphia exposition in May of 1876.

* * *

HER PURPOSE, she explained, was to fill it with mementoes of the time and then seal the safe. She reasoned that another celebration would be held in 1976 and the safe could then be reopened.

Included among the items she placed in the safe were albums which, she wrote, were "elegantly bound in Russian leather" and which contained autographs and pictures of prominent people; a copy of a book containing the names of the 80,000 people who then worked for the government; pens and inkstands, one presented by the poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, made of pearl, gold and silver by Tiffany and company; and other memorabilia of the Nineteenth Century.

* * *

ON FEB. 22, 1879 (George Washington's birthday), the safe was locked in the presence of a large multitude in Statuary hall in the Capitol.

In commenting on the proceedings, a newspaper of the day declared: "It is presumed that this safe will be opened by a jubilant nation on the Fourth of July, 1976, and with greater interest than we can possibly imagine now . . .

"The Century Safe deserves more than a passing notice. . . . It is gratifying to know that the future generation have such a valuable gift in store for them."

For years now, however, the safe has remained unattended in its dark recess beneath the Capitol. The markings which once adorned it have disappeared. It lies black and dusty.

* * *

ACCORDING to Mrs. Deihm, the Century Safe is lined inside with purple velvet. It has an inner door of plate glass, which is locked. Behind this glass door are the contents of the safe. The outer doors are also locked. Who has the combination to the two dials? No one apparently knows.

Mrs. Deihm stated in 1879 that it was her wish "that this safe remain closed until July 4, 1976, then to be opened by the chief magistrate of the United States."

There are those who say the safe is not the Century Safe. They suggest it be opened to determine its authenticity. However, Lynn adamantly refuses. He says he is convinced it is Mrs. Deihm's safe and as far as he is concerned, it will stay closed until 1976.

Ethel Barrymore To Miss Funeral

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ethel Barrymore's studio says she is under a doctor's care and won't be able to attend the funeral today of her brother Lionel.

A spokesman said yesterday that the 75-year-old actress is not ill but just broken up over Lionel's death Monday.

Four Major Problems Face Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—R. M. Eyman, state director of education says Ohio schools face four major problems.

He summed them up as:

1. An unprecedented enrollment has accelerated the problems of overcrowded classrooms, lack of school building facilities, and shortage of well - qualified teachers:
2. State financial assistance has not kept pace with increased school costs.
3. There is need for improvement and broadening of the public school curriculum.
4. The problem of "lost youth"—those who drop out of school somewhere between the first and twelfth grades—is serious.

Eyman said total enrollment in the state's public schools has been increasing at the rate of approximately 60000 per year, during the past three years.

To house the present public school population properly, Ohio needs 8,000 new classrooms, Eyman said. The state needs approximately 2,000 additional new classrooms per year to accommodate the 60,000 increased enrollment each year, he added.

According to Eyman, the course of study needs to be improved and broadened, particularly in high schools.

Ohio loses between 50 and 60 per cent of its pupils between the first and twelfth grades, state department of education statistics show.

Eyman said in 1953, Ohio lost between 25 and 30 per cent of ninth grade pupils before they completed the 12th grade.

Businesswoman Being Sought

OBERLIN (AP) — Police today sought Mrs. Ethel Axelrod, 50, missing since last Thursday. Mrs. Axelrod, who managed an Oberlin scrap metal firm has not been seen by her family since she boarded a Cleveland-bound bus.

On that day, the Oberlin Savings Banking Co. won a judgment against her for two signed notes of $4,833 and $1,010. On Friday, another judgment against her for $751 was granted the Hyman Co. Last Tuesday, the I. A. Barnett Co. of Barberton filed suit against her firm for a $4,052 debt.

Trio Of Rookies Brings Out Rare Paul Brown Optimism

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three robust rookies had their pessimistic coach about ready today to admit the Cleveland Browns may enter another championship play-off.

Paul Brown usually considers coaches who predict victories jinxed. But here he is now conceding:

"We've got the makings . . . if we can keep it going."

For Brown, that's all-out optimism.

"The makings" include three of the best rookies the Cleveland team ever signed—fullback Maurice Bassett, the only Brownie who ever won a starting backfield job in his first year; halfback Chet Hanulak, the former University of Maryland standout; and end Carlton Massey, who gets so excited over the game his nose bleeds.

Largely because of the quick development of this trio, the Browns won their last four games and moved into second place after losing two of their first three games by lopsided scores.

After losing to Philadelphia by 18 points and then to Pittsburgh by 28, the Browns were all but counted out despite the class they showed in winning their way into nine straight title playoffs.

Then the rookies moved in.

Bassett beat out Curly Morrison for the fullback spot and started giving Otto Graham the blocking he needs to get off those long, on-the-fingertips passes. He still does not run with the power and quick pickup that Marion Motley had in his prime. But who does?

The remarkable thing about Bassett is that he never got on the team. His college football was at Langston, Okla., University and the first time the Browns saw him was when he was playing for the Coronado, Calif., Naval Amphibian Fort Ord, the Browns signed him.

Hanulak, described by Brown as "another rabbit" because of his speed and swerve, says he is a "little surprised", too, at being on the team. He says opposing tacklers look "like monsters" compared to the men he faced in college and adds he still has trouble trying to remember all of the Browns' system. What bothers him particularly is getting in the clear to catch a pass, a must for a Brown halfback.

One of his troubles is speed. To get a job he has to compete against Cleveland backs like Ray Renfro who ran the 100 in 9.5. Hanulak's best is 10.01 but Brown says he is sure Hanulak will stick with the team—he gained 90 yards in 11 carries against the Chicago Bears last Sunday.

Tallest of the trio is Massey, up from Texas University. Massey shoved over Doug Atkins and became the defensive left end. Last week as the Browns thumped the Bears 39-10 he accounted for the first Cleveland touchdown by hurrying a Zeke Bratkowski punt. Bratkowski got off a weak kick from behind his goal and the Browns got a first down on the Chicago 28. They scored six plays later.

Massey is a little embarassed by his nose spurting blood inconveniently. He had warmed up and was standing on the sidelines waiting for the late - appearing Bears to come out of their dressing room when it happened. "It was nothing," he declares. "Just the heart of the warmup and the excitement."

Loss of blood did not sap his energy. He spent most of the afternoon in the Bear backfield.

Carter Again Wins Elusive Boxing Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The world lightweight boxing championship was back in familiar surroundings today—in the possession of Jimmy Carter of New York.

The 30-year-old kingpin from Harlem regained the title last night when he battered Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn into a mess and submission in the 15th and final round of a bruising, savagely fought battle in the vast Cow Palace.

Referee Ray Flores halted the massacre.

Paddy, 26, making the first defense of the championship he captured from Jimmy in New York last March 5, was out on his feet, his left eye swollen and all but shut and his cheek rapidly assuming a deep blue shade.

Carter now stands as the only lightweight king to win the crown three times. He won it originally from Ike Williams in 1951, lost it to Lauro Salas in 1952, regained it six months later and then surrendered the honor to his rival from Brooklyn.

Twice Carter had his man on the deck—from a whistling left hook to the chin in the ninth for a four-count, and with a barrage of punches just as the bell ended the 14th.

The knockdown in the ninth, the second in Paddy's career of some 83 fights, signaled the outcome. The battering in the 14th spelled out the finish and actually the technical knockout in the 15th was anticlimactic.

Carter called his victory the biggest thrill since he started boxing in 1946.

Boudreau Braced For Building Job

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lou Boudreau, the new manager of the Kansas City Athletics, sees a big rebuilding job ahead but he's hopeful the change of scenery will stimulate the club.

Boudreau, who signed a two-year contract yesterday, said he believes the Athletics will do much better here than in Philadelphia where they wound up in the American League cellar last season.

"I think the enthusiasm of the Kansas City fans will bring a change in the club's attitude," Boudreau said. "I believe there will be more effort put out and that the club will show general improvement."

The Galveston, Tex., flood was caused by a hurricane that piled up enormous waves the inundated the city.

Pitcher Sentenced To Win 20 Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Clarence A. (Bud) Podbielan, 30, a Cincinnati Redlegs pitcher, was convicted in traffic court yesterday of reckless driving and speeding.

In addition to fining him $50 and costs and taking away his driving rights for 7 days, Judge John W. Keefe ordered the big hurler to win 20 games next season.

Podbielan was arrested last Monday after a police chase and was clocked at 65 miles an hour before he hit a street sign.

The pitcher said he was worried over the condition of his wife, a polio victim. She is improvng.

Army-Navy Tilt To Pit Top Powers

NEW YORK (AP)—Not that it needs it, but the Army-Navy football classic at Philadelphia Nov. 27 got yet another boost as a gate attraction today as the Midshipmen returned to the top of the list of the nation's leading defensive units among major colleges.

That information, supplied by NCAA statisticians, sets up the Philadelphia struggle as a test of the leading offenses and defenses.

Navy took over the No. 1 spot in total defense by holding Columbia to 143 yards last weekend. That reduced the Middies' allowance average to 168.9 yards a game. Army is entrenched as the leading total offense club, 459.4 yards a game, and also as the top rushing team, 329.1 yards a game.

The versatile Midshipmen, meanwhile, are No. 2 in total offense (401.3) and third in rushing defense, allowing 82.3 yards a tilt.

Oklahoma and UCLA, two of only three major unbeaten teams remaining, are one-two in rushing defense. The Sooners have given up an average of only 73.6 running yards, UCLA 81.8.

In forward passing defense it's Alabama on a yardage basis, permitting only 42.0 yards a game, while Boston College is the toughest to click against, allowing only a 29.1 completion percentage.

UCLA's stout line has made the Bruins the toughest team to score against, giving up just 40 points, an average of five a game. The Uclans also are tops in scoring, totaling 333 points (41.6 a game).

Reports Of Deer Noted In County

Various reports of deer in the county have been received by The Herald.

One was seen on Route 104 near Fox. The report from Mrs. Wayne Hoover stated that a number of motorists stopped to view the animal which bounded over a creek and headed west when last seen.

Another report discloses that a herd of nearly a dozen was seen on Route 56 in the same general area.

There is no open season hunting on deer this year.

Thoroughbred Race Betting Drops

NEW YORK (AP) — Wagering at thoroughbred race tracks dropped 2.1 per cent from last year but the states' revenue soared to a new high as pari-mutuel betting exceeded $2 billion for the second time in history.

The figures are not yet complete for the year, since the horses are still running in four states, but a survey by the Associated Press showed the treasuries of 24 states received $140,146,751 from the $2,024,539,986 wagered.

At the same time attendance dropped .37 per cent from 28,395,466 in 1953 to 28,289,216 this year. Wagering in 1953 reached $2,067,898,574, with $136,478,353 going to the states where pari-mutuel wagering is legal.

AP Guesspert Picks Bucks Over Michigan

UCLA, Oklahoma, Iowa Given Nod In Games Slated For Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Annually football stalks off the sports stage in a blaze of glory. Perhaps, some of the glory can percolate into these predications—if not, they are consigned to the blaze.

Last week there were 13 incorrect answers among the 50 decisions for an average of .740. The seasonal totals are 308 correct answers and 124 incorrect for .713.

This week's picks:

UCLA over Southern California: UCLA took last Saturday off to get ready for this one although it is Southern California who is in need of the extra preparation.

Ohio State over Michigan: The Buckeyes have too much team speed.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: The Sooners end their eighth season under Coach Bud Wilkinson without a loop defeat.

Iowa over Notre Dame: Notre Dame tied Iowa a year ago in a game marked by feigned injuries. Neither side has forgotten it but the Iowans likely remember it a little more clearly.

West Virginia over North Carolina State: The Mountaineer backfield is crippled but Fred Wyant still is sound.

The others without comment:

FRIDAY NIGHT
Miami over Alabama.

SATURDAY

EAST: Harvard over Yale, Columbia over Rutgers, Syracuse over Fordham, Holy Cross over Connecticut, Pittsburgh over Penn State, Princeton over Dartmouth, Boston University over Temple, Delaware over Bucknell.

SOUTH: Arkansas over Louisiana State, Maryland over Georgia, Washington, Auburn over Clemson, Duke over South Carolina, Furman over Wofford, Kentucky over Tennessee, North Carolina over Virginia, West Virginia over North Carolina State, Vanderbilt over Villanova.

MIDWEST: Wisconsin over Minnesota, Colorado over Kansas State, Illinois over Northwestern, Michigan State over Marquette, Missouri over Kansas, Purdue over Indiana, Wyoming over Tulsa, Wichita over Detroit.

SOUTHWEST: Baylor over SMU, Rice over Texas Christian, Texas Tech over Houston.

FAR WEST: Arizona over Arizona State, California over Stanford, Idaho over Brigham Young, Utah over Montana, New Mexico over New Mexico A&M, Oregon over Oregon State, Washington over Washington State.

Approximately one out of every nine civilian jobholders in the United States works for a federal, state or local government.

County Teams Swinging Back Into Basketball

Pickaway County high schools get back into league action Friday night with a full slate of play scheduled.

Deercreek's Deers are leading the pack up to date with three straight league victories. Ashville and Scioto each have won once without a league loss.

Friday night, Saltcreek, which has lost one league and two independent tilts, faces favored Deercreek on the Deers home court.

New Holland, with one league loss and one independent win, travels to Walnut. The Tigers have dropped one league and one independent game.

* * *

MONROE, with two independent wins, plays host to Scioto's Buffaloes. Scioto has one league victory.

Jackson, having a record of one league and one independent win as against one league loss, travels to Ashville.

Perry, having only one league win matched with two league defeats, moves over to Darby. Darby has the same record as Jackson.

Pickaway, which drew the bye, plays host to Amanda. The Pirates have one league and one independent loss.

Yankees, Orioles Cook Up Big Exchange Of Players

NEW YORK (AP)—In a move to revamp their pitching staff in one sweeping deal, the New York Yankees have picked up Bullet Bob Turley and Don Larsen, a pair of young right-handers, from the Baltimore Orioles.

The trade may involve as many as 12 players, The Associated Press learned from an authoritative source.

In addition to Turley and Larsen, perhaps the most promising of the young pitchers sprinkled among the also-ran teams of the American League, the Yanks also reportedly received shortstop Billy Hunter.

In return, the Yankees, who had made repeated inquiries about all three Orioles in the past, gave up veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, pitcher Harry Byrd, first baseman Eddie Robinson, utility infielder Willie Miranda and Jim McDonald, a 4-1 right-hander. Several minor league players also are said to be involved.

The deal—one of baseball's biggest in recent years—was expected to be confirmed today in two separate press conferences called by the Yankees and Orioles.

Two of the minor league players are believed to be catchers—Gus Triandos, who played at Kansas City last season, and Hal Smith of Columbus (Ohio).

Neither Turley nor Larsen had impressive won-lost records with the seventh-place Orioles. But Turley, 24, powered his fireball for a league-leading strikeout total of 184 and had an earned-run average of 3.46 while winning 14 and losing 15.

Larsen, 26, had a miserable record, winning only 3 of 24 decsions, but still was held in high regard by the league. One of his victories was a shutout against the second-place Yanks, who lost out in the pennant race for the first time since 1949.

The Yanks lost little in giving up Byrd, who finished with a so-so 9-7 record that fell far below the Yanks' expectations when they picked up the 30-year-old hurler along with Robinson in an 11-player deal with the Philadelphia Athletics last winter.

Woodling, 32, a Yankee for the past six years, was hobbled by injuries last season and batted only 250—his lowest mark in nine major league seasons.

Hunter, 26, has two major league seasons behind him with the St. Louis Browns, forerunners of the Orioles, as "a new Marty Marion." Not a hitter, he batted .244 last season. He has proved promising in the field and could be the Yanks' replacement for veteran Phil Rizzuto.

Amateur Golfing Champ Turns Pro

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1954 U. S. Amateur golf champion, Arnold Palmer, has turned pro.

He learned his golf from his father, current golf professional at the Latrobe, Pa., golf club, and hit his peak this year.

In addition to the 1954 amateur crown, Palmer won the All-American amateur title at Tam O'Shanter, the Atlantic Coast championship and the Ohio title.

Palmer, 25, was born in Youngstown, Pa. He served three years in the Coast Guard and was discharged last January.

Castellani Set For Ohio Match

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweights Rocky Castellani of Cleveland and Mooses Ward, 22, of Detroit, will battle in the co-feature bout of the toyshop fund boxing show here Dec. 1, matchmakers Ed Bang and Larry Atkins say.

The other 10-round main go, announced earlier, sends Roland LaStarza against Charley Norkus.

Castellani, who never has lost in Cleveland, will be making his first start since losing to Bobo Olson three months ago. Ward lost a split verdict to Bobby Jones in New York earlier this month.

Ohio State's Ground Game Seen As Key

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State's ground attack will be the key to Buckeye success Saturday against Michigan.

So says Coach Woody Hayes. "If we can get consistent yardage on the ground Saturday against Michigan we'll be OK," he says.

To that important end Hayes has put his charges through hard, long drills this week.

Unbeaten, untied Ohio State is wary of this final game. Three times in the past, Michigan has pinned the only defeat of the season on otherwise triumphant Buckeyes, in 1926, 1932 and 1933.

The game's importance will bring it under the scrutiny of squads of sportswriters, plus attention of a nationwide ABC television audience and about 82,000 fans in the Buckeye stadium.

The Big Ten championship and the trip to the Rose Bowl are at stake.

The Buckeyes are rated No. 1 in the nation this week; Michigan's Wolverines are rated No. 12.

The Wolverines, however, have a tradition of working best against Ohio State. Many times they've knocked the Bucks out of the conference title.

The showdown Saturday will bring the Big Ten statistical leaders together.

Ohio State has the best scoring average, 26.8 points a game, and leads in rushing with a 246. average. The Buckeyes have picked up 73.7 more on aerials for a total offense average of 320.

Michigan has allowed opponents the fewest yards, 221 per game, and the fewest points, 6.7, than any other Big Ten team. The Wolverines also have yielded an average of only 3.71 yards per play.

Collier's 'Star' '11' Is Revealed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A Collier's magazine naming the publication's all-America football team arrived here this week, apparently by mistake.

A mail subscriber received the Dec. 10 issue of Collier's at Memorial Hospital here.

The magazine's star team:

Ends — Max Boydston, Oklahoma; Don Holleder, Army.

Tackles — Jack Ellena, UCLA; Sid Fournet, LSU.

Guards—Jim Salisbury, UCLA; Bud Brooks, Arkansas.

Center—Kurt Burris, Oklahoma.

Quarterback — Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame.

Halfbacks—Dick Moegle, Rice; Howard Cassady, Ohio State.

Fullback—Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

Sensenbrenner Reviews Case Against Harmful Type Comics

Columbus May Lead Pattern For Big Cities

Capital's Mayor Has Asked Extra Curbs On Dime Thrillers

Urging extra curbs on the display and sale of the harmful type "comic books", Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner of Columbus reminded the lawmakers of that city that Head G-Man J. Edgar Hoover views the dime thrillers as a strong factor in the nation's juvenile delinquency problem.

This was learned Thursday when the chief executive of the state capital made available a complete copy of a statement he issued recently to Columbus city council. Only small portions of it heretofore have been published. The mayor has appealed for an ordinance which would supplement and tighten the state law already on the books against harmful "comics."

The drive for a special ordinance in Columbus was launched after The Herald, through a series of articles, drew public attention to the "comics" problem in Circleville. Sensenbrenner, a native of Circleville, praised the steps taken here and simultaneously disclosed he has long had a similar campaign in mind.

The Columbus mayor continues to press his drive against the harmful "comics" in that city, and the problem in Circleville meanwhile is said to be virtually under control. Both Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer and Police Chief Elmer Merriman have reported local magazine dealers are cooperating to keep the fake type of "comics" books out of this community.

IN VIEW of the vital importance of the subject, The Herald asked for a copy of the complete statement issued by the Columbus mayor to that city's council. The full statement follows:

Mr. President, and members of Columbus city council, I am appearing before you tonight not only as the mayor and chief executive of the city of Columbus, Ohio, but as the representative of more than 91,000 school children of this city. I am supported in this undertaking by many responsible Columbus organizations, by Columbus leaders of civic enterprises, by heads of great religious groups in our City, and finally by the thousands of parents who keenly feel their responsibility to bring up their children decently, honestly and with a background that will enable them to take their place in the ranks of future citizens of this great city and to add their contribution to its future welfare.

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase. I do not need to support this statement by the citation of dry statistics or naming innumerable writers who have dealt with this subject and newspapers and magazines for the past decade. I refer you to the chief law enforcement officer of this nation—J. Edgar Hoover.

He has stated on a number of occasions that one of the greatest problems that confronts the federal law enforcement agency is the tremendous increase and upsurge of juvenile delinquency, and he believes that a very substantial portion of the juvenile crime wave can be laid squarely on the doorstep of the comic magazine read by children and dealing with the most horrible, grotesque crimes the human mind can conceive of.

One more authority may be briefly mentioned—Dr. Frederick Werthman, who has made a detailed study of the effect of comic books. This might better be called "handy books of crime" on the minds of children, and the consequent crime inspired by such readings.

* * *

DR. WERTHMAN has just published a book, "Seduction of the Innocents," dealing with this subject, and, like J. Edgar Hoover, it is his firm belief that most juvenile offenders find the source of their criminal inspirations in the commonly known comic books, dealing largely with crime and criminals.

If additional support for my position is necessary, I can cite you to every judge in this community as well as the prosecutors, case workers, social workers, educators, ministers, rabbis and priests, and if we need to add to this list, let us not forget the leaders of various women's clubs as well as the Parent Teacher's organization.

Let us assume then that it is vitally necessary to take immediate steps to protect our school children from the comic book influence.

We must next consider how best to protect them. It has been suggested here by the members of this council group that present state legislation is sufficient and that the city of Columbus should not act in this particular field. I most vigorously deny both statements.

The present state statute is vague and indefinite and at most it is no more than a pious hope or wish when directed against those who sell comic books. It does not lay down any hard and fast test by which it may be definitely known when the law is being violated.

The best answer to those who urge that the state statute is sufficient is to point to the record. To my knowledge, there have been few successful prosecutions brought under this section of the General Code, either here or elsewhere.

* * *

THE SECOND objection urged is that this is not a matter of concern to the city of Columbus. May I point out that for more than a hundred years cities in this, and in many other states of the union, have felt that it is their concern to deal with matters that affect the health, the welfare and safety of their citizens, even though such matters have been dealt with in part or in whole by the State of Ohio.

To cite a common example, the State of Ohio has many sections of the General Code devoted to traffic and traffic enforcement provisions. That did not stop the city of Columbus under the powers granted it as a municipal corporation from passing a number of laws of its own that more particularly and more carefully dealt with the traffic problems and particularly such problems that specially concern the people of this city.

Not only is this a problem of local character, but reference to the General Code of the State of Ohio indicates that the State of Ohio wants the city of Columbus to deal with this particular problem. Let me read you a brief section of the General Code known as No. 715.54, entitled "Vicious Literature":

"Any municipal corporation may restrain and prohibit the distribution, sale, and exposure for sale, of books, papers, pictures, and periodicals or advertising matters of obscene or immoral nature."

It is quite obvious, after reading this section, that those who legislate for the State of Ohio thought the occasion might arise when a city might need the special authority to deal with this particular problem, and if ever that occasion did arise, it empowered them to act and to act forcefully.

In conclusion, I want you to understand that this is not a matter in which city council and your mayor are at odds. I feel that you are as deeply concerned with the plight of our school children as I am. I also feel that you will not prevent necessary legislation from either selfish or partisan motives.

I FEEL that this body which has helped to enact many laws which deal with the physical safety of the bodies of our school children are just as concerned as I am with protecting the moral safety of the same school children, and if there should be any among you who for reasons of his own feels he cannot or will not help us in getting immediate legislation to deal with this very serious and vital problem, let me say to that individual that you are not hurting me as your chief executive, nor are you injuring me in the performance and discharge of my ditues Instead, you are reaching over my shoulders and are harming the school children of this city

In the New Testament we are told that Christ said: "Suffer little children to come unto me," but He wanted them to come into His presence clean, unsullied and unspoiled. Won't you join with me in helping to carry out the divine injunction —won't you join with me in helping to carry out a plan and program that will protect the spiritual values of this community as well as its material property?

DRAMATIC "ICE BATH" surgery technique is shown underway in Washington, where physicians saved a 4-year-old girl from probable early death by closing a large hole in her heart. The operation was preceded by the ice bath, which lowered her body temperature 18 degrees below normal. Ten such operations have been performed in the capital's Children's hospital. The patient here is an 8-year-old boy. (International Soundphoto)

Benson Expects Farm Prices To Be Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Prospects of farm- in 1955, says Secretary of Agriculture Benson, are "very good" nd he expects prices to remain able at about present levels.

He also predicted last night "an expanding and prosperous agricultural economy" will accompany the growth of the nation's population in the future.

He said by 1970 the population ill have increased to 200 million nd this means "we will have to crease our total agricultural production by about one-fourth."

That means, he said, "We must btain this expanded production om roughly the same acreage in ultivation now. Some economists y the average farmer can increase his net income by 25 per ent. Some say 50 per cent. Some y more.

"But there's an if—if he uses all the new tools and techniques, the better breeds, better seeds, better feeds and better cultural practices now available."

Benson, speaking at the Illinois Agricultural Assn. convention, said he expects no changes in the "basic, fundamental" parts of the new agricultural act. However, he added, he figures there will be a "need for some refinements and modifications."

He said dairy prices will increase if the sales promotion program goes well, adding that progress is being made in reducing the oversupply of dairy products.

While Benson was saying he expects no change in the agricultural act yesterday, some Democratic leaders, who will control the next Congress, disagreed sharply.

New farm legislation, they indicated, would be among the major items to be considered.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who will be speaker of the House, declared he is for a return to 90 per cent of parity.

In the last Congress, controlled by the Republicans, a new law was passed creating a flexible program with federal price supports ranging between 82½ per cent and 90 of parity.

The vote in the last Congress, however, did not follow party lines. It generally was opposed by Farm Belt legislators, both Republicans and Democrats.

Some Senate Democrats are being quoted this week as saying they favor a trial period of at least one year of President Eisenhower's flexible program.

Noel, Herta Field 'Seem Well Off'

American Envoys Visit Couple Recently Freed From Red Jail

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—U. S. Minister Christian M. Ravndal and First Secretary Donald Downs visited Noel and Herta Field today. Both "seem to be well off," Ravndal reported.

The Hungarian government announced yesterday that the American couple had been freed after five years imprisonment. The announcement said spy charges against them had been dropped.

Ravndal said Noel Field is "apparently suffering from a stomach ailment and they both are going today to enter a Budapest hospital for examination and treatment."

The legation will supply them with some American magazines and periodicals.

Field's brother, Hermann, similarly has been in a sanitarium in Warsaw since his release by the Polish government late in October.

Hermann's British-born wife has announced in London she expects to join him soon in Switzerland.

* * *

THE AMERICAN minister refused to put newsmen in touch with Noel Field and his wife, saying the couple had asked specifically that they "be left in privacy" and that their address and telephone number not be given out.

The Hungarian Foreign Office, which earlier had said it would consider trying to arrange a news conference with the couple, joined in keeping the secret today.

"Our opinion is that American newsmen should get the address of this American couple from the American legation," a spokesman for the ministry said.

Ravndal said the couple appeared to be "awfully about their release. He would not say, however, what if anything they had told him about where they had been since their arrests in 1949 or how they were treated.

Noel Field, now 50 and a prewar employe of the U. S State Department, disappeared in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in May, 1949. His wife went to Prague in search of him and also disappeared. His brother Hermann, seeking his brother in East Europe later that summer, likewise was nabbed by the Communists.

A fourth member of the family, Noel's adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, disappeared in East Berlin in 1950. There has been no indication that she also might be released.

Following their arrest, Noel was cited at the treason trial of Hungarian Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk. The prosecution termed the American a major U. S. spy.

In the United States, meanwhile, admitted former Communists Whittaker Chambers and Hede Massing testified that Noel Field had once belonged to a Red group in Washington.

7 Sponsoring Powers Ready Revised Setup

U.S. Delegate To U.N. Ends 3 Days Of Talks With Soviet Spokesman

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and its six atomic partners awaited expected Soviet approval today for a rewvamped proposal designed to get President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program rolling.

The seven sponsoring powers planned to present their revised resolution to the U. N. Assembly's main Political Committee today. U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. described the new draft as a "solid resolution" taking into account changes suggested by Russia, India and other nations.

After a 90-minute huddle with his six cosponsors last night, Lodge predicted the new resolution to set up an international atomic agency would win unanimous support of the 60 U. N. members, including Russia.

The Western resolution was revised after three days of closed-door talks between Lodge and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky. A U. S. source said Vishinsky was informed last night of the changes made in the resolution and was given the chance to suggest any further alterations.

* * *

INFORMED SOURCES said the seven Western Powers were determined to push ahead with the resolution with or without Russia's immediate approval.

The general feeling was that, despite their apparent inflexibility on certain points, the Russians

New 'Suspect' Slaying Slated In Sheppard Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — The state's chief investigator in the Sheppard murder case said today a tip on a "suspect" would be checked out thoroughly" even though he had no faith in it.

Detective Inspector James E. McCarthur said today the murder defendant's brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, had offered police another tip on a possible suspect. He said the man would be investigated, but added he thought the tip was "just another red herring dragged across the trail."

McArthur is in charge of investigative work in the Sheppard case, and sits with the prosecution at Dr. Samuel Sheppard's trial.

The detective said the man involved is a 38-year-old former patient of Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

Meanwhile, at the trial, Coroner Samuel Gerber denied he ever said Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death because she was pregnant, admitted checking a rumor that her husband, accused of the slaying, was sterile.

"Did you ever assert that the murder was the result of the pregnancy of Marilyn Sheppard?" asked William J. Corrigan, chief defense counsel for the slain woman's husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath.

"I never did," replied Gerber. Corrigan then demanded whether Gerber had not intimated the bru- bedroom bludgeoning of July 4 was the result of the victim's fourth pregnancy.

"I never heard of it," the coroner answered.

The possibility of the defendant's being sterile was touched upon at the murder inquest last summer, but no evidence has been introduced to support the rumor.

Earlier, the coroner, on the stand for the third straight day in the nearly five-week-old trial, brought into court articles removed from Sheppard's home.

* * *

THEY INCLUDED a shotgun which Gerber said was taken from the house by Dr. Richard Sheppard, Sam's brother, and later turned over to authorities.

Other items in Gerber's collection were a piece of iron pipe the coroner said was from the defendant's sports car, a Jaguar; a riding crop, and a tire tool.

There also were two towels Gerber said showed "no blood," and a rust-stained dirty T-shirt found near the Sheppard home and likewise having no blood spots. The T-Shirt was picked up the day of the murder in a search by police for Sheppard's missing T-shirt witnesses said Sheppard wore on the night of the killing.

Corrigan blasted Gerber for failing to test carpeting in the Sheppard house for blood stains on the day of the slaying, and Gerber responded:

"I didn't see anything I thought was blood, but I didn't get on my hands and knees to go over the carpeting completely."

The defense counsel then asked if it wasn't a comparatively simple matter to expose stains in the dark by using a "luminal" spray.

The coroner said it was considerably more complicated than Corrigan made out, and in the interchange asserted:

"You're 100 per cent wrong. . . Luminal must be used with absolute care."

Knowland Again Calls For Split

Red 'Coexistence' Hit By GOP Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) renewed today his call for a diplomatic break with Russia, saying the action would impose a "moral sanction" against any further expansion of Communist influence.

He spoke out after a bipartisan conference of congressional leaders with President Eisenhower yesterday. The divergence of foreign policy views between the President and the party's Senate leader apparently went unmentioned at the conference.

Eisenhower has rejected a previous proposal by Knowland for a break in diplomatic relations with Moscow, declaring that a way of livin together in peace with the Russians must be found.

Knowland criticized talk of "peaceful coexistence" with Russia in the Senate Monday. There should be a searching congressional review of the nation's foreign and defense policy, he said, to determine whether it needs "a basic change."

* * *

SECRETARY of State Dulles subsequently said the free nations, largely under U. S. leadership, have strengthened themselves against Communist pressure, and that he knew of no emergency retary of Defense Wilson said the alternative to some form of peaceful coexistence is war.

As did Dulles, Knowland said the term "peaceful coexistence" is subject to a number of interpretations.

"But to me it means coexistence in a free and a peaceful world," he said. "It doesn't mean the kind of peaceful coexistence the Thanksgiving turkey has until the ax falls on his neck.

"We cannot be unconcerned with Communist expansion and permit them to build up to the point where there is an atomic stalemate in which we would be powerless to stop them."

Knowland said he believes there are several ways short of war in which the Soviets could be put on the defensive. A break in diplomatic relations, he said, would make the rest of the world sit up and take notice.

Dems' Legislative Program Seen Sure To Irritate Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are shaping up a legislative program almost certain to create friction with President Eisenhower in the new Congress.

As outlined yesterday by Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex), it includes, in the controversial area, new farm legislation, pay raises for federal employes and tax revision.

Rayburn, who is in line to become speaker of the House when Democrats take over Congress Jan. 5, and Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) discussed the program after informal huddles with other Democratic leaders here for yesterday's White House foreign policy meeting. McCormack is slated to be House majority leader.

The program currently does not involve foreign policy. In that field, Rayburn said, Democrats hope for a bipartisan approach and for cooperation. What they want, he said, is "a strong foreign policy and a strong national defense."

* * *

ONE OF THE first things the new Congress will consider, Rayburn said, is a general pay raise for all federal workers.

Just before adjournment last summer, Congress sent the President a bill to raise postal salaries, but the President declined to approve on the ground Congress did not provide money to pay the bill.

Rayburn said he is opposed to increasing first-class letter rates to 4 cents, as the administration asked to help offset any pay boosts. He did not rule out proposed hikes in other rates.

While some Senate Democrats have said they favor a trial period of at least a year for the new farm price support system, Rayburn asserted he is for "90 per cent parity." Parity is a legal standard for farm prices said to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

At the President's insistence, the recent Congress replaced the old rigid 90 per cent supports on basic crops with a new law providing for flexible scale ranging between 82. and 90 per cent of parity.

Congress will have to decide early in the year what to do about scheduled reductions in corporation and excise or sales taxes, but no other major tax legislation is likely during the first session of the new Congress. But a new tax law, aimed at removing what Rayburn called "inequities," is almost certain to be considered during 1956, a presidential and congressional election year.

Rayburn predicted that the House Ways and Means Committee will review the entire tax setup.

'Worst Pain' Tempered By Curious Drug

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The "worst pain in the world" is being stopped by curious new drug described today to the American College of Surgeons.

The pain comes from a nerve ailment in the face, tic douloureux, fairly common after 40. Attacks can last steadily for two to three weeks. Victims can't eat, or even shave. Some commit suicide from the agony. Many doctors agree with victims that it is the worst pain in the world.

Surgery cutting the face nerve has been the best remedy. But that causes loss of all sensation in one side of the face, sometimes leads to eye complications.

A fairly new drug, stilbamidine, seems to paralyze or somehow strike at the face nerve causing all the pain. And it apparently acts only on that nerve.

The clue that stilbamidine might be good came after it had been given to people suffering from internal fungus diseases. These patients after a time said their cheeks felt numb.

That gave Dr. George W. Smith, neurosurgeon of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and Dr. Joseph M. Miller, Veterans Administration Hospital, Fort Howard, Md., the idea of trying it against tic douloureux.

The drug has completely banished pain in 15 of the first 16 patients treated, Smith said. The first patient so far has been free of pain for 25 months. One of the 16 has had 80 per cent relief of pain, but he may have some other trouble besides the nerve.

Aid To Aged Benefits Due For Increase

AKRON (AP) — The $65-a-month maximum benefits for Ohio's aid to the aged may be increased $5, perhaps even $10 by the next Legislature.

And chances are good that the $200 limit on the aged's medical expense limit will be removed entirely.

A survey of the 169 members of the Ohio Legislature by the Akron Beacon Journal revealed that an overwhelming number favor giving the old folks a little more money to help meet expenses.

Of the 169 members polled, 58 per cent answered the survey. Fifty-two per cent favor granting a raise, 17.9 per cent are against it while 30.1 per cent gave no answer.

Fifty-four per cent of those who answered want to raise the $65 a month maximum to $75, and 17.5 per cent favor increasing it to $70.

Some want the maximum raised to $80, $85 and $100 a month. Many believe the monthly benefits should be geared to the cost of living.

A majority believes the medical benefits are inadequate in some cases. Many think that allowance should be based on need alone.

The Ohio General Assembly which meets in January will have sufficient funds to raise these benefits, according to Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor said in a number of campaign speeches he believes benefits should be increased. He pointed out that the state will have a surplus of better than $50 million at the end of the fiscal year.

Lausche is expected to recommend a $5 a month increase in his biennium budget message to the Legislature next year.

Joe's Injury Not Slowing Censure Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said today the McCarthy censure debate will continue at least temporarily despite the absence of Sen. McCarthy because of an injury.

Knowland said the possibility of a recess had not been ruled out, however, and that he was consulting other senators.

Knowland said he expected to have something definite to say about Senate plans later.

Advices from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where McCarthy was entered as a patient yesterday, were that the senator's injured elbow was improving but that he might be there several more days. Doctors said there was no fracture, but a painful bruise.

Knowland said the debate and possible voting would continue "only in the event it is agreeable to the various parties."

Knowland said he would consult with McCarthy and those aiding him in the Senate, spokesmen for the Watkins commitee which unanimously recommended censure, and the Democratic leaders.

Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said any decision about continuing or delaying Senate action was up to Knowland.

Knowland said he was sure that if McCarthy requested a delay in the proceedings, the Senate would grant it.

Lima Selects New Police Chief

LIMA (AP)—Donald F. Miller, 47, became police chief here today.

Mayor William L. Ferguson named Miller after the civil service board certified him as the No. 1 man in a promotional examination held Nov. 10.

Miller has been acting police chief here since the retirement Oct. 1 of Kermit L. Westbay.

A member of the police force for 20 years, Miller came up through the ranks. He has been an inspector for the last 11 years.

Strike Bombing Sentences Cut

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Second District Court of Appeals today reduced the sentences of eight men convicted in a series of bombings during a strike at the Columbus plant of North American Aviation Co. a year ago.

The sentences of from 4 to 67 years each were reduced to 1 to 20 years each. The action makes the men eligible for parole after the start of their sentences. They entered Ohio Penitentiary in mid-June after they were sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford. The eight defendants are Robert K. Weed, Elmo Bothman, Robert L. Stuller, Raymond Hoskinson, Robert White, all of Columbus, Bernard Angus of Reynoldsburg and Henry Woltz and Daniel Mason, both of Lancaster.

Akron Dairymen Vote Pricing Order

BOWLING GREEN (AP) — Dairymen in the Akron area are being asked to consider a proposed federal milk marketing order for the area.

The Agriculture Department is asking the producers for their views on the order, under which the department would set minimum prices which distributors would be required to pay producers. It would not set retail prices.

The marketing area would include most of Summit County plus Franklin, Ravenna, Brimfield and part of Suffield townships in Portage County. The order requires approval by two-thirds of the producers before it can be put into effect.

Honest Newsboy Receives Reward

CLEVELAND (AP)—Luckily, Mrs. Jessie Brown's traveling $214 fell into honest hands.

The money started its trip Tuesday while Mrs. Brown was waiting to pick up her five-year-old son, Ralph, at a kindergarten. As she cared for a younger child, 17-month-old Gregory, she laid her wallet down on a parked car.

When Ralph got out of school, she went home, not remembering about the wallet.

Early this morning, 13-year-old Larry Hoffman started out on his newspaper route and spotted the wallet on the front of the car.

The happy Mrs. Brown gave Larry $14 for his honesty.

Mild Temperature Range Reported

CHICAGO (AP)—Wet and cloudy weather prevailed over broad areas of the country today but fairly mild November temperatures were in prospect for most sections.

Light rain or drizzle fell in areas from the Appalachians eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Showers or light rain extended over parts of the middle Mississippi Valley and the northern Great Lakes region.

Skies were cloudy in the Pacific Northwest eastward across sections of the northern Rockies. Snow was reported at high elevations in Montana. A fall of six inches was reported at Mullen Pass.

Strip Mining Dispute Ignored

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday refused to review a dispute stemming from strip coal mining in Jefferson County.

T. Holly McKim, who leased land to the Jefferson Coal Co., complained that mining by products had ruined 25 acres of unmined land and some fencing.

The company's contention that McKim had no cause of action was sustained in common pleas and appellate courts.

81 Ohio Counties Get Note To Check On Burke's Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — Democratic leaders in 81 Ohio counties were asked today to notify Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) at once if they think a recount in their area might yield him more votes.

"One half vote per precinct is the difference," wrote Burke's campaign manager, Joseph P. Sullivan, in telegrams to county chairmen.

The telegrams were another move in Burke's effort to show that he lost the senatorial election to Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) on a bad count. Officially, Bender won by 6,041 votes.

Sullivan specifically excluded the other seven Ohio counties: Cuyahoga (Cleveland), Mahoning (Youngstown), Montgomery (Dayton), Hamilton (Cincinnati), Stark (Canton), Summit (Akron) and Trumbull (Warren).

This apparently meant that Burke is personally looking into those areas.

Burke's supporters last night said they would demand a recount in populous Mahoning County.

John A. Bannon, Burke campaign manager in the normally strong Democratic county, said he would demand a recount there, adding Burke's margin in Mahoning did not seem great enough.

In the official canvass of votes yesterday Burke received 48,564 votes to the 34,720 cast for his GOP opponent, Rep. George H. Bender in the race.

However, the official count gave Bender the victory by a slim 6,041 votes statewide.

Burke supporters since the Nov. 2 election have indicated they might seek a recount in Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati, and in other counties.

A recount of ballots cast in 497 precincts on Cincinnati's proportional representation issue will be watched by police officers at Burke's request.

The City Charter Committee asked for the partial recount of the votes under which the proportional representation system of electing city councilmen was thrown out.

Timothy Hogan, Burke's attorney, said Ohio law gives Burke the right to ask for a police officer to watch the PR recount in the event the Senator also seeks a recount.

Jackson County Retrial Ordered

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday unanimously reversed the manslaughter conviction of Donovan Sharp, 48-year-old Jackson Countian, and ordered a new trial.

Sharp was convicted of manslaughter after indictment for second degree murder in the shooting of Thomas R. Easley in 1952. He pleaded self-defense.

Sharp contended the trial court erred in overruling his motion for an order directing the prosecutor to make available a transcript of testimony before the coroner and other officials.

The high court agreed Sharp's counsel was entitled to examine the transcript, and that denial constituted prejudicial error.

Court To Study Tax Allocations

COLUMBUS (AP)—A dispute over tax allocations to Cuyahoga County libraries and municipalities was admitted for study yesterday by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Sixteen communities appealed from an Ohio Board of Tax Appeals' order hiking distribution of 1954 classified property taxes to libraries.

The county budget commission first allocated $5,614,500 to libraries and $585,500 to municipalities. Under the order they gave the libraries $5,964,500 and the rest to the communities.

Daughter Burned

MANILA (AP) — Police today arrested Servillano de Guzman, 40, after he poured kerosene over his daughter, Juana, 9, and set a match to it when she failed to collect a debt for him. Juana is in a hospital.

would finally agree to the resolution and might even consent to join the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, and South Africa in sponsoring it.

The main snag has been Russia's demand that the proposed agency be placed under the Security Council, in which the Soviets wield veto power.

The United States wants it to be a specialized agency with its own constitution, unhampered by the veto.

Observers expressed belief the revised draft would have the agency report to the Security Council but would be so phrased as to avoid placing it under the council's authority.

Vishinsky appeared moving toward agreement yesterday when he told the committee that the Russians "adhered to the framework of the draft resolution which contains a number of entirely acceptable provisions."

"I have a feeling," he said, "that both parties are making every effort to eliminate or compose the differences which exist."

Western delegates were heartened also by Russia's acceptance of a place on the advisory committee to arrange an international scientific conference on the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Ashville-Harrison PTA Sets Meeting

The Ashville-Harrison Parent-Teacher Association will hold its November meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

A business session during the gathering will be conducted by Mrs. Harvey Roby Jr. Included in the evening's entertainment will be the following:

An illustrated talk by Miss Nelle Oesterle on her Summer trip to Europe and the Holy Lands; a trumpet trio by Gene Cronenwett, Barbara Kuhlwein and Jean Lindsey, and a program of vocal music by the fourth grade, directed by Everett Mehrley of the school faculty.

Report Of Arrest Withheld By Chief

Floyd E. Younkin, 37, of Columbus, signed a waiver Wednesday for $26.50 following an accusation of speeding by State Patrolman M. C. Benson.

On orders from Circleville Police Chief Elmer Merriman, the arrest, which is listed in city police records, was held secret.

Artificial Breeders Guests At Banquet Wednesday Night

A banquet honoring artificial cattle breeders was held Wednesday evening with Larry Best, former county agent, as guest speaker.

The dinner was sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Pickaway County Dairy Service Unit. Attending were 4-H'ers, and their parents, who exhibited artificially conceived heifers at the 1954 County Fair.

Best told the group of 50 people of the importance of a good breeding and testing program. He compared the average cow in the county to what could be obtained through breeding to better sires.

He also explained how the keeping of records on each cow is beneficial.

* * *

A MOVIE, "Highlights of Ohio" was shown to the group. The entire affair was held at St Paul's Lutheran Parish Hall. Supper was served by the ladies of the church.

The committee in charge of the banquet included Harold Hines, of Walnut Township; R. C. Palm, of Circleville: and Alvin Recobs, of Ashville.

The local Dairy Service Unit sponsors the artificial breeding program and DHIA testing program in Pickaway County.

Window Frost Seen Hazard For Drivers

"Don't drive unless you can see where you are going."

This warning may sound foolish, "but many motorists forget that windshields get frosted over this time of year," Director U. C. Felty of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, said.

Motorists who leave their cars out overnight should be especially careful to see that windshields and windows are clean before driving to work, he said. The glare of oncoming lights in the early morning or the early morning sun can blind a motorist.

"Some motorists fail to take time out to clear ice, snow or frost off of their windshield," Felty said. "Instead they drive down the streets and highways, peering intently through small peepholes in their windshields, endangering everyone's lives — including their own."

The director also advised motorists to take a few minutes out and check defrosters, windshield wipers, brakes and tires "since it is very important that these things be in top condition at all times but particularly during bad weather months."

CIO Union Wins A-Plant Election

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A CIO union yesterday was granted the right to bargain for 1,170 production and maintenance employes operating the Pike County atomic energy plant.

The workers, in an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, agreed to affiliate with the CIO United Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers of America.

Of the 1,131 ballots cast, the CIO union received 689, while the AFL Pike County Atomic Trades Council received 227. About 215 votes were cast for no representation.

Federal Aid Asked In Ohio River Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department yesterday was asked to take "immediate and stern action' to stop report'ed shooting incidents in a union organizing job among Mississippi River and Ohio River barge workers.

The request was made by an AFL - CIO organizing committee. Charles Barranco Jr., coordinator of the union campaign, filed a complaint with Atty. Gen. Brownell. He charged civil rights violations and asked protection from "further violence"

His complaint charged the J. W. Banta Towing Co. of Plaquemine, La., with bringing armed "strikebreakers" from Louisiana to free groups of barges confined by union pickets at docks in Cairo, Ill., and Gallipolis, Ohio.

The complaint charged that one shooting took place Nov. 13 at Gallipolis. It said Sheriff George Ehman of Gallia County broke up union picket lines at Gallipolis and escorted a crew of "strikebreakers" aboard tugboats who took the vessels downstream.

Barred from picketing ashore at Gallipolis, Barranco said pickets moved into a motorboat in midstream where he claimed they were attacked by a barrage of rifle and submachinegun fire from the river bank.

Ralston Purina Co. Wins Damage Suit

Cowboy Kenneth Hoober Wednesday lost a $5250 damage suit he brought against Jackson Grey Storey, a Cincinnati artist, and the Ralston Purina Co.

He claimed that the artist and the cereal firm, without his permission, sold photograph copies of the painting entitled "The Cowman's Faith," for commercial gain by Ralston.

Common Pleas Judge Carson Hoy in Cincinnati said Hoober consented to pose with his horse for the pictures from the painting "because he was not only willing but eager that a painting made from them should be published on the cover of a magazine."

The judge added: "He cannot now complain that the sale of such painting to others is an unwarranted intrusion into his privacy."

Ike Issues Thanksgiving Proclamation

Tradition Says 'Our Hearts Require We Bow In Reverence'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the text of President Eisenhower's proclamation for Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, calling on all citizens to observe the day with prayer.

Early in our history the Pilgrim Fathers inaugurated the custom of dedicating one day at harvest time to rendering thanks to Almighty God for the bounties of the soil and for His mercies throughout the tradition suggests and our hearts require that we follow that hallowed custom and bow in reverent thanks for the blessings bestowed upon us individually and as a nation.

We are grateful that our beloved country, settled by these forebearers in their quest for religious freedom, remains free and strong, and that each of us can worship God in his own way, according to the dictats of his conscience.

We are grateful for the innumerable daily manifestations of Divine goodness in affairs both public and private, for equal opportunities for all to labor and to serve, and for the continuance of those homely joys and satisfactions which enrich our lives.

With gratitude in our hearts for all our blessings, may we be ever mindful of the obligations inherent in our strength, and may we rededicate ourselves to unselfish striving for the common betterment of mankind.

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1951, designating the fourth Thursday of November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 25, 1954, as a day of thanksgiving, and I call upon all our citizens to observe the day with prayer. Let us demonstrate in our lives our humble thanks to God for His beneficence in the year which is past, and let us ask His guidance in the year to come.

Navy To Define Marines' Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps' relationship to the Navy is to be defined in an order now being prepared in the Navy department.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr. so said in letters to Congress members who had expressed concern over published reports that admirals are trying to gain more control over the Marines. Gates said the final draft of the new order has not been completed.

Gates sent Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) and Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) copies of a policy memorandum issued last April by then Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson. That document termed the Marine Corps a "not separate service."

Hal Boyle Says:

Bullet Scar Has Memories

BRUSSELS (AP)—The scar of a German Gestapo agents bullet still can be seen in the neat green doorway of Mme. Josef Duchene.

Every time she goes through the door the mark reminds Mme. Duchene, an Irish-born widow of 85 who has become a symbol of Belgian civilian courage, of the terrible price she paid for sheltering two fugitive British soldiers during the last war.

After the collapse of the Allied lines, two young Scottish soldiers, John McCubbin and Bobby Conville, leaped from a Nazi prisoner train near here and escaped.

"The woman who hid them became frightened," recalled Mme. Duchene. "I couldn't let the Germans take those boys again, so I said they could hide with us. We had a bed but no mattress, so my daughter, Florrie and I ripped open our sofa pillows and made them a mattress, so the poor lads would sleep easier.

"That Bobby—he was such a good little boy Always laughing. My daughter ran a millinery shop, and Bobby used to help her make hats."

The two British soldiers hid in the Duchene home at night for 14 months, sometimes moving to other places during the day.

One day, while Bobby was out, three Gestapo agents knocked at the door. They searched the house and found McCubbin, shot and wounded him when he tried to escape.

"I told Florrie to run out the back, that it made no difference if the Germans took me as I wouldn't live long anyway," said Mme. Duchene. "But she would not leave me."

Mother and daughter were put in solitary confinement in prison here. Neither would give any information to their captors. After 9 months, Mme. Duchene was released.

"But they took Florrie to Ravensbruck, that awful place," she said, "and later to Belsen, the most terrible of all.

"When she fell ill, they took her away from the other prisoners one day. I have asked and asked what happened to her after that, and no one will tell me.

"She was so good and nice . . . so kind to everybody."

Bobby Conville was smuggled back to Britain by the Belgian underground. John McCubbin, despite a bullet in his back, survived his wartime stay in a German prison camp.

Both men got in touch with Mme. Duchene as soon as they could to thank her. Three grateful governments—Belgium, Britain, and the United States—have honored the gallant old widow with citations and medals for her valor.

She looked quietly at the paint-covered bullet scar on her door.

"People used to come often to look at the bullet hole," said Mme. Duchene, a sweet-faced, white-haired old lady with apple pink cheeks, who wears a black ribbon at her throat. "But no one has come now for a long time."

"Time passes," she said. The door closed, leaving the old lady alone with her medals and her memories.

Airplane Parker Clipped By Prop

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An "airplane parker" at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here was clipped on the chin by a propeller last night—and she lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fennell, however, won't be talking about her escape for a few days. Base officials said it was a miracle she lived.

The 29-year-old flight line employe lost a tooth and had 13 stitches taken in the lower part of her face. She was treated at the base hospital and sent home.

She had guided a twin-engine C45 into parking position and was placing blocks in front of the plane's wheels when the propeller hit her.

1,500 Attend Rites For Snite

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 1,500 persons filled St Luke's Roman Catholic Church in suburban River Forest yesterday for the funeral of Fred B Snite Jr., 44, who spent 18½ years in iron lungs. Snite, known as the "Smiling Boiler Kid," was stricken with polio in China in 1936 He died in Florida last Friday.

The Rev John J. Cavanaugh, former president of the University of Notre Dame, where Snite attended school, gave the funeral sermon. Snite's body was garbed in cape of a knight of the Holy Sepulchre, a vestment that went with the honor given him two years ago by Pope Pius XII.

Dime Collection Buys New Auto

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Four years ago, Louis S. Farias, his wife and their four children began dropping dimes into a box. Some nickels and dollar bills were also added.

Yesterday the hoard had reached $1,403.20. They took it to an automobile dealer and ordered a new car.

With the old family car, it was enough for a 1955 model. The old car, by the way, was purchased the same way.

Farias is a longshoreman and part-time bartender.

Paul Faidley, Clay Center, Kansas, $600 first prize winner in national arc welding competition and two of his eleven projects: welded saw horses made from channel and a truck dump bed. He's vice president and treasurer of his FFA chapter.

New Hunt Urged For Missing Girls

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP)—Raleigh County Sheriff John C. Ward called for volunteers today to resume a search for Irene Agee, 8, and her sister Mary, 6, who have been missing since shortly after school Nov. 1.

Since that time the section around the mountain community of Egeria has been searched almost daily.

Ward said he and state police officers would lead any volunteers from Twin Bridges, six miles away, toward Egeria in the remote hope that the girls may have strayed even beyond the territory already examined.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss, the ex-diplomat whose name has been used as a synonym for treason, must have thought many times as the years slid past his prison cell:

"What's in store for me? Will I be questioned again? Will I be in the headlines again? And perhaps, for something else I say or deny, will I wind up in jail again?"

He may not have to wait long for the answer. Yesterday two congressional groups—the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security subcommittee—said they're thinking of calling him after he gets out of jail Nov. 27.

Hiss' career crashed to a halt when Whittaker Chambers, confessed onetime courier for a Soviet spy ring, told of secret papers he said Hiss gave him.

For denying Chambers' charges, Hiss was convicted of perjury in 1950 and started serving his five-year sentence March 22, 1951. The verdict in effect banded him a liar and traitor. He is getting out after serving 3½ years. The law provides time off for good behavior.

Hiss, a lawyer, will probably never be permitted to practice again. He's been disbarred in New York and before the Supreme Court. He has lost his citizenship rights. He can't get a passport to leave the country.

His lawyer, Chester Lane, of New York, says Hiss will try to vindicate himself.

The most Hiss could have hoped for was that he might not again have to face congressional committees or federal grand juries unless he could vindicate himself convincingly.

But there has been a fundamental change in the law—which the government may now want to use for further investigation of Hiss—since he went to jail. This year Congress passed the immunity law as a weapon against subversion.

It lets the government—Congress and federal and grand juries—grant immunity to a witness to force testimony against others.

At the time Hiss was jailed jurie or committees investigating spying before, during or after the war could be blocked right and left by witnesses who refused to testify and escaped punishment by saying:

"I refuse to testify under the Fifth Amendment, which says a man can't be compelled to give testimony which might incriminate him."

Now if committees, or grand juries working with the Justice Department, want to investigate spying, they can single out one individual, perhaps a minor suspect in a spy ring, and tell him:

"We want you to tell us about this spy ring. We'll grant you immunity to punishment for anything you did. We want to use your testimony against the big shots."

A witness who refused to talk after being offered immunity could be cited for contempt and, if convicted, jailed. Before the immunity law, if he refused to answer questions under the Fifth Amendment, he couldn't be jailed for contempt.

Hiss neither refused to answer questions nor pleaded the Fifth Amendment, he couldn't be jailed for contempt.

Hiss neither refused to answer questions nor pleaded the Fifth Amendment. He denied he gave secret papers to Chambers and was convicted of lying. But the government was never able to prosecute him for spying.

Chambers said Hiss gave him the papers before the war, which was peacetime. Unless a man is tried for peacetime spying within a limited time after the offense, he can't be tried for it at all. Hiss wasn't brought to trial until five years after the war. The charge was perjury, not spying.

But there is no time limit on when a man can be tried for espionage committed in wartime. Chambers' part in the spy ring ended before the war. Hiss continued in the State Department through the war. He did not leave until 1947.

With the help of the new immunity law Congress or grand juries could reopen investigations of peacetime and wartime spying. If they do, they may want to question Hiss or grant immunity to others to learn more about him. The penalty for wartime spying is death.

If through the immunity law the government got evidence which Hiss denied under oath, although wartime spying was not involved, he might find himself confronted with a brand new perjury charge.

Trio Robs Pair Of Dairy Stores

AKRON (AP)—Two Lawson Dairy Co. stores were robbed last night by three gunmen who forced clerks and customers to lie on the floor while they rifled cash registers.

About $50 was taken from the Akron dairy, and an undetermined amount from the store in Barberton. A clerk at the Akron store described the robbers as men in their early twenties and said they entered a blue sedan driven by a fourth man.

Firemen Duck As Bullets Fly

NILES (AP)—Firemen, battling a blaze yesterday in the home of Charles Foster, suddenly started ducking and scrambling for cover.

The flames had heated up a loaded .38 revolver and several loose cartridges in a drawer. Slugs started spewing in all directons. Damage from the fire, caused by a defective chimney, was estimated at $2,200.

Training Urged

Bohlen Recalled For Consultation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. ambassador to Russia, is coming home for talks with top officials next week, presumably to discuss Russia's "coexistence" campaign.

"He is returning solely for consultation," said press officer Henry Suydam. "He will go back to his post at Moscow, after being here possibly a week or 10 days or two weeks."

Pistol-Packin' Kids Given Warnings

CLEVELAND (AP)—Kids packing toy pistols near the Wolverine Express Terminal, had better look out for James F. Nolan.

Nolan, the terminal's manager, said children had broken into a truck cargo and made off with 200 "Lone Ranger" pistols.

About 100 of the guns have been recovered, including those cached in a nearby hill, Nolan said. He added:

"You don't have to outdraw them. Just look at them."

Dutch Set Fund For Rheumatics

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A National Netherlands Rheumatism Fund, supported by the government and industry, has been created for use in preventing and treating rheumatism. One out of five Dutchmen in this country of canals and sea arms suffers from some form of the disease.

California Area Shaken By Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A short, sharp earthquake jolted Southern California points yesterday.

The shock was felt in Pasadena, Glendale, Burbank, Van Nuys, Hollywood, Compton, and Los Angeles. It swayed buildings in Santa Barbara and light fixtures in Ventura. No damage was reported.

Public Utilities Facing New Rate Law In Legislature

AKRON (AP)—Public utilities will have a rough time trying to stop the Ohio Legislature from changing the 100-year-old formula for setting rates.

Legislators appear determined to scrap the present formula for a new one, according to a survey by the Akron Beacon Journal.

Of the 169 members in the Assembly, 58 per cent answered the questionnaire. Of these, 55.2 per cent want a new formula at once. Only 17.2 per cent say the present one is good enough, and 27.8 per cent are undecided.

More senators are for a new formula than are members of the House of Representatives. In the Senate, 65 per cent favor a new method, 23.6 per cent are against it and 11.4 per cent are undecided.

In the House, 51.4 per cent want a new formula, 15.7 per cent want to keep the present one and 32.9 per cent are undecided.

* * *

TWO YEARS ago, a similar survey showed a majority of the legislators wanted to keep the present formula. This was substantiated later when the 100th General Assembly refused to approve a new rate making method.

What, then, brought about the change in attitude? According to the Assembly members, several utilities, particularly telephone companies, were "asking higher rates too often."

Some members say they have "absolutely no faith in the present Ohio Public Utilities Commission."

The present formula provides that rates be set on the basis of reproduction cost new less depreciation. The law says a utility is entitled to a rate based on the cost of reproducing the plant and equipment.

According to those who want the formula changed, public utilities don't apply for rate increases in depression times so the declining values have no opportunity to affect their rates adversely.

Legislators say the law should be flexible enough to adjust itself to changes in the state's economy. Some say rates should be set on the company's original cost of building its plant, less depreciation.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has urged the Legislature to change the formula. In his bid for reelection, Lausche time and again hit at the utilities and promised voters he would do everything possible to support a change in the rate law.

Efforts to change the law have been made since 1953. Each time, however, the utilities' powerful lobby has been able to stop the attempt.

Elusive Turkey Baffles Hunters

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP) — A white hen turkey that believes in celebrating Thanksgiving alive has eluded a small army of searchers, including the dogcatcher, for the last four days.

The 10-pound turkey escaped from Mrs Cla Cunningham and took to the hills.

It's been seen frequently, turkey-trotting across the hills. But never when a hunter approaches. Both Mrs. Cunningham, footsore from searching, and baffled dogcatcher Burt Casteel testify to this. But no sooner have the hunters given up than the turkey is reported seen again.

PROGRESS IN PRINTING

CIVILIZATION without printing would be a drab existence indeed, and business as it is conducted today would be grievously handicapped if it were compelled to function without the assistance of Franklin's art. Of course Benjamin Franklin did not invent printing, but he was the first American printer to become famous, and he was the leading printer of his time.

Franklin was a good printer, too, although he had so many other interests that he didn't put in much time at his original occupation after the age of 40.

There has been rapid technological progress in the printing art in the last decade or two, but more revolutionary innovations are promised or threatened, depending on the viewpoint. Presses are faster and more accurate and much drudgery has been eliminated from the composition of all varieties of printing, from newspapers to the smallest commercial printing creation.

There have been many improvements in the mechanical processes of printing newspapers in recent years. Better presses have made possible four-color printing, improvement in reproduction of pictures has been almost continuous, and automatic typesetting from tape has supplemented keyboard operator type production in many composing rooms.

But widespread predictions are heard that accomplishments of the past in effecting labor-saving methods in producing newspapers will be greatly eclipsed in the factory that turns out the newspaper of the future. These are based largely on an entirely new typesetting machine which is already in use in a few plants. Strictly speaking, this machine does not "set" type at all in the accepted sense. What it does, roughly, is to make a photographic image of each letter, then a metal cast of the completed line.

Franklin would be truly amazed by the progress made in his art, as well as by the size and content of today's newspapers.

Dave Beck proclaims he is still boss of the Teamsters. And he seems to have quite an effective whip to enforce his "Giddap" and his "Whoa."

When the claim is made football is being overemphasized, efforts should be made to ascertain whether the charge comes from a school whose team was defeated 60-0.

One publicist says highly intelligent men from other planets will reach the earth soon. And high time.

Some dopesters predict political parties will be split wider than ever in the future. That would not be a split—it would be hara-kari.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

During World War II, I called attention on several occasions to the astonishing material issued by the Army under its Information and Education Program, which failed to stress patriotism, loyalty to country, traditional American ideals but went into the business of making Soviet Russia increasingly popular among our troops.

It is because of the curious twist of this indoctrination activity that I carefully read the contents of a pamphlet entitled "20th Century Minutemen, a Report to the President on a Reserve Forces Training Program."

This document was issued by the National Security Training Commission of which General Julius Ochs Adler is Chairman. Everything in this report goes along swimmingly as long as I read about miliary activities but when I reached the nonmilitary activities, I came across the old I & E Program which continues to puzzle me. According to this, the Army is to function under four precepts:

". . .(1) The dignity of the individual as a basic concept of democracy; (2) democracy's respect for the truth as contrasted with communism; (3) the sovereignty of the people, rule by the will of the majority rather than the edict of a few; and (4) spiritual values basic to a democratic philosophy."

This looks very good, but what does it mean? What precisely does the use of the word, democracy, mean in this context? Why cannot these precepts deal with the United States, which is a definable entity, instead of with democracy, which no one can define? I should like whoever wrote this report to explain what "democracy's respect for the truth" means and how that respect is to be implemented. By truth does the author mean the Natural Law as defined by Thomas Aquinas or pragmatism as defined by John Dewey?

The next paragraph in the pamphlet is still more interesting. It says:

"The Chaplain's Corps will conduct the lectures on marriage and family life, religion, and moral principles, and other instructors will give the lectures on democratic responsibility, government, and sex education. They will not be 'indoctrination.' They are to present the principles which are generally accepted by the great majority of the people, without personal embellishments."

What is meant by "democratic responsibility"? In the United States, we enjoy the benefits of government by law. The citizen is responsible for his conduct under the law. If he commits treason and is caught, he goes the way of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, or if he is not caught in time, he may go the way of Alger Hiss. Nowhere in our laws is the citizen bound by such a concept as "democratic responsibility."

In the mores of our people, a man is bound by moral obligations, which apparently is for the Chaplains to talk about. There used to be a term, civic duties, which dealt with the nature of citizenship. But I cannot fathom what is meant by "democratic responsibility."

So I go to the next paragraph which expands the subject:

"For example, the lecture on democratic responsibility will emphasize the role each individual plays in the preservation of peace and the ideals of the United States. . ."

Planning a Kitchen For Cardiac Patients

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHILE heart disease is more prevalent in men, women are frequent victims as well.

It is important that they also follow most of the recommendations I have laid out for heart patients in the three previous columns devoted to this topic.

Helping the Housewife

In addition, there is much that can be done around the home, particularly in the kitchen, to make their lives easier.

For the last few years, Chicago's Women's and Children's Hospital has maintained a "cardiac kitchen," designed to alleviate kitchen work as much as possible for the heart disease victim. Tours of the kitchen can be arranged for large groups by telephoning the hospital administrator for an appointment.

Your kitchen can be made to help you, too.

For example, shelves should be no higher than six and one-half feet from the floor. Unless you're a real "shorty," you shouldn't have to do much stretching to reach that.

Convenient Arrangement

Items most frequently used should be lined along the front edge of the shelf so you don't have to stand on tiptoe to get them.

Dishes and other eating and cooking utensils should be located near the center of the kitchen, or wherever you do the most work.

I would advise you to place a long-legged posture chair in front of the sink, so you can sit while preparing food or washing dishes. A highchair with the tray and arms removed would do almost as well.

I think a rocking chair might come in handy, also. It would permit you to relax while planning your work.

If your husband doesn't help dry the dishes, don't worry. This is one job you can avoid completely. Just rinse the dishes with boiling water and let them drain dry. Believe me, it's more sanitary than drying them with a dish towel.

The smaller the kitchen, the better for a heart patient. An ideal working radius is about 20 inches.

Top Oven Advisable

The right kitchen equipment can also be a big help. A top oven (they're becoming popular again, you know) will eliminate stooping. And refrigerators come with both left- and right-hand doors. One might save you more work than the other in your kitchen.

Tomorrow, I'll tell you how what you prepare in the kitchen may help you live happily with heart disease.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. C.: I have been advised that the pores of the skin cannot absorb anything. Is this true? Would hormones be absorbed through the skin?

Answer: There are various substances which may be absorbed through the skin, particularly substances dissolved in fatty preparations. Hormones can be absorbed through the skin. It is therefore advisable that such preparations be used only under the direction of your doctor.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

FOOTSTEPS sounded on the porch, and the door opened. Behind me Eileen gasped, "Papa!"

When I looked up, she was in the embrace of Jake Fortune.

I stared at him stupidly. His heavy red face beneath the cream-colored hat held a sober and serious look as he gazed at Earl Seltzman on the floor. Then his gray eyes, wide-spaced, like his daughter's, met mine over her shoulder, and silently asked a question.

"Papa, papa," Eileen sobbed, and he held her close.

"I had to hit him," I said. "He pulled a gun on me, and he was jittery and ready to shoot. Thanks for slamming your car door. It gave me a chance to jump him." I stood up wearily.

Jake Fortune frowned. "Earl pulled a gun on you? Why?"

"Papa," Eileen sobbed. He patted her shoulder.

"You may as well know," I said. "He shot Ralph Hollis—on purpose—and he killed Rex Bishop, because the old man caught him shooting at me."

His frown deepened. "But I thought that Judy—"

"She's out of it," I said, and I looked around for the telephone. "I've got to get the sheriff out here."

Eileen left her father's arms and knelt beside Earl Seltzman. Her fingers caressed his thin, slack face as she murmured, "It's all right, darling, don't you worry."

Jake Fortune gazed at me bleakly. "So Earl really tried to kill Ralph?"

"I'll tell you about it later. Where's the phone?"

"In the kitchen." He shook his head and swore softly.

"Watch him," I said.

He nodded.

The phone was on a shelf above the kitchen sink. I asked for Sheriff John Morissy and got him almost immediately.

"This is Jim Bennett."

"Yes," he said quietly.

"Haven't you gone to bed yet?"

"I'm in bed now. The phone's right beside me."

"End of the hunt," I said. "It was Earl Seltzman. You can forget about going to Cleveland. Earl will have a rifle some place, and it'll match the bullet I dug out of the tree, and the bullet in Rex Bishop. I've got Earl out here at Jake Fortune's place."

The line was dead for a moment, and then I heard him sigh. "I see," he said in his grave, quiet voice. "I'll be right out."

"Thanks." I hung up and looked at the gun I'd taken from Earl Seltzman. It was a .25 caliber Colt. The clip was full, with a cartridge in the firing chamber. I put it in my overcoat pocket, along with my own .38, and went back to the living room.

Seltzman was sitting in a chair, leaning forward with his forehead in a palm. There was a bluish spot on the side of his jaw, and it appeared to be swelling. I rubbed my knuckles reflectively. Eileen was standing beside him, a hand on his shoulder, a maternal, tender look on her face. Jake Fortune hadn't moved from his spot by the door. He said, "It's cold in here. I'd better go down and stir up the fire." As he moved across the room, he said to his daughter, "Eileen, make us some coffee." He went out through the kitchen, and I heard him going down some steps. Eileen left Seltzman's side and moved into the kitchen. She didn't look at me.

"Earl," I asked, "where's the rifle?"

He didn't answer.

"The rifle, Earl."

"I don't have a rifle," he muttered.

"You may as well tell me," I said. "We'll find it anyhow, and you'll save the sheriff a lot of trouble. Just tell him the whole thing, Earl. It'll be easier that way—for you, for everybody."

"You can't arrest me," he said sullenly.

"Yes, we can."

"I want a lawyer," he said.

"All right."

"I'll talk to him," he said, "and nobody else. Franklin Hoffman, in Cleveland."

"The sheriff will get him for you. I'm sorry I had to hit you again, but you shouldn't have pulled a gun on me."

He took a deep breath. "I—I didn't know what I was doing. Between the two of you, Eileen and you, I—I lost my head, I guess. I didn't intend to shoot you. I just wanted to scare you, to keep you away from me. I wanted time to think about what you said, and what Eileen said, and—oh. . . ." He began to sob, a dry, rasping sound.

Dimly below me I could hear Jake Fortune shaking the ashes out of the furnace. Eileen was making domestic sounds in the kitchen. Presently I smelled coffee brewing, and Eileen came into the room. She went past me, paused long enough to rest a hand gently on Seltzman's head, and then went up the stairway. Seltzman, quiet now, took off his glasses and began to wipe them with a handkerchief. His thin face looked naked and pinched, rodent-like, and he avoided my gaze. I heard Jake Fortune come up the basement steps, and his voice came from the kitchen, "Coffee's ready."

"In a minute," I said.

I heard a car stop outside, and I got up and opened the door for the sheriff. His grave eyes glanced at Earl, and then at me directly, "I'm taking your word for this."

"I'll be responsible," I said, handing him Seltzman's little automatic. "Assault with intent to kill. That's enough to book him. I'll be down later. He wants his lawyer—a man named Franklin Hoffman in Cleveland."

Morissy nodded and spoke gently to Seltzman, "Come on, Earl."

"Can you handle him alone?" I asked.

"He won't cause any trouble. I've known Earl all my life."

From the kitchen Jake Fortune said quietly, "Hello, John."

The sheriff nodded, tight-lipped, said, "How are you, Jake?" and laid a hand gently on Seltzman's shoulder.

Earl got slowly to his feet, picked up his heavy red coat from the chair, and moved to the door, not looking at any of us. The sheriff said, "Better put on your coat, Earl. It's cold out."

Obediently Seltzman hunched into the coat. Morissy opened the door. Eileen Fortune came down the stairs. She was wearing the bluish tweed suit with the frilly white blouse, and was carrying a coat over her arm. She had applied lipstick to her small, thin lipped mouth, her blond hair was smoothly combed, and she looked quite attractive, in spite of the red puffiness of her eyes. She said to Morissy, "I want to go with him."

"All right, Eileen," he said gravely, "if you like."

Seltzman stood woodenly, his head down.

I said to the sheriff, "His car's around in back."

"I'll send somebody for it." The three of them went out, Eileen and Earl first, the sheriff following. I closed the door and went into the kitchen.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — New Deal-Fair Deal critics of the proposed Dixon - Yates TVA - AEC deal charge that it will cost up to $75 million more than if the government built the new power plant in the Tennessee Valley.

It probably will, although the precise total is in dispute. But the differential will result from the fact that the private companies must pay state and federal taxes, and from the further fact that, even though it will increase the public debt and the general taxation burden, Uncle Sam can still borrow money at a lower rate than private interests.

* * *

F.D.R.'s DAY—But the perturbed public power apostles have not always been so keen on economy, if throwing money away would enable them to expand Washington's control in this field or advance their ideological interests.

The very men — Oscar Chapman, former secretary of the interior, and Leland Olds, former chairman of the Federal Power Commission—who now blast the Eisenhower power program sponsored several movements that would have been far more costly than the proposed TVA - AEC transaction.

The official who masterminded this now forgotten "giveaway" scheme was F.D.R.'s top power adviser and strategist, the late Harold L. Ickes. The man who carried out the field operations in this questionable and expensive enterprise was a mysterious individual generally unknown to the public—Guy C. Myers, known in the promotion world as "Flash."

* * *

PROFITABLE—Myers was a smart operator. He saw a chance to make a quick pile by persuading private utility firms to sell their facilities to states or to public power organizations eager for experimentation.

Myers convinced them that there would be profits in the scheme for them and for himself. When he failed to sell the idea to the buyers and sellers, Ickes brought pressure from Washington to swing them into line.

Here is how it worked in Nebraska, the home state of the late Sen. George W. Norris, known as the "Father of TVA":

With a blessing and credentials furnished by Ickes, Myers offered to buy out the private utilities in Nebraska, and then to sell them to the state. Although the Federal Power Commission had appraised the properties at only $32 million, Myers' sellout figure was $45 million, meaning a $13 million profit for the private owners and their financiers.

* * *

TAX-FREE — Myers' commission was $530,000. The bonds sold quickly because they became tax-free as soon as the state became the proprietor. What Myers did, in fact, was to capitalize on the tax-exemption status of the new securities. The bankers got a fine commission for handling the transaction. Their profit was estimated at $2 million. Nebraska power consumers are the only losers.

Thus, Nebraska and the federal government lost taxes which went straight into the pockets of Myers, the bankers and purchasers of the state public power securities. Incidentally, when the private utility owners at first showed some hesitancy in selling to the state, Ickes engaged in a bit of political blackmail.

The "Old Curmudgeon" announced that he was thinking of advancing PWA funds to local public power systems in Nebraska so that they could "compete" with the private utilities in the generation and transmission of hydroelectricity.

* * *

FAILED — Myers almost put over the same scheme in the state of Washington, with Ickes, Chapman, Olds and other New Dealers abetting him. He offered to buy out three private utility systems for $135 million although their appraised value was only $95 million.

The deal would have been consummated, if it had not been for former Rep. Lyle Boren of Oklahoma, chairman of a House committee that had investigated the Myers-Ickes operations. On the very day that Myers and private utility officials in Washington were about to sign a contract of sale, Boren said on the House floor:

"The stakes here are high! This bonanza is bigger than Credit Mobilizer and the Whiskey Ring! It dwarfs Teapot Dome!"

This is the same language that the anti-Eisenhower faction are USING TODAY!

No sooner had he turned away from the paying teller's window, however, than his path was blocked by the formidable figure of Native Son Kay Kyser, the popular band leader, who retired while he was about three million ahead.

"I'm bound for lunch," announced Kay. "How's for coming with me?"

"Love to," agreed the professor. Then, glancing down at the seven crisp five-dollar bills in his hand, he added nastily. "I'll join you as soon as I've made this deposit."

George Jessel admits he never had the honor of meeting Winston Churchill. But I'll tell you how close I came to it," he adds. "I once had dinner at Number 9 Downing Street!"

Fall Court Of Awards Held By Girl Scout Association

Senior Troop 5 Has Investiture

Girl Scout Troop 5 was invested as a Senior Scout Troop during the Fall Court of Awards of Circleville and Pickaway County Girl Scouts. The event was held Wednesday evening in Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Mrs. John Downs, troop leader, led the girls in a brief ceremony and renewal of their promise before presenting them with their Senior Scout pins.

Members of the troop are: Carolyn Bell Jane Davis, Patty McAbee, Bonnalee Meadows, Dianne Schelb and Elaine Woodward.

A flag ceremony which opened the session was presented by Troop 23, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Marion and Mrs. Ruth Thompson.

Troop 23 is the newest Intermediate Girl Scout Troop in Circleville. The girls had received their Girl Scout pins and Brownie wings in a fly-up ceremony held during a regular troop meeting. The mothers of the girls were guests for this event.

Members of the troop are: Nancy Curl, Sandra Davis, Ethyl Fullen, Michele Funk, Stephanie Hedges, Stephanie Marion, Belinda Plum, Martha Ann Samuel, Elaine Schelb, Brenda Smith, Nancy Thompson, Mary Thomas, JoAnn Valentine Jacque Wilson, Carol Wuest, Mona Davis, Janet Greist and Karen O'Donnel.

Mrs. Carie Snider, program chairman of the Girl Scout Association, gave the welcoming address to the Scouts, parents and friends. An honored visitor at the program was Mrs Bernard Young, former Girl Scout Commissioner.

Mrs. Snider stated that the badges which were to be presented to the girls were a sign of proficiency and proclaimed the ability of the wearer to assist others in a given field

She urged the scouts to remember that the badges are symbols of ability and not charms to be collected in the largest quantities possible. Her closing thought was, "Make your badges count, don't just count your badges."

Presentation of awards was made to the individual scouts by the troop leaders. Group singing was led by Miss Doris Schreiner, Intermediate program advisor.

Piano selections were presented by Charlene Bass of Troop 11 and Judy Wood of Troop 17, both of whom received Musician badges during the ceremonies.

Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout Commissioner, spoke briefly on a convention of Girl Scout officials, which she attended in Cincinnati. She reminded the new Scouts of the uniform exchange which is conducted by a committee with Mrs. Clayton Vaughan as chairman.

Mrs. Heine also announced that the birthplace of Juliette Low, founder of scouting in America, has been purchased by the National Girl Scout Association. This property is being remodeled as a museum and a home for Girl Scouts in Washington D. C. She announced that contributions toward the completion of this project may be made to Mrs. Robert Smith, Juliette Low chairman.

A complete list of badges awarded during the ceremonies will be published in a future edition of The Circleville Herald.

Saltcreek Home Group Conducts Lighting Project

Members of the Saltcreek Home Demonstration group learned how to utilize the lighting facilities they now have for greater efficiency and what changes they might make in their homes for better lighting.

The group met in the Tarlton Methodist Church to study the project "Home Lighting". Mrs. Leora Sayre, County Home Demonstration Agent conducted the study project, after which she showed colored slides to the group.

Plans for future projects were made during a short business session, under the direction of Mrs. Judson Beougher. In December members will participate in the County wide "Christmas Hospitality Fare" program and display which will be held Dec. 7, in St. Philips parish house.

In January the project will be on lampshades Other future projects will include a "Time and Energy" study, "Accessories" and "Quick Mends".

Mrs. Kirkwood Is Honored At Layette Shower

Mrs. M. L Kirkwood Jr. was honored guest at a layette shower, held in the home of Mrs. Manley Carothers of 327 E. Union St.

Gifts for the honored guest were placed on the dining room table, which was decorated in blue streamers and pink roses.

Games winners were Mrs. Harold Anderson and Mrs. Bill Ankrom. Following the opening of gifts, a dessert course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Hosler

Guests present for the event included:

Mrs. Kirkwood, honored guest, Mrs. Ankrom, Mrs. Alvin Perdion, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood Sr., Mrs. Talmer Wise, Mrs. Edward Bost, Mrs. Ed McCann, Mrs. Andrew Goeller, Mrs. Elliott Mason, Mrs. Carrie Stout, Mrs. James Pierce, Mrs. M. E. Union Guild Holds Meeting In Lanman Home

Mrs. Earl Lanman was welcomed as a visitor at a regular meeting of the Union Guild, which was held in the home of Mrs. Mary Lanman.

The meeting, which was attended by eleven members, opened with group singing Mrs Oland Schooley read "The Beatitudes" from Matthew and a Bible thought taken from the book, "The Upper Room." Prayer by Mrs. Schooley was followed by repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Reports of officers and committee chairmen were presented. Mystery sister cards were drawn for 1955 and hostesses were named for the monthly meetings during the coming year.

Christmas baskets will be filled for needy families and gifts have been mailed to two members of the armed forces who are serving overseas. They are the son and daughter of members of the guild.

Plans also were made to send a Christmas gift to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Metcalf, former residents of the community, who now are residing in Springfield.

The session closed with group singing and the Guild benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dora Hunt.

Mrs. George Fisher of Circleville Route 3 will serve as hostess to a Christmas meeting which will be held Dec 15. Mrs Roy Newlon will be assisting hostess.

Miss Reba Lee Hosts Guild 16

A dessert course served in the home of Miss Reba Lee, with Mrs. Charles Fullen assisting, preceded the regular meeting Wednesday of Berger Hospital Guild 16.

During a business session, the group made final plans for a nut booth to be sponsored by the guild during the Hospital Guild Bazaar to be held from 1 to 9 p. m. Friday in the Armory.

The members made Thanksgiving tray favors to be used in the hospital. Plans were made to hold a dinner meeting Dec. 16 in Pickaway Arms.

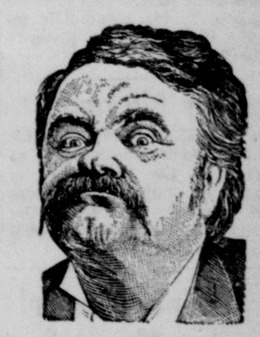
"Ward" Skinner Gets There First!


When he sings Psalms, Ward Skinner generally gets to the still water while the rest of the congregation is still back in the green pastures.
He hates to wait, and go with the crowd. He's got to get there first.
For instance, when the produce houses get in their extra fresh fruits and vegetables . . . who gets their first?
And when there are good deals to be had anywhere on top quality foodstuffs . . . who gets there first?
Ward Skinner knows an early bird who does, but he's too modest to mention names. Here's a clue for finding him. Look first at Ward's Market, 1002 South Court. Thank You.

Ohio Cities To Get Chance For Federal Hospital Aid

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio cities, especially 12 which are very short of hospital beds, will have a chance next week to put in bids for federal money for hospital construction.

The state hospital advisory council has scheduled a hearing next Tuesday in the State Office Building here, and cities must appear to become eligible for federal grants-in-aid.

Distribution of federal hospital money will be recommended by the state health director, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork.

Last year Ohio got $2½ million from the federal government for hospitals. Most of it has been allocated, but another grant is expected next summer.

Health officials set up a minimum standard of 4½ hospital beds for every 1,000 persons.

By that standard, Dwork said three cities in Ohio are in "dire straits.' He named them as Van Wert, with no acceptable beds and a need of 71; Hillsboro with 22 beds now, but a need of 112, and of 72. Voters in both Van Wert and Hillsboro defeated hospital bond issues at the recent election.

Other cities in the "A priority" class, with the per cent of the minimum standard which they now have: Wilmington, 48.6 Coshocton, 41.6; Port Clinton, 43; Martins Ferry -Bellaire, 43.9; Delaware, 45.3; Findlay, 45.4; Zanesville, 45.7; Ravenna, 46.2; and Greenville, 48.3.

By contrast, Dwork said 16 cities have reached or exceeded the minimum requirements. They are Logan, Xenia, Springfield, Lima, Celina, Kenton, Mount Vernon, Cambridge, Ashtabula, Ashland, Medina, Alliance, Toledo, Toledo-East, Sandusky and Norwalk.

Detective Loses On Settlement

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Police Detective Austin Beierle tells this sad story:

Last week his automobile and another collided. The owner of the second car said he had no cash to pay damages but he'd give Beierle his old car.

However, the detective reported he lost on the deal.

Damages to his automobile totaled $35. He sold the car given to him for $12.50.

Minister Named

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Rev. Benjamin F. Judd will be installed as moderator of the Presbytery of Cincinnati in January. He was elected recently to succeed the Rev. Hugh B. Evans to the local Presbyterian Church office.

Stomach Parasites

Veterinarians say prevention, not treatment is proper approach to blood-sucking parasites—only 10 of which per cow can cost farmers $2 per head per year in the cost of blood loss alone. Symptoms: anemia, scours, loss of appetite, emaciation, staggering. Recommended prophylaxis: mineral mixture in self-feeders consisting of three parts each of ground limestone, bone meal and salt and one part of phenothiazine by weight.

VOLUNTEER WEATHER WATCHERS

Nine Thousand Unpaid Aides Help the Bureau

By REX STANLEY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Milford and Mrs. Noon check their rain gauge.

WHETHER it reads "rain" or "sunny," when you check the forecast in this newspaper today, give credit to more than the official weather bureaus. Nine thousand unpaid men and women are helping to predict the weather, too.

These are the "co-operative observers" — ordinary people with everyday jobs—who are contributing part of each day to watch and record America's most important changing phenomenon. Without them, predicting the weather would be a difficult, unending job for the 921 official bureaus.

You don't hear or read much about these weather volunteers. However, daily on mountain ranges and remote ranches, along the nation's rivers and the seacoasts, from city rooftops and farms, they are measuring and logging weather.

Some of these volunteers have been at it for scores of years. It is one of the oldest, unpaid co-operatives in United States history.

* * *

THE VOLUNTEER CORPS began in the 1880s. Then, weather observing and forecasting was largely an Army job. However, outposts in the unsettled west were widely scattered, so predictions for a big chunk of the United States were hit-or-miss.

To fill in the gaps, railroad telegraphers were given thermometers and rain gauges. When Indian raids didn't interfere, they sent daily readings to the nearest military post.

There weren't enough telegraphers or Army posts, though maybe private citizens—settlers of the new frontiers—could help. The Volunteer Weather Observers corps began.

One of the first "weather men" of the corps was rancher E. L. Wetmore, whose observations started near the ancient walled city of Tucson in 1884. By 1899, there were more volunteers than official stations in the west. Today, these co-operative observers far out-number regular weather men.

The weather watcher's job isn't big: once a day, he reads the thermometer and rain gauge supplied by Uncle Sam, records the figures on special forms.

* * *

THE WEATHER WATCHER may measure the depth of a river and its flow. Or, if he's a coastal observer, log barometric pressure and phenomenon, too, such as snow, sleet, hail and ice.

It's easy, but this daily job means much to America. From the corps comes vital information for official forecasts—to warn cities of floods, hurricanes and tornadoes, to predict frosts and drouths. The number of lives saved, millions in property damage prevented, is incalcuable.

Unless it's a danger warning of weather that could kill or do damage, the volunteer observer mails his report to the nearest station, usually each month.

Without them, America's files of long-period climate data would be bare, and long-range forecasts almost impossible. There could be no established "climate" predictions.

For many volunteers, weather watching has become a family affair. Typical is the Noon family of Nogales, Ariz., where they've been observing for four generations.

Says Milford Noon, now training his sons for the job: "For us, it's the privilege of making a mighty important contribution to the comfort and safety of folk. Makes us feel we're helping the whole country, too."

Sokolsky's

But the individual plays no part in the preservation of peace. He knows nothing about it. John Foster Dulles and his enormous staff go to conferences and make various deals but the citizen only knows about them when the chain of events is moving in the direction of war or peace For instance, what would the individual in the Army Reserve have had to say about whether the United States was to go into Korean War or to stay out of it? Nobody asked him. As a matter of fact, no one even asked the Congress.

Those who complain about conformity ought to look at page 127 of this program. There is stated: "Instructors in nonmilitary subjects should strive to present the broadest and most generally accepted principles of our society. . ."

What are the "most generally accepted principles of our society" that can be taught in a few months to reservists? And why should they be lectured about any "generally accepted principles of our society"? For instance, Protestant Christianity is the majority religion of this country. Are its principles the most generally accepted in our society? If so, are they to be taught by civilian instructors to Catholic, Jewish, Moslem and Busdhaist American? There is something queerly conformist in all this.

Injuries Fatal To Second Woman

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Mistaken for her dead friend after a traffic accident last week, Mrs. Madeline Woodworth, of Conneaut, died last night in a hospital at Westfield, N. Y.

She had been driving through Westfield with Mrs. Maybelle Mae Yesso, also of Conneaut, Nov. 7 when Mrs. Yesso's car skidded and crashed.

A body identified as that of Mrs. Woodworth was returned to Conneaut for funeral services. The woman believed to have been Mrs. Yesso lay in Westfield Hospital, unconscious and with her head swathed in bandages.

Proper identification was not made until Mrs. Yesso's mother, viewing the body in a coffin, noticed the ears were pierced. Her daughter had pierced ears but she knew Mrs. Woodworth did not.

Bandit Uses Tacks In Elyria Holdup

ELYRIA (AP)—A scar-faced hoodlum, armed with an automatic pistol and a pocketful of tacks, held up the Household Finance Co. yesterday and escaped with $577.

After taking the money from cash drawers, the bandit ordered Office Manager J. J. Boreski and three women to take off their shoes. He piled the shoes in a hallway and threw the tacks on the floor to discourage pursuit.

ARRESTED in Compton, Calif., Lois Margaret Carter (above), 20, tells police she beat her 3-year-old daughter to death in "symbolic revenge" against her own mother. "It seemed as if every time I hit the baby I was striking mama a whack for me," she said. (International)

Attorney Honored

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Atty. D. Harland Jackman of London yesterday was elected to the Ohio Bar Assn. House of Delegates at the association's annual District Six meeting. Included in the district are Fayette, Clark, Champaign, Greene, Logan, Madison and Union counties.

Ike's Atom Plan Chances 'Good'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Diplomats from both sides of the Iron Curtain are predicting that President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan would win the same unanimous approval the U.N. Assembly accorded the East-West disarmament proposal.

U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. expressed confidence yesterday that the Assembly would give solid support to the proposal to set up an international atomic agency East European diplomats were reported making the same prediction.

Speculation mounted that if Russia decides to go along with the seven - power proposal, Moscow might follow up by announcing the Kremlin will match the U.S. offer of fissionable material to start an international atomic stockpile for peaceful purposes.

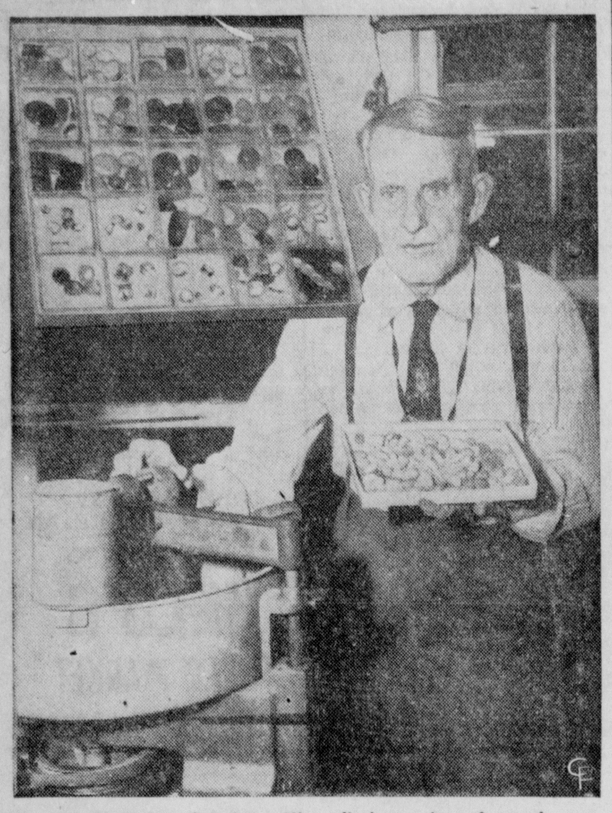
Gravel Polishing Is Right Up His Alley



J. W. Tucker of Jackson, Miss., displays a box of gravel which will come out of his shop as lovely stones (inset).

By ELSIE MAY CHAMBERS
Central Press Correspondent

JACKSON, Miss.—J. W. Tucker, one of this city's oldest businessmen, has one of the most unusual hobbies. He polishes driveway gravel.

The results are amazing. In his back porch shop he turns ordinary pebbles into really lovely stones that any woman would be proud to wear in earrings, rings, pins or other costume jewelry. The pebbles come out of his shop in a variety of colors, tones and shapes, and are mounted easily in silver or steel.

It takes about four hours to polish a piece of gravel—or jasper, which most gravel is—and it is done on a series of grinding wheels, rough, medium and fine emery; the same procedure with sandpaper, and finished off with tin oxide polishing. He has hundreds of beautiful stones, most of them picked in Mississippi gravel pits.

Naturally, his interest in stones has grown beyond driveway gravel in the four or five years he has followed the hobby, and he has become quite expert in cutting and polishing some gems and precious stones. But the lowly jasper probably is his favorite because it is so rewarding and requires so little time in comparison to the 40 or more hours for a precious stone.

Equipment for his hobby costs some money, but possibly not more than many other hobbies. To handle the softer stones such as jasper costs about $150. Work with precious stones requires a diamond edge saw and a little more equipment, but it can be had for less than $300, Tucker says.

It has only been in his later years that he has become a "rock hound," and more and more he is finding it easier to let the younger generation of Tuckers take over his printing and office supply business while he stays at home and turns out pretty stones. He never sells them, but admits he "unloads some at Christmas."

Dulles Accused Of 'Holding Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) said yesterday Secretary of State Dulles has not told the American people the "real reasons" for firing John Paton Davies.

Welker said that Davies "may have been a Communist" and "might have been disloyal." But failure of Dulles to tell the people the whole story, he said, was "not the way to do things in America."

Davies was fired recently after 23 years as a foreign service officer. Dulles said the discharge had nothing to do with Davies' loyalty.

Male At PTA Meet Finds Self Alone

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — "Male, unattached chairman of a PTA unit seeks companionship," the announcement read to the State Parent - Teacher Congress last night said.

But he wasn't looking for a girl friend. The man, chairman of a PTA unit in San Antonio, was seeking another man, any man also a local chairman. Lost in a feminine world among the convention's 2,000 delegates, he wanted masculine company for lunch today, at his own expense.

At last report he had found no takers.

Farmers Asked To Have Census Data Ready To Go

John W. Thomas, supervisor of the Bureau of Census' Agriculture Field Office for this section of the state, announced Thursday that the 1954 Farm Census is now under way in the 24 counties of Southeastern Ohio The region supervised by Thomas with offices in Lancaster, includes Pickaway County.

Thomas thanked the farm families for cooperation received so far in the annual checkup on the nation's farm picture, but he again urged that the advance questionnaires be filled out beforehand for the information. The Farm Census, conducted to gather important data for the government, the public and the farmers themselves, has already been completed in many sections of the country.

As the work gained momentum in this district, Thomas said:

"The farmers have been very cooperative, and the enumerators are enthusiastic in their praise for the courtesy and help accorded them. However, due to the bad weather earlier this Fall, our local farmers—in Pickaway County and elsewhere—have been delayed with their corn harvest and wheat sowing.

* * *

"CONSEQUENTLY, they are reluctant to take the time to be interviewed by the census-taker during these wonderful Indian Summer days. We can well understand how they feel, but we want to emphasize the importance of the work that is now being carried out. And how much we need all the assistance we can get.

"The Bureau of Census has a big job to do with a limited amount of time and money, but the census-taker is required by law to visit each farmer. And to check the questionnaire if it has already been filled out, or to help fill it out if necessary. Now this is where the farmers in Pickaway County and everywhere else can save time, both for himself and for the enumerators—or census-takers.

"The farmer can fill out the questionnaire in the evenings, leave it with his wife, and go on about his farm work during the day. Then the enumerator will pick up the completed forms, and that will be all that's to it."

Information gathered during the Farm Census is held strictly confidential in reference to any individual case, or small group of cases. Even other government agencies cannot obtain such data from the Census Bureau.

The larger totals, however, and the general results obtained, are used in figuring important government programs for the farmer and also by many public agencies and firms which handle work connected with agriculture. In addition, the information is made available to the individual farmers, if and when they want it

The 1954 census, the 16th Farm Census of the nation's history, will thus bring up-to-date the information on America's farm resources, farm production and farming needs. Thomas explained:

* * *

"JUST AS it is important for a farmer or a businessman to take stock of what he has on hand and what he hopes to accomplish so it is important for the nation to do likewise in reference to agriculture. The Farm Census seeks accurate data on how many farms there are, how much and what kind of land is being utilized, how many of each of livestock and poultry are on these farms, how much farm equipment is used, how the average farm home is equipped, and so on.

"Many billions of dollars worth of business transactions are based on the information that will be gathered. And the census figures are also used in calculating the all-important parity for the farmers.

"It is work of tremendous importance for all of us. And we hope to have the continued cooperation of all the farmers in this region."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Thanksgiving turkey takes over in the nation's food stores this weekend, along with all the things that go with it.

And that turkey will cost you less than last years did. The consensus of food store men is that prices will be from eight to 10 cents a pound below year-ago levels.

You'll find ample supplies of the birds in any weight you desire. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates this year's crop of turkeys at 61 million, a good gain over 1953.

Food store men expect housewives to order their turkeys over the weekend. Because most home refrigerators are crowded, many people won't pick up their birds until Tuesday or Wednesday.

The department has worked through the list of items that go with the holiday bird. Here are their findings:

Radishes are plentiful, green onions are in moderate supply and a good buy, topped carrots are fairly priced, pascal celery is in good supply but there's not too much of the golden heart type around.

Beets are a good buy, cabbage and cucumbers are low-priced, tomatoes and avocadoes are reasonable.

There's a light supply of pumpkins, but other types of winter squash are plentiful. Turnips and rutabagas are inexpensive. Round white potatoes are reasonable, with baking potatoes running higher than the round whites.

There are moderate price tags on sweet potatoes, cauliflower and onions. Mushrooms are fairly plentiful. Cranberries are selling at about the same price as a year ago. Chestnuts from Italy are rather low in price. Parsley is reasonable but peas are high.

All types of apples—for baking, cooking or just plain eating—are available. Florida oranges and grapefruit are good buys. Red emperors are the best purchase in grapes. Pears are moderately priced, and most of them are from the Pacific Northwest.

For this Sunday's dinner, or for Thanksgiving if you don't want turkey, you'll find good value in chickens of all types. Veal roast is another favorite. Some stores will feature hams, pot roast, rib end pork roast, leg of lamb, and shrimps and oysters.

Food men consider most cuts of beef to be on the high side right now. In many markets, pork chop prices will be up from a week ago. Lamb prices are pretty much unchanged from last week.

Butter will cost a couple of cents a pound more in many areas this weekend. Eggs will be off a cent or two in some cities but up as much as six cents a dozen elsewhere.

Ohio Sheriffs 'Unprotected'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's sheriffs are not protected by workmen's compensation even if they get shot in the line of duty, the Ohio County Commissioners Assn. was told.

Association Secretary Cliff Baker said workmen's compensation coverage does not extend to elective officers. He said the association would be asked tomorrow to go on record urging a change in law.

Cleveland Medic Goes On Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Braun, 65, goes on trial today on a charge of performing an abortion on a 23-year-old woman.

His indictment grew out of a case against Emmet (The Prophet) Cobb, sentenced to prison last summer for 14 to 68 years after he was convicted of running a vice ring here.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Sorrow Believed Fatal To Girl, 11

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—An investigation has begun to determine the exact cause of the death yesterday of Joan C. Miller, 11. Donald Miller, the girl's father, said she had been suffering from shock and hysteria since learning of her grandfather's death.

Joan's grandfather Barney A. Miller, 60, of Jessup, Md., was killed last Monday by a tractor-trailer. The girl was extremely devoted to him, her parents said.

Girls Club Burns

NEW CONCORD (AP)—Fire gutted the interior of the Wawyin Girls Club at Muskingum College last night, routing six residents. No injuries were reported and no damage estimate.

Sgt. Donald K. Adams, whose wife,, Eve, and son live at 202 1-2 Logan St., is serving with the 3rd Transportation Railway Command in Korea.

A member of Company A in the 772d Military Police Battalion, Sergeant Adams arrived overseas in June. He entered the Army in 1945 and has previously served in Berlin and Panama.

His mother, Mrs. Bertha E. Adams, also lives at the Logan St. address.

Moonshine Up

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese moonshiners have taken a big bite out of Japan's tax revenues—about $5,400,000 worth the government complained today. It said 67½ million gallons of illegal liquor had been brewed this year.

Red China Claims Needles 'Healing'

TOKYO (AP)—Red China may be curing everything from cancer to athlete's foot with its ancient art of "acupuncture," Radio Peiping indicated today.

The practice involves puncturing the skin in various spots with gold and silver needles.

A broadcast heard here reported it had been found effective according to the Ministry of Health, in treating some 200 diseases, "bringing total or marked relief to 90 per cent."

'Skill' Returned To Pinball Craze

TOKYO (AP)—This city moved today to restore skill to Pachinko, the national pinball craze. It banned "machine-gun" types that fire four or five balls at once in favor of the old "single shot" style.

Police say there is one machine for every 40 inhabitants. Winners get merchandise prizes which can be sold.

THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style-Power-Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepowers of every Buick V8 engine—a walloping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. *It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down your take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrift to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

CAPITOL'S 'CENTURY SAFE' AWAITS REOPENING IN '76

Contemporary artist's drawing shows what interior of the Century Safe looked like just before doors were closed for 100 years back in 1876. However, we'll have to wait until 1976 to find out how accurate this drawing is.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The musty, dusty labyrinths of the United States Capitol have concealed many mysteries, but none more intriguing than "The Century Safe" whose doors are not to be opened until 1976.

This safe, which was once viewed by hundreds of thousands, but which few now living have ever seen, has been hidden by three-quarters of a century of oblivion.

It has apparently remained untouched in an out-of-the-way place beneath the Capitol's central portico since 1879, when its doors were closed, not to be opened again for almost a century.

President Rutherford B. Hayes, Vice President William A. Wheeler, the Cabinet, and many other dignitaries of that day were present at the ceremonial closing of the doors.

* * *

DAVID LYNN, architect of the Capitol, says the safe was there when he assumed his position in 1923 and has never been opened.

The year 1976 will mark the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and it was in connection with the 100th anniversary that the idea behind the safe was conceived.

The originator was Mrs. C. F. Deihm, widow of a Union Army lieutenant who died at Fredericksburg. Mrs. Deihm was a native of New York City who had done stalwart work during the war for the government. She placed the safe, which she called The Century Safe, on exhibition at the Philadelphia exposition in May of 1876.

* * *

HER PURPOSE, she explained, was to fill it with mementoes of the time and then seal the safe. She reasoned that another celebration would be held in 1976 and the safe could then be reopened.

Included among the items she placed in the safe were albums which, she wrote, were "elegantly bound in Russian leather" and which contained autographs and pictures of prominent people; a copy of a book containing the names of the 80,000 people who then worked for the government; pens and inkstands, one presented by the poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, made of pearl, gold and silver by Tiffany and company; and other memorabilia of the Nineteenth Century.

* * *

ON FEB. 22, 1879 (George Washington's birthday), the safe was locked in the presence of a large multitude in Statuary hall in the Capitol.

In commenting on the proceedings, a newspaper of the day declared: "It is presumed that this safe will be opened by a jubilant nation on the Fourth of July, 1976, and with greater interest than we can possibly imagine now . . .

"The Century Safe deserves more than a passing notice. . . . It is gratifying to know that the future generation have such a valuable gift in store for them."

For years now, however, the safe has remained unattended in its dark recess beneath the Capitol. The markings which once adorned it have disappeared. It lies black and dusty.

* * *

ACCORDING to Mrs. Deihm, the Century Safe is lined inside with purple velvet. It has an inner door of plate glass, which is locked. Behind this glass door are the contents of the safe. The outer doors are also locked. Who has the combination to the two dials? No one apparently knows.

Mrs. Deihm stated in 1879 that it was her wish "that this safe remain closed until July 4, 1976, then to be opened by the chief magistrate of the United States."

There are those who say the safe is not the Century Safe. They suggest it be opened to determine its authenticity. However, Lynn adamantly refuses. He says he is convinced it is Mrs. Deihm's safe and as far as he is concerned, it will stay closed until 1976.

Ethel Barrymore To Miss Funeral

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ethel Barrymore's studio says she is under a doctor's care and won't be able to attend the funeral today of her brother Lionel.

A spokesman said yesterday that the 75-year-old actress is not ill but just broken up over Lionel's death Monday.

Four Major Problems Face Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—R. M. Eyman, state director of education says Ohio schools face four major problems.

He summed them up as:

1. An unprecedented enrollment has accelerated the problems of overcrowded classrooms, lack of school building facilities, and shortage of well - qualified teachers:
2. State financial assistance has not kept pace with increased school costs.
3. There is need for improvement and broadening of the public school curriculum.
4. The problem of "lost youth"—those who drop out of school somewhere between the first and twelfth grades—is serious.

Eyman said total enrollment in the state's public schools has been increasing at the rate of approximately 60000 per year, during the past three years.

To house the present public school population properly, Ohio needs 8,000 new classrooms, Eyman said. The state needs approximately 2,000 additional new classrooms per year to accommodate the 60,000 increased enrollment each year, he added.

According to Eyman, the course of study needs to be improved and broadened, particularly in high schools.

Ohio loses between 50 and 60 per cent of its pupils between the first and twelfth grades, state department of education statistics show.

Eyman said in 1953, Ohio lost between 25 and 30 per cent of ninth grade pupils before they completed the 12th grade.

Businesswoman Being Sought

OBERLIN (AP) — Police today sought Mrs. Ethel Axelrod, 50, missing since last Thursday. Mrs. Axelrod, who managed an Oberlin scrap metal firm has not been seen by her family since she boarded a Cleveland-bound bus.

On that day, the Oberlin Savings Banking Co. won a judgment against her for two signed notes of $4,833 and $1,010. On Friday, another judgment against her for $751 was granted the Hyman Co. Last Tuesday, the I. A. Barnett Co. of Barberton filed suit against her firm for a $4,052 debt.

Trio Of Rookies Brings Out Rare Paul Brown Optimism

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three robust rookies had their pessimistic coach about ready today to admit the Cleveland Browns may enter another championship play-off.

Paul Brown usually considers coaches who predict victories jinxed. But here he is now conceding:

"We've got the makings . . . if we can keep it going."

For Brown, that's all-out optimism.

"The makings" include three of the best rookies the Cleveland team ever signed—fullback Maurice Bassett, the only Brownie who ever won a starting backfield job in his first year; halfback Chet Hanulak, the former University of Maryland standout; and end Carlton Massey, who gets so excited over the game his nose bleeds.

Largely because of the quick development of this trip, the Browns won their last four games and moved into second place after losing two of their first three games by lopsided scores.

After losing to Philadelphia by 18 points and then to Pittsburgh by 28, the Browns were all but counted out despite the class they showed in winning their way into nine straight title playoffs.

Then the rookies moved in.

Bassett beat out Curly Morrison for the fullback spot and started giving Otto Graham the blocking he needs to get off those long, on-the-fingertips passes. He still does not run with the power and quick pickup that Marion Motley had in his prime. But who does?

The remarkable thing about Bassett is that he never got on the team. His college football was at Langston, Okla., University and the first time the Browns saw him was when he was playing for the Coronado, Calif., Naval Amphibian Fort Ord, the Browns signed him.

Hanulak, described by Brown as "another rabbit" because of his speed and swerve, says he is a "little surprised", too, at being on the team. He says opposing tacklers look "like monsters" compared to the men he faced in college and adds he still has trouble trying to remember all of the Browns' system. What bothers him particularly is getting in the clear to catch a pass, a must for a Brown halfback.

One of his troubles is speed. To get a job he has to compete against Cleveland backs like Ray Renfro who ran the 100 in 9.5. Hanulak's best is 10.01 but Brown says he is sure Hanulak will stick with the team—he gained 90 yards in 11 carries against the Chicago Bears last Sunday.

Tallest of the trio is Massey, up from Texas University. Massey shoved over Doug Atkins and became the defensive left end. Last week as the Browns thumped the Bears 39-10 he accounted for the first Cleveland touchdown by hurrying a Zeke Bratkowski punt. Bratkowski got off a weak kick from behind his goal and the Browns got a first down on the Chicago 28. They scored six plays later.

Massey is a little embarassed by his nose spurting blood inconveniently. He had warmed up and was standing on the sidelines waiting for the late - appearing Bears to come out of their dressing room when it happened. "It was nothing," he declares. "Just the heart of the warmup and the excitement."

Loss of blood did not sap his energy. He spent most of the afternoon in the Bear backfield.

Carter Again Wins Elusive Boxing Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The world lightweight boxing championship was back in familiar surroundings today—in the possession of Jimmy Carter of New York.

The 30-year-old kingpin from Harlem regained the title last night when he battered Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn into a mess and submission in the 15th and final round of a bruising, savagely fought battle in the vast Cow Palace.

Referee Ray Flores halted the massacre.

Paddy, 26, making the first defense of the championship he captured from Jimmy in New York last March 5, was out on his feet, his left eye swollen and all but shut and his cheek rapidly assuming a deep blue shade.

Carter now stands as the only lightweight king to win the crown three times. He won it originally from Ike Williams in 1951, lost it to Lauro Salas in 1952, regained it six months later and then surrendered the honor to his rival from Brooklyn.

Twice Carter had his man on the deck—from a whistling left hook to the chin in the ninth for a four-count, and with a barrage of punches just as the bell ended the 14th.

The knockdown in the ninth, the second in Paddy's career of some 83 fights, signaled the outcome. The battering in the 14th spelled out the finish and actually the technical knockout in the 15th was anticlimactic.

Carter called his victory the biggest thrill since he started boxing in 1946.

Boudreau Braced For Building Job

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lou Boudreau, the new manager of the Kansas City Athletics, sees a big rebuilding job ahead but he's hopeful the change of scenery will stimulate the club.

Boudreau, who signed a two-year contract yesterday, said he believes the Athletics will do much better here than in Philadelphia where they wound up in the American League cellar last season.

"I think the enthusiasm of the Kansas City fans will bring a change in the club's attitude," Boudreau said. "I believe there will be more effort put out and that the club will show general improvement."

The Galveston, Tex., flood was caused by a hurricane that piled up enormous waves the inundated the city.

Reports Of Deer Noted In County

Various reports of deer in the county have been received by The Herald.

One was seen on Route 104 near Fox. The report from Mrs. Wayne Hoover stated that a number of motorists stopped to view the animal which bounded over a creek and headed west when last seen.

Another report discloses that a herd of nearly a dozen was seen on Route 56 in the same general area.

There is no open season hunting on deer this year.

Pitcher Sentenced To Win 20 Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Clarence A. (Bud) Podbielan, 30, a Cincinnati Redlegs pitcher, was convicted in traffic court yesterday of reckless driving and speeding.

In addition to fining him $50 and costs and taking away his driving rights for 7 days, Judge John W. Keefe ordered the big hurler to win 20 games next season.

Podbielan was arrested last Monday after a police chase and was clocked at 65 miles an hour before he hit a street sign.

The pitcher said he was worried over the condition of his wife, a polio victim. She is improvng.

Army-Navy Tilt To Pit Top Powers

NEW YORK (AP)—Not that it needs it, but the Army-Navy football classic at Philadelphia Nov. 27 got yet another boost as a gate attraction today as the Midshipmen returned to the top of the list of the nation's leading defensive units among major colleges.

That information, supplied by NCAA statisticians, sets up the Philadelphia struggle as a test of the leading offenses and defenses.

Navy took over the No. 1 spot in total defense by holding Columbia to 143 yards last weekend. That reduced the Middies' allowance average to 168.9 yards a game. Army is entrenched as the leading total offense club, 459.4 yards a game, and also as the top rushing team, 329.1 yards a game.

The versatile Midshipmen, meanwhile, are No. 2 in total offense (401.3) and third in rushing defense, allowing 82.3 yards a tilt.

Oklahoma and UCLA, two of only three major unbeaten teams remaining, are one-two in rushing defense. The Sooners have given up an average of only 73.6 running yards, UCLA 81.8.

In forward passing defense it's Alabama on a yardage basis, permitting only 42.0 yards a game, while Boston College is the toughest to click against, allowing only a 29.1 completion percentage.

UCLA's stout line has made the Bruins the toughest team to score against, giving up just 40 points, an average of five a game. The Uclans also are tops in scoring, totaling 333 points (41.6 a game).

Thoroughbred Race Betting Drops

NEW YORK (AP) — Wagering at thoroughbred race tracks dropped 2.1 per cent from last year but the states' revenue soared to a new high as pari-mutuel betting exceeded $2 billion for the second time in history.

The figures are not yet complete for the year, since the horses are still running in four states, but a survey by the Associated Press showed the treasuries of 24 states received $140,146,751 from the $2,024,539,986 wagered.

At the same time attendance dropped .37 per cent from 28,395,466 in 1953 to 28,289,216 this year. Wagering in 1953 reached $2,067,898,574, with $136,478,353 going to the states where pari-mutuel wagering is legal.

AP Guesspert Picks Bucks Over Michigan

UCLA, Oklahoma, Iowa Given Nod In Games Slated For Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Annually football stalks off the sports stage in a blaze of glory. Perhaps, some of the glory can percolate into these predications—if not, they are consigned to the blaze.

Last week there were 13 incorrect answers among the 50 decisions for an average of .740. The seasonal totals are 308 correct answers and 124 incorrect for .713.

This week's picks:

UCLA over Southern California: UCLA took last Saturday off to get ready for this one although it is Southern California who is in need of the extra preparation.

Ohio State over Michigan: The Buckeyes have too much team speed.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: The Sooners end their eighth season under Coach Bud Wilkinson without a loop defeat.

Iowa over Notre Dame: Notre Dame tied Iowa a year ago in a game marked by feigned injuries. Neither side has forgotten it but the Iowans likely remember it a little more clearly.

West Virginia over North Carolina State: The Mountaineer backfield is crippled but Fred Wyant still is sound.

The others without comment:

FRIDAY NIGHT
Miami over Alabama.

SATURDAY

EAST: Harvard over Yale, Columbia over Rutgers, Syracuse over Fordham, Holy Cross over Connecticut, Pittsburgh over Penn State, Princeton over Dartmouth, Boston University over Temple, Delaware over Bucknell.

SOUTH: Arkansas over Louisiana State, Maryland over Georgia, Washington, Auburn over Clemson, Duke over South Carolina, Furman over Wofford, Kentucky over Tennessee, North Carolina over Virginia, West Virginia over North Carolina State, Vanderbilt over Villanova.

MIDWEST: Wisconsin over Minnesota, Colorado over Kansas State, Illinois over Northwestern, Michigan State over Marquette, Missouri over Kansas, Purdue over Indiana, Wyoming over Tulsa, Wichita over Detroit.

SOUTHWEST: Baylor over SMU, Rice over Texas Christian, Texas Tech over Houston.

FAR WEST: Arizona over Arizona State, California over Stanford, Idaho over Brigham Young, Utah over Montana, New Mexico over New Mexico A&M, Oregon over Oregon State, Washington over Washington State.

County Teams Swinging Back Into Basketball

Pickaway County high schools get back into league action Friday night with a full slate of play scheduled.

Deercreek's Deers are leading the pack up to date with three straight league victories. Ashville and Scioto each have won once without a league loss.

Friday night, Saltcreek, which has lost one league and two independent tilts, faces favored Deercreek on the Deers home court.

New Holland, with one league loss and one independent win, travels to Walnut. The Tigers have dropped one league and one independent game.

* * *

MONROE, with two independent wins, plays host to Scioto's Buffaloes. Scioto has one league victory.

Jackson, having a record of one league and one independent win as against one league loss, travels to Ashville.

Perry, having only one league win matched with two league defeats, moves over to Darby. Darby has the same record as Jackson.

Pickaway, which drew the bye, plays host to Amanda. The Pirates have one league and one independent loss.

Yankees, Orioles Cook Up Big Exchange Of Players

NEW YORK (AP)—In a move to revamp their pitching staff in one sweeping deal, the New York Yankees have picked up Bullet Bob Turley and Don Larsen, a pair of young right-handers, from the Baltimore Orioles.

The trade may involve as many as 12 players, The Associated Press learned from an authoritative source.

In addition to Turley and Larsen, perhaps the most promising of the young pitchers sprinkled among the also-ran teams of the American League, the Yanks also reportedly received shortstop Billy Hunter.

In return, the Yankees, who had made repeated inquiries about all three Orioles in the past, gave up veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, pitcher Harry Byrd, first baseman Eddie Robinson, utility infielder Willie Miranda and Jim McDonald, a 4-1 right-hander. Several minor league players also are said to be involved.

The deal—one of baseball's biggest in recent years—was expected to be confirmed today in two separate press conferences called by the Yankees and Orioles.

Two of the minor league players are believed to be catchers—Gus Triandos, who played at Kansas City last season, and Hal Smith of Columbus (Ohio).

Neither Turley nor Larsen had impressive won-lost records with the seventh-place Orioles. But Turley, 24, powered his fireball for a league-leading strikeout total of 184 and had an earned-run average of 3.46 while winning 14 and losing 15.

Larsen, 26, had a miserable record, winning only 3 of 24 decsions, but still was held in high regard by the league. One of his victories was a shutout against the second-place Yanks, who lost out in the pennant race for the first time since 1949.

The Yanks lost little in giving up Byrd, who finished with a so-so 9-7 record that fell far below the Yanks' expectations when they picked up the 30-year-old hurler along with Robinson in an 11-player deal with the Philadelphia Athletics last winter.

Woodling, 32, a Yankee for the past six years, was hobbled by injuries last season and batted only 250—his lowest mark in nine major league seasons.

Hunter, 26, has two major league seasons behind him with the St. Louis Browns, forerunners of the Orioles, as "a new Marty Marion." Not a hitter, he batted .244 last season. He has proved promising in the field and could be the Yanks' replacement for veteran Phil Rizzuto.

Ohio State's Ground Game Seen As Key

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State's ground attack will be the key to Buckeye success Saturday against Michigan.

So says Coach Woody Hayes. "If we can get consistent yardage on the ground Saturday against Michigan we'll be OK," he says.

To that important end Hayes has put his charges through hard, long drills this week.

Unbeaten, untied Ohio State is wary of this final game. Three times in the past, Michigan has pinned the only defeat of the season on otherwise triumphant Buckeyes, in 1926, 1932 and 1933.

The game's importance will bring it under the scrutiny of squads of sportswriters, plus attention of a nationwide ABC television audience and about 82,000 fans in the Buckeye stadium.

The Big Ten championship and the trip to the Rose Bowl are at stake.

The Buckeyes are rated No. 1 in the nation this week; Michigan's Wolverines are rated No. 12.

The Wolverines, however, have a tradition of working best against Ohio State. Many times they've knocked the Bucks out of the conference title.

The showdown Saturday will bring the Big Ten statistical leaders together.

Ohio State has the best scoring average, 26.8 points a game, and leads in rushing with a 246. average. The Buckeyes have picked up 73.7 more on aerials for a total offense average of 320.

Michigan has allowed opponents the fewest yards, 221 per game, and the fewest points, 6.7, than any other Big Ten team. The Wolverines also have yielded an average of only 3.71 yards per play.

Collier's 'Star' '11' Is Revealed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A Collier's magazine naming the publication's all-America football team arrived here this week, apparently by mistake.

A mail subscriber received the Dec. 10 issue of Collier's at Memorial Hospital here.

The magazine's star team:

Ends — Max Boydston, Oklahoma; Don Holleder, Army.

Tackles — Jack Ellena, UCLA; Sid Fournet, LSU.

Guards—Jim Salisbury, UCLA; Bud Brooks, Arkansas.

Center—Kurt Burris, Oklahoma.

Quarterback — Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame.

Halfbacks—Dick Moegle, Rice; Howard Cassady, Ohio State.

Fullback—Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

Amateur Golfing Champ Turns Pro

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1954 U. S. Amateur golf champion, Arnold Palmer, has turned pro.

He learned his golf from his father, current golf professional at the Latrobe, Pa., golf club, and hit his peak this year.

In addition to the 1954 amateur crown, Palmer won the All-American amateur title at Tam O'Shanter, the Atlantic Coast championship and the Ohio title.

Palmer, 25, was born in Youngstown, Pa. He served three years in the Coast Guard and was discharged last January.

Castellani Set For Ohio Match

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweights Rocky Castellani of Cleveland and Mooses Ward, 22, of Detroit, will battle in the co-feature bout of the toyshop fund boxing show here Dec. 1, matchmakers Ed Bang and Larry Atkins say.

The other 10-round main go, announced earlier, sends Roland LaStarza against Charley Norkus.

Castellani, who never has lost in Cleveland, will be making his first start since losing to Bobo Olson three months ago. Ward lost a split verdict to Bobby Jones in New York earlier this month.

Sensenbrenner Reviews Case Against Harmful Type Comics

Columbus May Lead Pattern For Big Cities

Capital's Mayor Has Asked Extra Curbs On Dime Thrillers

Urging extra curbs on the display and sale of the harmful type "comic books", Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner of Columbus reminded the lawmakers of that city that Head G-Man J. Edgar Hoover views the dime thrillers as a strong factor in the nation's juvenile delinquency problem.

This was learned Thursday when the chief executive of the state capital made available a complete copy of a statement he issued recently to Columbus city council. Only small portions of it heretofore have been published. The mayor has appealed for an ordinance which would supplement and tighten the state law already on the books against harmful "comics."

The drive for a special ordinance in Columbus was launched after The Herald, through a series of articles, drew public attention to the "comics" problem in Circleville. Sensenbrenner, a native of Circleville, praised the steps taken here and simultaneously disclosed he has long had a similar campaign in mind.

The Columbus mayor continues to press his drive against the harmful "comics" in that city, and the problem in Circleville meanwhile is said to be virtually under control. Both Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer and Police Chief Elmer Merriman have reported local magazine dealers are cooperating to keep the fake type of "comics" books out of this community.

IN VIEW of the vital importance of the subject, The Herald asked for a copy of the complete statement issued by the Columbus mayor to that city's council. The full statement follows:

Mr. President, and members of Columbus city council, I am appearing before you tonight not only as the mayor and chief executive of the city of Columbus, Ohio, but as the representative of more than 91,000 school children of this city. I am supported in this undertaking by many responsible Columbus organizations, by Columbus leaders of civic enterprises, by heads of great religious groups in our City, and finally by the thousands of parents who keenly feel their responsibility to bring up their children decently, honestly and with a background that will enable them to take their place in the ranks of future citizens of this great city and to add their contribution to its future welfare.

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase. I do not need to support this statement by the citation of dry statistics or naming innumerable writers who have dealt with this subject and newspapers and magazines for the past decade. I refer you to the chief law enforcement officer of this nation—J. Edgar Hoover.

He has stated on a number of occasions that one of the greatest problems that confronts the federal law enforcement agency is the tremendous increase and upsurge of juvenile delinquency, and he believes that a very substantial portion of the juvenile crime wave can be laid squarely on the doorstep of the comic magazine read by children and dealing with the most horrible, grotesque crimes the human mind can conceive of.

One more authority may be briefly mentioned—Dr. Frederick Werthman, who has made a detailed study of the effect of comic books. This might better be called "handy books of crime" on the minds of children, and the consequent crime inspired by such readings.

* * *

DR. WERTHMAN has just published a book, "Seduction of the Innocents," dealing with this subject, and, like J. Edgar Hoover, it is his firm belief that most juvenile offenders find the source of their criminal inspirations in the commonly known comic books, dealing largely with crime and criminals.

If additional support for my position is necessary, I can cite you to every judge in this community as well as the prosecutors, case workers, social workers, educators, ministers, rabbis and priests, and if we need to add to this list, let us not forget the leaders of various women's clubs as well as the Parent Teacher's organization.

Let us assume then that it is vitally necessary to take immediate steps to protect our school children from the comic book influence.

We must next consider how best to protect them. It has been suggested here by the members of this council group that present state legislation is sufficient and that the city of Columbus should not act in this particular field. I most vigorously deny both statements.

The present state statute is vague and indefinite and at most it is no more than a pious hope or wish when directed against those who sell comic books. It does not lay down any hard and fast test by which it may be definitely known when the law is being violated.

The best answer to those who urge that the state statute is sufficient is to point to the record. To my knowledge, there have been few successful prosecutions brought under this section of the General Code, either here or elsewhere.

* * *

THE SECOND objection urged is that this is not a matter of concern to the city of Columbus. May I point out that for more than a hundred years cities in this, and in many other states of the union, have felt that it is their concern to deal with matters that affect the health, the welfare and safety of their citizens, even though such matters have been dealt with in part or in whole by the State of Ohio.

To cite a common example, the State of Ohio has many sections of the General Code devoted to traffic and traffic enforcement provisions. That did not stop the city of Columbus under the powers granted it as a municipal corporation from passing a number of laws of its own that more particularly and more carefully dealt with the traffic problems and particularly such problems that specially concern the people of this city.

Not only is this a problem of local character, but reference to the General Code of the State of Ohio indicates that the State of Ohio wants the city of Columbus to deal with this particular problem. Let me read you a brief section of the General Code known as No. 715.54, entitled "Vicious Literature":

"Any municipal corporation may restrain and prohibit the distribution, sale, and exposure for sale, of books, papers, pictures, and periodicals or advertising matters of obscene or immoral nature."

It is quite obvious, after reading this section, that those who legislate for the State of Ohio thought the occasion might arise when a city might need the special authority to deal with this particular problem, and if ever that occasion did arise, it empowered them to act and to act forcefully.

In conclusion, I want you to understand that this is not a matter in which city council and your mayor are at odds. I feel that you are as deeply concerned with the plight of our school children as I am. I also feel that you will not prevent necessary legislation from either selfish or partisan motives.

I FEEL that this body which has helped to enact many laws which deal with the physical safety of the bodies of our school children are just as concerned as I am with protecting the moral safety of the same school children, and if there should be any among you who for reasons of his own feels he cannot or will not help us in getting immediate legislation to deal with this very serious and vital problem, let me say to that individual that you are not hurting me as your chief executive, nor are you injuring me in the performance and discharge of my ditues Instead, you are reaching over my shoulders and are harming the school children of this city

In the New Testament we are told that Christ said: "Suffer little children to come unto me," but He wanted them to come into His presence clean, unsullied and unspoiled. Won't you join with me in helping to carry out the divine injunction —won't you join with me in helping to carry out a plan and program that will protect the spiritual values of this community as well as its material property?

DRAMATIC "ICE BATH" surgery technique is shown underway in Washington, where physicians saved a 4-year-old girl from probable early death by closing a large hole in her heart. The operation was preceded by the ice bath, which lowered her body temperature 18 degrees below normal. Ten such operations have been performed in the capital's Children's hospital. The patient here is an 8-year-old boy. (International Soundphoto)
